ROACTIVE FINES AGAINST MINERS CHALKED UP

Proceeds Will Go To Medical Fund

Prospects For Out-Of-Court Settlement Wane; Southern Coal Producers May Remove Edward R. Burke As President

By Sterling F. Green

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The government acted today to chalk up retroactive fines against the individual miners for each day of the soft coal strike while prospects for an out-of-court settlement waned.

The fines, $1 to $2 for each day of idleness, will not be collected, however, until the miners go back to work and they can be deducted from pay checks. And the proceeds will go to the union's own medical fund, administered solely by it.

Undeterred by this move, counsel for John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers mapped fresh strategy for their legal battle against the government which resumes Monday. They plan an appeal to the United States circuit court of appeals if the federal district court ruling goes against them, it was learned, and they hope th[at] any contempt of court sentence m[ay] be stayed until it is decided.

The private operators of the Southern Coal Producers Association, called to meet here Monday, may remove Edward R. Burke as president, [w]e [s]aid one industry official, for his [...] announcement Thursday that "we are willing to talk" with Lewis [o]n "Wages, hours and everything el[se]." Ten directors have repudiated Bur[ke]'s statement.

As the nation-wide [w]alkout of the 400,000 bituminous m[ine]rs passed its tenth day, the numbe[r] of steel, factory and other workers [la]id off in the creeping industrial par[aly]sis climbed close to 100,000. Anothe[r] 7,000 were on furlough from fuel-[sta]rved factories for the Thanksgivin[g w]eek-end.

Against this wintry pr[ospe]ct were a few feeble rays of chee[r. T]he government announced its d[ome]stic, 21-state dimout would not pr[ohib]it the illumination of indoor Christ[mas] trees. The official announcement [...] that Civilian Production Admi[nistr]ator John D. Small expressed "ho[pe] that the work stoppage in the coal [...] would be over soon."

And in Paducah, Ky., Shop Su[perin]tendent John Welsch announced "in anticipation of an early settle[ment] of the coal strike," the Illinois C[en]tral Railroad shops would reo[pen] Monday after a week's shutdown.

Neither Small nor Welsch elaborat[ed] on their optimism.

The fines against the individual miners were authorized in union agreements with private operators and carried forward in the government contract which Lewis claims is terminated and the government contends is still in force. They were designed to give the union a weapon for preventing "wildcat" strikes which it did not authorize. The procedure under government operation calls for the mine operators to apply to the government for authority to impose the fines.

Capt. N. H. Collisson, coal mine administrator, announced that "numerous" applications have been granted, but declined to give the exact number. If all 3,300 strikebound coal companies should fine their men for the ten-day idleness to date, the sum already would total between $4,000,000 and $8,000,000.

A spokesman for Collisson noted, however, that probably not all companies will seek approval to fine, many will not impose fines even when permission is granted, and others would not collect the money even if they levied the fine. Usually, he said, companies waive the fines once a settlement is reached. Moreover, the fines are not provided for by contract in all districts.

The Pittsburgh - Consolidated Coal company announced it has begun to levy daily $1. fines against the 4,500 strikers at its 14 western Pennsylvania pits. The money will be taken out of pay checks when the strike ends.

Persons close to the union's courtroom strategy said privately that it will hammer on these points:

First, that the government operation of the diggings is a "paper operation," with the private owners still in charge;

TACTICS, WEAPONS TO GET ARCTIC TEST

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The army's first major post-war test of tactics and weapons for fighting in the Arctic goes into full swing tomorrow as a hand-picked task force in the Aleutians starts three months of strenuous operations.

Following amphibious war games in Southern California, "Force Williwaw" will contend with rain, snow, sleet and hurricane winds which sometimes reach 110 miles an hour on the island of Adak.

Two other groups of 1,200 or more men each meanwhile will be operating in other types of cold weather—"Task Force Frigid" in the sub-zero cold of the Fairbanks, Alaska, area and "Frost" at Camp McCoy, Wis.

The War Department reported tonight the Aleutians force in a five-day preliminary field maneuver this month was given a foretaste of worse to come by a sudden 75-mile storm which ripped tents. A medium tank which undertook to cross frozen Tundra was mired for nine hours.

With army, navy and marine corps officers as observers, the Adak force will undergo three ten-day maneuvers December 9, January 6 and February 6. Artillery weapons, including self-propelled guns, will be tested along with vehicles, field equipment and rations.

The group is commanded by Col. Joseph D. Raney, a veteran of two years' wartime service in Alaska.

The ground forces' operations at Adak and Fairbanks coincide with army air forces training with Superfortress bombers and P-51 fighter planes over an area which army and [na]vy officials deem the world's most [stra]tegic region in the event of an[oth]er war.

BANKING YEAR REACHES PEAK

Central Votes Month's Salary To Employes; Capital Expanded

For the third successive year the directors of the Central Savings Bank and Trust Company voted the past week to give all employes of the institution a full month's extra pay as a Christmas present. The Christmas savings fund checks from both this bank and the Ouachita National Bank are being mailed out and both institutions report that the past year has been the biggest in volume of these accounts in their history.

The Central Savings Bank and Trust Company announced through Vice-President J. S. Washburn, that there were, the past year, 2,250 clubs and that the sum saved and remitted was $155,000. The Ouachita Bank stated that checks are being mailed out and that the club is already opening up for the year 1946-1947.

President Travis Oliver, of the Central Bank, stated Saturday that there has never been such a highly success-

Robt. S. Gayle Victim Of Heart Attack On Way To Convention

TALLULAH, Nov. 30.—(Special)—Robert Stuart Gayle, 64, prominent businessman and a leader in civic affairs here, was found dead in his berth on a Pullman car near Houston, Texas, early this morning, victim of a heart attack while on his way with his wife to attend an ice cream manufacturers' convention at Galveston.

Mr. Gayle was owner and operator of the Gayle ice cream factory here, a former president of the Louisiana Ice Cream Manufacturers Association, secretary of the Tallulah Chamber of Commerce and a member of the board of trustees of the Tallulah Baptist Church.

In addition to his wife, Robbie Mize Gayle, he is survived by a brother, Norman W. Gayle, of Tallulah; two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Byassee of Cairo, Ill., and Mrs. Aline Sauleoner of Action, Ind.; two half-brothers, S. C. Gayle of Lexington, Tenn., and H. A. Gayle of Beech Grove, Ind., and his step-mother, Mrs. Effie I. Gayle of Indianapolis, Ind.

Arrangements for funeral services had not been made tonight.

TOY PISTOL ROUTS WOULD-BE BANDIT

BALTIMORE, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Money Order Clerk Campbell Farrow today routed a man who attempted to hold up the Suburban Walbrook Branch Post Office with a toy pistol.

Police said they arrested a man with a toy gun about a block away a few minutes later.

Farrow related that a man walked up to his window shortly before 10 a. m., and pushed in a red-crayon note which said: "Turn over all the money in the drawer and keep quiet."

Farrow dropped to the floor of his cage, grabbed a gun which he kept there, and shouted to other clerks: "Look out . . . a holdup."

The man fled.

Today we turn the corner into the final month of the year. Christmas after today will be but 24 days' distant. The weather is getting colder, all too cold for those kiddies and grownup people who lack warm garments as winter approaches. Some youngsters right here in the midst of plenty are forced either to stay out of school or to attend with only the thin clothing of summer and fall to protect from the inroads of the advancing coldest season of the year. Then besides clothing suited to the season, there is an equal need for wholesome meals to maintain healthy bodies. With food prices higher than any have known in one's lifetime the mere procuring of things to eat is a problem not for the well to do, but for those who feel the relentless pinch of poverty.

We have a fresh supply of letters that disclose conditions of want, such as Good Fellows seek to relieve. Here are a few of them:

"Dear Good Fellows: I am writing for a cripple girl who wont have much Xmas unless you help her. She just got out of Charity Hospital and her mother is sick and stepfather is 72. Please remember her. She needs

BILBO ARRIVES TO ATTEND HEARING

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo arrived here today to attend "as an innocent bystander" the Senate committee hearing that will open here Monday on complaints against his election campaign.

"I'm here as an innocent bystander, but of course if anything hot develops, I have two or three lawyers who will give the matter proper attention," he said at a press conference.

He said he would be represented by Attorneys J. F. Barber of Yazoo City, John Burkitt of Jackson, Forrest Jackson of Jackson "and about 50 more if I need them."

He said the committee, headed by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, Democrat, Louisiana, had forwarded him a copy of the complaint, which Bilbo described as an "indictment against every white man and woman who believes in the white race."

The committee, Bilbo continued, although known as the "campaign expenditures committee," is interested only in "the racial aspects" of his election.

He said the "indictment" against him was drawn up by "the Civil Rights Congress" and was signed by two white persons and 48 Negroes of Mississippi.

Expressing a hope "that "all good people will cooperate with the committee in making this investigation," Bilbo said he did not believe Negroes would fail to offer testimony because of fear.

"Everyone who has sense enough to testify knows there's nothing to be investigated," he commented.

He predicted that the committee's investigation will leave the election issue "with a clean bill of health."

2 NAZI GENERALS GET DEATH EDICTS

Must Face Firing Squad For Reprisal Massacre Of Italians

THUNDEROUS APPLAUSE IS SHOUTED BY SPECTATORS

ROME, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Death before a firing squad was ordered today by a British military tribunal for two German generals found guilty of the reprisal massacre of 335 Italians in Rome's Ardeatine caves a little more than two months before triumphant Allied troops liberated the Eternal City in 1944.

Col. Gen. Eberhard von Mackensen, wily commander of the German 14th army which fought at Anzio beachhead, and Lt. Gen. Gurt Maeltzer, head of the Rome garrison, received the verdict calmly.

Von Mackensen, in a black civilian suit, and Maeltzer, in the uniform of the German air force, merely nodded their heads as the translator informed them they would be shot to death.

The court decreed the firing squad after counsel for von Mackensen asked that he be granted "the clean death of a soldier—death through shooting." Such a plea was spurned for the top Nazis tried before the international military tribunal at Nuernberg.

The courtroom audience, which had been cautioned against any demonstration, received the news of the sentence in silence except for an aged woman who merely murmured "grazie" (thanks).

But when the defendants were led out cries of "bravo" and thunderous applause broke from the spectators, who during the trial had hurled shouts of "assassin!" and "to death!" at the two generals.

Some in the room were relatives of the Roman hostages who were shot to death with their hands tied behind their backs on March 24, 1944, in reprisal for the ambush of 32 German police troops. Rome was liberated by the Allies on the following June 4.

Before the court retired to deliberate on a sentence but after it had pronounced the guilty verdict it heard a request for "no clemency" for von Mackensen.

Gen. Richter Hans Keller, who was legal advisor for Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, German commander in

The mysterious blast that shook a large part of the north side of Monroe a fortnight ago, hurling a young woman out of bed and throwing a large number of persons into a panic, has after multitudinous speculation been solved, stated Judge William (Bill) Harper. The judge states that the water in the Bayou that skirts Island Drive is thickly-coated with the corpses of dead Buffalo and Shad, game fish being noticeable by their absence. The theory that is now advanced is that some miscreant set off a charge of dynamite in the water and killed all piscatorial life thereabouts. The city of Monroe has now a job of clearing the bayou waters of these dead fish. Efforts will be exerted by peace officers to locate the person responsible for the dastardly act and if caught, Judge Harper declares he will be tempted to set off a charge of dynamite under the legs of the person.

BARE BRISTLING NAZI DOCUMENT

Shows Hitler Called Hirohito 'Weak, Cowardly, Irresolute'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A Bristling Nazi document published tonight by the American war crimes prosecution staff disclosed Adolf Hitler once ranked Stalin with Mussolini and himself as the "only three great statesmen in the world."

Hitler deemed Emperor Hirohito of Japan to be "weak, cowardly, irresolute."

That was the estimate of the fuehrer in 1939, two years before he turned on Soviet Russia, as given in a bloodthirsty talk to Nazi generals at a secret conference at his mountain retreat at Obsersalzberg.

The war crimes staff, in publishing the transcript along with other Nazi documents, said it was referred to at Nuernberg but not made a part of the trial record.

At the conference, on the eve of the Nazi agreement with Russia and less than ten days before the attack on Poland, Hitler announced his intention to "go with Staljn" for the time being and "undertake with him a new distribution of the world."

"Stalin and I are the only ones that see only the future," he said.

Exhorting his military leaders to a pitiless attack on Poland, Hitler told them the Nazi's strength lay in "our quickness and our brutality," and continued:

"Ghengis Khan had millions of women and children killed by his own will and with a gay heart. Tistory sees only in him a great state builder. What weak western European civilization thinks about him does not matter. * * *

MEXICO GETTING NEW PRESIDENT

Miguel Aleman, First Civilian To Hold That Office, Goes In Today

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Miguel Aleman, a genial, self-confident lawyer and politician, will take office tomorrow as the first civilian president in Mexico's history and launch an ambitious program of industrial development in which the gates are thrown wide open to private enterprise.

The platform on which the 43-year-old leader was elected July 7 contains this statement: "General economic development is primarily the field of private initiative. Only indispensable fields undeveloped by private enterprise will be sponsored by the state."

He will be inaugurated as the nation's second youngest president. Among the 3,000 witnesses in the white marble Palacio de Bellas Artes, cultural center of the country, will be outgoing President Manuel Avila Camacho.

While industrial development of Mexico ranks uppermost in the president's program, the immediate concern is the development and modernization of agriculture. Aleman is aiming at a high mark in the six years he will hold office—a five-fold increase in production on every tillable acre.

To reach this goal the government plans to open 3,500,000 acres of new irrigable land in the next six years and bring water to another 750,000 acres now being farmed but thirsting for moisture.

Mexico imports one-sixth of the wheat, corn and sugar her people consume and with careful planning the government hopes to cut off the imports in a year's time.

Road building is aimed at solving the problem of tying isolated producing sections to their markets and the government plans to spend $100,000,000 in three years for power stations and high tension lines in or-

WHEAT FUTURES TAKE SHARP DROP

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Wheat futures plunged for the sharpest daily loss since prior to the war on the Chicago board of trade today. Corn and oats were weak, but showed greater resistance to heavy selling than wheat.

At one time the January wheat contract was off 8 1/4 cents from the previous close, selling at $2.01 a bushel. At that point it was off 17 cents from the 26 high scored late last week.

Most of the heavy selling developed in the first hour of trading. Corn and oats were down 4 cents at that time. New buying was attracted and grains staged a modest rally, reducing extreme losses.

Wheat closed 3 3/4 to 5 1/4 cents a bushel lower, January $2.04, corn was off 2 to 2 1/2 cents, January $1.28 3/4-$1.29, and oats declined 2 to 2 7/8 cents, December 78 1/4-1/8.

Wheat dropped 4 1/4 to 5 1/2 cents at Minneapolis and 4 to 6 cents at Kansas City. At Winnipeg rye fell 5 3/4 to 10 cents, the daily limit.

SOFT COAL WALKOUT SLOWLY CHOKING NATION'S ECONOMY

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The ten-day soft coal walkout was slowly strangling the nation's economy today as unemployment in related industries mounted to 100,000 in addition to weekend layoffs that idled 175,000, mostly automobile workers.

New predictions of factory shutdowns would shoot the unemployment total past the million mark by the end of the week if the 400,000 A. F. L.-United Mine Workers continue to stay away from work.

A spokesman for the associated industries of Georgia estimate 318,000 factory workers would be there "soon." In Alabama spokesmen for jobbing foundries which employ from 11,000 to 12,000, said large scale shutdowns could be expected "no later than the end of next week." Virtually all of the foundries are now operating on a three-day week.

Meanwhile, an official of a large Logan, W. Va., bank who decline use of his name, said miners, jittery over rumors that union funds may be impounded, are drawing out much of the $50,000 to $75,000 local and burial fund deposited in the bank.

The only bright spot in an otherwise black-as-coal picture came from Paducah, Ky., where the Illinois Central railroad shops, closed for a week because of the coal shortage, announced it was recalling some of its 1,100 idle workers Monday.

Wayne A. Johnson, railroad president, said the Paducah shop would resume 40 percent of its operations because the railroad needs some locomotives under repair there.

But the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, with 2,500 already idle, reported unemployment will total 4,700 by Monday, including 1,132 at Russell, Ky., and 313 at the Newport News-Norfolk yards.

In Schenectady, N. Y., General Electric Corp. said it expected to lay-off "several hundred" porcelain department workers Monday when New York Power & Light Co., terminates gas service to commercial and industrial users.

In Dayton, Ohio, Delco Products division of General Motors announced the layoff of 500 workers, effective

LOSS IN DALLAS FIRE IS $500,000

Practically Wipes Out Reserve Stocks Of Neiman Marcus Store

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 30.—(AP)—A $500,000-plus basement fire today practically wiped out the reserve stocks of Dallas' famed Neiman Marcus department store, one of the nation's fashion centers.

The stubborn, furnace-hot blaze sent billowing clouds of destructive smoke throughout the five-story building, smartly decorated for the Christmas season, and Store Manager Robert A. Ross said: "We can't begin to really estimate what this has cost us."

"Our tremendous reserve stocks of fine furs, shoes and other merchandise stored in the basement is almost totally ruined," he added. "Smoke damage in other parts of the store may be great. I'd say that the damage can easily top $500,000."

An investigation was launched at dawn to place the cause of the four-hour blaze which was discovered shortly before midnight.

Benning Field, fireman, called it the most stubborn hard-to-reach fire in his 27 years on the force. At least half a dozen firemen were temporarily overcome by smoke. Assistant Fire Chief J. W. Owens and E. H. Miller, building engineer, were hospitalized.

A night watchman, making his rounds on the fifth floor of the building, reported he heard a series of rumbling noises just before midnight "which sounded like explosions."

He descended to the ground floor in an elevator and found smoke. The automatic alarm system called firemen to the scene at 11:57 p. m. A second alarm soon was turned in. Altogether, a dozen trucks responded.

The firefighters found what Battalion Chief A. B. Williams described as a "really mean situation." Already fatigued from combatting a $105,000 fire at the Burrus Feed Mills and a $30,000 blaze in a suburban shopping center, they found the department store basement intensely hot and thick with smoke. In a little while til

MYSTERIOUS DEATH LAID TO EXPOSURE

EASTHAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Investigation into the mysterious death of Donald R. Green, 52, "definitely points to exposure," District Attorney Harold I. Grousbeck said today.

"At present there is no evidence of a crime," the prosecutor told a press conference.

Green, veteran of both World Wars and wealthy manufacturer, was found dead, nude, last Sunday in the woods after having attended a cocktail party on Saturday afternoon at the home of friends where they listened to radio returns from the Harvard-Yale football game.

Green left the party alone, Grousbeck said, and returned to his own home where he changed from a business suit to a leather jacket and khaki shirt.

Investigators still are trying to find where he went after that or whom he met.

The district attorney said that "it has been learned that the man, having been through war experiences (Green was an air force colonel in World War II) may have at times seemed peculiar to some people."

Grousbeck said that of the 18 tests given for possible poisoning, 17 had been found to be negative. The other has not yet been completed.

He said he expected a complete report from the state police laboratory on various tests by next Monday.

Authorities have been checking reports that Green was in a Northampton restaurant with a companion on Saturday night but have found no one who could say whether the companion was a man or a woman.

Green, treasurer and co-owner of the Holyoke Worsted Company, was married to the former Constance McLaughlin of Chicago and they have three children. Mrs. Green is an author and former part-time faculty member at Smith College.

GROUP OF VETERANS WILL LEAVE HOUSES

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A group of veterans and their families, who took over 50 veterans housing dwelling units for four weeks, will move out by Sunday night, it was announced today.

The ex-G. I. squatters' lawyers, Warren J. Hickey and Manuel J. Robbins, said the veterans "seized the dwellings at the project because they thought this was a good opportunity to present the plight of the homeless veteran to the city and nation. This has been accomplished.

"No harm was meant when these dwellings were seized but the nation must realize that to provide the homes that veterans need, it must attack the problem in the same way we attacked the problem of war production. We urgently request that the city help us find permanent homes for these veterans."

At a conference Nov. 20 with the attorneys, Assistant State's Attorney Frank Fitzgerald agreed to drop prosecution of trespassing charges if the squatters vacated the premises at the airport homes project.

With army, navy and marine corps officers as observers, the Adak force will undergo three ten-day maneuvers December 9, January 6 and February 6. Artillery weapons, including self-propelled guns, will be tested along with vehicles, field equipment and rations.

The group is commanded by Col. Joseph D. Raney, a veteran of two years' wartime service in Alaska.

The ground forces' operations at Adak and Fairbanks coincide with army air forces training with Superfortress bombers and P-51 fighter planes over an area which army and navy officials deem the world's most tegic region in the event of an er war.

BANKING YEAR REACHES PEAK

Central Votes Month's Salary To Employes; Capital Expanded

For the third successive year the directors of the Central Savings Bank and Trust Company voted the past week to give all employes of the institution a full month's extra pay as a Christmas present. The Christmas savings fund checks from both this bank and the Ouachita National Bank are being mailed out and both institutions report that the past year has been the biggest in volume of these accounts in their history.

The Central Savings Bank and Trust Company announced through Vice-President J. S. Washburn, that there were, the past year, 2,250 clubs and that the sum saved and remitted was $155,000. The Ouachita Bank stated that checks are being mailed out and that the club is already opening up for the year 1946-1947.

President Travis Oliver, of the Central Bank, stated Saturday that there has never been such a highly success-

TALLULAH LEADER DIES ON PULLMAN

Robt. S. Gayle Victim Of Heart Attack On Way To Convention

TALLULAH, Nov. 30.—(Special)—Robert Stuart Gayle, 64, prominent businessman and a leader in civic affairs here, was found dead in his berth on a Pullman car near Houston, Texas, early this morning, victim of a heart attack while on his way with his wife to attend an ice cream manufacturers' convention at Galveston.

Mr. Gayle was owner and operator of the Gayle ice cream factory here, a former president of the Louisiana Ice Cream Manufacturers Association, secretary of the Tallulah Chamber of Commerce and a member of the board of trustees of the Tallulah Baptist Church.

In addition to his wife, Robbie Mize Gayle, he is survived by a brother, Norman W. Gayle, of Tallulah; two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Byassee of Cairo, Ill., and Mrs. Aline Saulconer of Action, Ind.; two half-brothers, S. C. Gayle of Lexington, Tenn., and H. A. Gayle of Beech Grove, Ind., and his step-mother, Mrs. Effie I. Gayle of Indianapolis, Ind.

Arrangements for funeral services had not been made tonight.

TOY PISTOL ROUTS WOULD-BE BANDIT

BALTIMORE, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Money Order Clerk Campbell Farrow today routed a man who attempted to hold up the Suburban Walbrook Branch Post Office with a toy pistol.

Police said they arrested a man with a toy gun about a block away a few minutes later.

Farrow related that a man walked up to his window shortly before 10 a. m., and pushed in a red-crayon note which said: "Turn over all the money in the drawer and keep quiet."

Farrow dropped to the floor of his cage, grabbed a gun which he kept there, and shouted to other clerks: "Look out . . . a holdup."

The man fled.

Today we turn the corner into the final month of the year. Christmas after today will be but 24 days' distant. The weather is getting colder, all too cold for those kiddies and grownup people who lack warm garments as winter approaches. Some youngsters right here in the midst of plenty are forced either to stay out of school or to attend with only the thin clothing of summer and fall to protect from the inroads of the advancing coldest season of the year. Then besides clothing suited to the season, there is an equal need for wholesome meals to maintain healthy bodies. With food prices higher than any have known in one's lifetime the mere procuring of things to eat is a problem not for the well to do, but for those who feel the relentless pinch of poverty.

We have a fresh supply of letters that disclose conditions of want, such as Good Fellows seek to relieve. Here are a few of them:

"Dear Good Fellows: I am writing for a cripple girl who wont have much Xmas unless you help her. She just got out of Charity Hospital and her mother is sick and stepfather is 72. Please remember her. She needs

BILBO ARRIVES TO ATTEND HEARING

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo arrived here today to attend "as an innocent bystander" the Senate committee hearing that will open here Monday on complaints against his election campaign.

"I'm here as an innocent bystander, but of course if anything hot develops, I have two or three lawyers who will give the matter proper attention," he said at a press conference.

He said he would be represented by Attorneys J. F. Barber of Yazoo City, John Burkitt of Jackson, Forrest Jackson of Jackson "and about 50 more if I need them."

He said the committee, headed by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, Democrat, Louisiana, had forwarded him a copy of the complaint, which Bilbo described as an "indictment against every white man and woman who believes in the white race."

The committee, Bilbo continued, although known as the "campaign expenditures committee," is interested only in "the racial aspects" of his election.

He said the "indictment" against him was drawn up by "the Civil Rights Congress" and was signed by two white persons and 48 Negroes of Mississippi.

Expressing a hope that "all good people will cooperate with the committee in making this investigation," Bilbo said he did not believe Negroes would fail to offer testimony because of fear.

"Everyone who has sense enough to testify knows there's nothing to be investigated," he commented.

He predicted that the committee's investigation will leave the election issue "with a clean bill of health."

THUNDEROUS APPLAUSE IS SHOUTED BY SPECTATORS

ROME, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Death before a firing squad was ordered today by a British military tribunal for two German generals found guilty of the reprisal massacre of 335 Italians in Rome's Ardeatine caves a little more than two months before triumphant Allied troops liberated the Eternal City in 1944.

Col. Gen. Eberhard von Mackensen, wily commander of the German 14th army which fought at Anzio beachhead, and Lt. Gen. Gurt Maeltzer, head of the Rome garrison, received the verdict calmly.

Von Mackensen, in a black civilian suit, and Maeltzer, in the uniform of the German air force, merely nodded their heads as the translator informed them they would be shot to death.

The court decreed the firing squad after counsel for von Mackensen asked that he be granted "the clean death of a soldier—death through shooting." Such a plea was spurned for the top Nazis tried before the international military tribunal at Nuernberg.

The courtroom audience, which had been cautioned against any demonstration, received the news of the sentence in silence except for an aged woman who merely murmured "grazie" (thanks).

But when the defendants were led out cries of "bravo" and thunderous applause broke from the spectators, who during the trial had hurled shouts of "assassin!" and "to death!" at the two generals.

Some in the room were relatives of the Roman hostages who were shot to death with their hands tied behind their backs on March 24, 1944, in reprisal for the ambush of 32 German police troops. Rome was liberated by the Allies on the following June 4.

Before the court retired to deliberate on a sentence but after it had pronounced the guilty verdict it heard a request for "no clemency" for von Mackensen.

Gen. Richter Hans Keller, who was legal advisor for Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, German commander in

The mysterious blast that shook a large part of the north side of Monroe a fortnight ago, hurling a young woman out of bed and throwing a large number of persons into a panic, has after multitudinous speculation been solved, stated Judge William (Bill) Harper. The judge states that the water in the Bayou that skirts Island Drive is thickly-coated with the corpses of dead Buffalo and Shad, game fish being noticeable by their absence. The theory that is now advanced is that some miscreant set off a charge of dynamite in the water and killed all piscatorial life thereabouts. The city of Monroe has now a job of clearing the bayou waters of these dead fish. Efforts will be exerted by peace officers to locate the person responsible for the dastardly act and if caught, Judge Harper declares he will be tempted to set off a charge of dynamite under the legs of the person.

BARE BRISTLING NAZI DOCUMENT

Shows Hitler Called Hirohito 'Weak, Cowardly, Irresolute'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A Bristling Nazi document published tonight by the American war crimes prosecution staff disclosed Adolf Hitler once ranked Stalin with Mussolini and himself as the "only three great statesmen in the world."

Hitler deemed Emperor Hirohito of Japan to be "weak, cowardly, irresolute."

That was the estimate of the fuehrer in 1939, two years before he turned on Soviet Russia, as given in a bloodthirsty talk to Nazi generals at a secret conference at his mountain retreat at Obsersalzberg.

The war crimes staff, in publishing the transcript along with other Nazi documents, said it was referred to at Nuernberg but not made a part of the trial record.

At the conference, on the eve of the Nazi agreement with Russia and less than ten days before the attack on Poland, Hitler announced his intention to "go with Staljn" for the time being and "undertake with him a new distribution of the world."

"Stalin and I are the only ones that see only the future," he said.

Exhorting his military leaders to a pitiless attack on Poland, Hitler told them the Nazi's strength lay in "our quickness and our brutality," and continued:

"Ghengis Khan had millions of women and children killed by his own will and with a gay heart. Tistory sees only in him a great state builder. What weak western European civilization thinks about him does not matter. * * *

MEXICO GETTING NEW PRESIDENT

Miguel Aleman, First Civilian To Hold That Office, Goes In Today

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Miguel Aleman, a genial, self-confident lawyer and politician, will take office tomorrow as the first civilian president in Mexico's history and launch an ambitious program of industrial development in which the gates are thrown wide open to private enterprise.

The platform on which the 43-year-old leader was elected July 7 contains this statement: "General economic development is primarily the field of private initiative. Only indispensable fields undeveloped by private enterprise will be sponsored by the state."

He will be inaugurated as the nation's second youngest president. Among the 3,000 witnesses in the white marble Palacio de Bellas Artes, cultural center of the country, will be outgoing President Manuel Avila Camacho.

While industrial development of Mexico ranks uppermost in the president's program, the immediate concern is the development and modernization of agriculture. Aleman is aiming at a high mark in the six years he will hold office—a five-fold increase in production on every tillable acre.

To reach this goal the government plans to open 3,500,000 acres of new irrigable land in the next six years and bring water to another 750,000 acres now being farmed but thirsting for moisture.

Mexico imports one-sixth of the wheat, corn and sugar her people consume and with careful planning the government hopes to cut off the imports in a year's time.

Road building is aimed at solving the problem of tying isolated producing sections to their markets and the government plans to spend $100,000,000 in three years for power stations and high tension lines in or-

SOFT COAL WALKOUT SLOWLY CHOKING NATION'S ECONOMY

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The ten-day soft coal walkout was slowly strangling the nation's economy today as unemployment in related industries mounted to 100,000 in addition to weekend layoffs that idled 175,000, mostly automobile workers.

New predictions of factory shutdowns would shoot the unemployment total past the million mark by the end of the week if the 400,000 A. F. L.-United Mine Workers continue to stay away from work.

A spokesman for the associated industries of Georgia estimate 318,000 factory workers would be there "soon." In Alabama spokesmen for jobbing foundries which employ from 11,000 to 12,000, said large scale shutdowns could be expected "no later than the end of next week." Virtually all of the foundries are now operating on a three-day week.

Meanwhile, an official of a large Logan, W. Va., bank who decline use of his name, said miners, jittery over rumors that union funds may be impounded, are drawing out much of the $50,000 to $75,000 local and burial fund deposited in the bank.

The only bright spot in an otherwise black-as-coal picture came from Paducah, Ky., where the Illinois Central railroad shops, closed for a week because of the coal shortage, announced it was recalling some of its 1,100 idle workers Monday.

Wayne A. Johnson, railroad president, said the Paducah shop would resume 40 percent of its operations because the railroad needs some locomotives under repair there.

But the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, with 2,500 already idle, reported unemployment will total 4,700 by Monday, including 1,132 at Russell, Ky., and 313 at the Newport News-Norfolk yards.

In Schentectady, N. Y., General Electric Corp. said it expected to layoff "several hundred" porcelain department workers Monday when New York Power & Light Co., terminates gas service to commercial and industrial users.

In Dayton, Ohio, Delco Products division of General Motors announced the layoff of 500 workers, effective

WHEAT FUTURES TAKE SHARP DROP

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Wheat futures plunged for the sharpest daily loss since prior to the war on the Chicago board of trade today. Corn and oats were weak, but showed greater resistance to heavy selling than wheat.

At one time the January wheat contract was off 8 1/4 cents from the previous close, selling at $2.01 a bushel. At that point it was off 17 cents from the 26 high scored late last week.

Most of the heavy selling developed in the first hour of trading. Corn and oats were down 4 cents at that time. New buying was attracted and grains staged a modest rally, reducing extreme losses.

Wheat closed 3 3/4 to 5 1/4 cents a bushel lower, January $2.04, corn was off 2 to 2 1/2 cents, January $1.28 3/4-$1.29, and oats declined 2 to 2 7/8 cents, December 78 1/4-1/8.

Wheat dropped 4 1/4 to 5 1/2 cents at Minneapolis and 4 to 6 cents at Kansas City. At Winnipeg rye fell 5 3/4 to 10 cents, the daily limit.

Proceeds Will Go To Medical Fund

Prospects For Out-Of-Court Settlement Wane; Southern Coal Producers May Remove Edward R. Burke As President

By Sterling F. Green

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The government acted today to chalk up retroactive fines against the individual miners for each day of the soft coal strike while prospects for an out-of-court settlement waned.

The fines, $1 to $2 for each day of idleness, will not be collected, however, until the miners go back to work and they can be deducted from pay checks. And the proceeds will go to the union's own medical fund, administered solely by it.

Undeterred by this move, counsel for John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers mapped fresh strategy for their legal battle against the government which resumes Monday. They plan an appeal to the United States circuit court of appeals if the federal district court ruling goes against them, it was learned, and they hope th any contempt of court sentence m be stayed until it is decided.

The private operators of the Southern Coal Producers Association, called to meet here Monday, may remove Edward R. Burke as president, one industry official, for his announcement Thursday that "we are willing to talk" with Lewis on "Wages, hours and everything else." Ten directors have repudiated Burke's statement.

As the nation-wide walkout of the 400,000 bituminous miners passed its tenth day, the number of steel, factory and other workers laid off in the creeping industrial paralysis climbed close to 100,000. Another 7,000 were on furlough from fuel-starved factories for the Thanksgiving week-end.

Against this wintry pr ct were a few feeble rays of cheer. he government announced its ic, 21-state dimout would not pr t the illumination of indoor Christ trees. The official announcement that Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small expressed "ho hat the work stoppage in the coal es would be over soon."

And in Paducah, Ky., Shop Su tendent John Welsch announced "in anticipation of an early settle of the coal strike," the Illinois C tral Railroad shops would reo Monday after a week's shutdown.

Neither Small nor Welsch elabora on their optimism.

The fines against the individual miners were authorized in union agreements with private operators and carried forward in the government contract which Lewis claims is terminated and the government contends is still in force. They were designed to give the union a weapon for preventing "wildcat" strikes which it did not authorize. The procedure under government operation calls for the mine operators to apply to the government for authority to impose the fines.

Capt. N. H. Collisson, coal mine administrator, announced that "numerous" applications have been granted, but declined to give the exact number. If all 3,300 strikebound coal companies should fine their men for the ten-day idleness to date, the sum already would total between $4,000,000 and $8,000,000.

A spokesman for Collisson noted, however, that probably not all companies will seek approval to fine, many will not impose fines even when permission is granted, and others would not collect the money even if they levied the fine. Usually, he said, companies waive the fines once a settlement is reached. Moreover, the fines are not provided for by contract in all districts.

The Pittsburgh-Consolidated Coal company announced it has begun to levy daily $1, fines against the 4,500 strikers at its 14 western Pennsylvania pits. The money will be taken out of pay checks when the strike ends.

Persons close to the union's courtroom strategy said privately that it will hammer on these points:

First, that the government operation of the diggings is a "paper operation," with the private owners still in charge;

LOSS IN DALLAS FIRE IS $500,000

Practically Wipes Out Reserve Stocks Of Neiman Marcus Store

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 30.—(AP)—A $500,000-plus basement fire today practically wiped out the reserve stocks of Dallas' famed Neiman Marcus department store, one of the nation's fashion centers.

The stubborn, furnace-hot blaze sent billowing clouds of destructive smoke throughout the five-story building, smartly decorated for the Christmas season, and Store Manager Robert A. Ross said: "We can't begin to really estimate what this has cost us."

"Our tremendous reserve stocks of fine furs, shoes and other merchandise stored in the basement is almost totally ruined," he added. "Smoke damage in other parts of the store may be great. I'd say that the damage can easily top $500,000."

An investigation was launched at dawn to place the cause of the four-hour blaze which was discovered shortly before midnight.

Benning Field, fireman, called it the most stubborn hard-to-reach fire in his 27 years on the force. At least half a dozen firemen were temporarily overcome by smoke. Assistant Fire Chief J. W. Owens and E. H. Miller, building engineer, were hospitalized.

A night watchman, making his rounds on the fifth floor of the building, reported he heard a series of rumbling noises just before midnight "which sounded like explosions."

He descended to the ground floor in an elevator and found smoke. The automatic alarm system called firemen to the scene at 11:57 p. m. A second alarm soon was turned in. Altogether, a dozen trucks responded.

The firefighters found what Battalion Chief A. B. Williams described as a "really mean situation." Already fatigued from combatting a $105,000 fire at the Burrus Feed Mills and a $30,000 blaze in a suburban shopping center, they found the department store basement intensely hot and thick with smoke. In a little while the

EASTHAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Investigation into the mysterious death of Donald R. Green, 52, "definitely points to exposure," District Attorney Harold I. Grousbeck said today.

"At present there is no evidence of a crime," the prosecutor told a press conference.

Green, veteran of both World Wars and wealthy manufacturer, was found dead, nude, last Sunday in the woods after having attended a cocktail party on Saturday afternoon at the home of friends where they listened to radio returns from the Harvard-Yale football game.

Green left the party alone, Grousbeck said, and returned to his own home where he changed from a business suit to a leather jacket and khaki shirt.

Investigators still are trying to find where he went after that or whom he met.

The district attorney said that "it has been learned that the man, having been through war experiences (Green was an air force colonel in World War II) may have at times seemed peculiar to some people."

Grousbeck said that of the 18 tests given for possible poisoning, 17 had been found to be negative. The other has not yet been completed.

He said he expected a complete report from the state police laboratory on various tests by next Monday.

Authorities have been checking reports that Green was in a Northampton restaurant with a companion on Saturday night but have found no one who could say whether the companion was a man or a woman.

Green, treasurer and co-owner of the Holyoke Worsted Company, was married to the former Constance McLaughlin of Chicago and they have three children. Mrs. Green is an author and former part-time faculty member at Smith College.

GROUP OF VETERANS WILL LEAVE HOUSES

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A group of veterans and their families, who took over 50 veterans housing dwelling units for four weeks, will move out by Sunday night, it was announced today.

The ex-G. I. squatters' lawyers, Warren J. Hickey and Manuel J. Robbins, said the veterans "seized the dwellings at the project because they thought this was a good opportunity to present the plight of the homeless veteran to the city and nation. This has been accomplished.

"No harm was meant when these dwellings were seized but the nation must realize that to provide the homes that veterans need, it must attack the problem in the same way we attacked the problem of war production. We urgently request that the city help us find permanent homes for these veterans."

At a conference Nov. 20 with the attorneys, Assistant State's Attorney Frank Fitzgerald agreed to drop prosecution of trespassing charges if the squatters vacated the premises at the airport homes project.

Old Story Of An Old Evil

The story of the inadequacy of public school teachers' salaries is not a new one. In fact, the only excuse for retelling it is that it seems to be as consistently forgotten as it is frequently told, and also because the situation is passing from that of a national disgrace to that of a national problem.

Recent figures indicate that 350,000 teachers have left their jobs since the war began. Some 60,000 of them have not been replaced. An additional 109,000 teaching jobs are being filled by persons who could not qualify for the jobs except under emergency conditions.

The reasons for this exodus are not hard to find. During the war teachers received an average pay increase of 11 per cent, as against 56 per cent for industrial workers. That brought their average annual salary at the war's end to $1,786, or about $34 a week. This compares unfavorably with the average pay of domestics, manicurists, hat-check girls and others whose jobs scarcely can match the teachers' as contributions to the country's advancement.

Even the average salary quoted above, low as it is, is misleading on the plus side. During the last year of the war half the country's teachers were averaging less than $1,625 a year, a fifth were getting less than $1,200, and 44,000 received less than $600 annually.

Perhaps one of the chief causes of this shameful condition is an outmoded attitude which many of us have toward the profession of teaching—an attitude that sits in a back corner of our mind like an inherited piece of antique furniture.

A century ago, and less, school teaching was the most respectable of the few professions open to women. Only the very young, the very zealous, or the very disappointedly unattractive chose it. Little training was demanded. Little pay was expected or received. Teaching was recognized as necessary, but as a profession for women it was tolerated as the first step in search of a husband, or the last refuge of a misfit spinster who had to make her own way in a man's world.

Today, of course, teaching is but one of hundreds of professions from which a woman may choose. The standards and requirements are high. The training is specialized and costly. Yet we continue to underpay those to whom we entrust the most important years of our children's training. Worse, we continue the old practice of feeling free to criticize teachers' manners, personal habits, dress and mode of living—under threat of firing them.

Most teachers love their work. (How else could they put up with what they do?) But more than a third of the teachers employed in our public school system have had to find other work in order to live and eat decently.

What we shall be faced with, if this continues, is a school system staffed not by teachers equipped for their work by temperament and training, but by ill-trained persons who otherwise could not even earn the teacher's pittance.

The public schools are traditionally and rightly the concern of the states, not the federal government. But certainly the states stand to lose their authority if they do not assume the responsibility of bettering the lot of their public educators.

There are few states that did not grow richer during the war years. It is time that all our states took thought of their own teachers and arranged more adequate compensation for them, or we shall find ourselves with a badly-educated, badly-equipped generation of future citizens.

SOUVENIR GUNS AND GANGSTERS

Bank robberies and other forms of banditry which became rarities after the F. B. I. finally had eradicated the Dillingers and the Pretty Boy Floyds of the long era of lawlessness that followed the First World War are becoming common occurrences again all over the country, and in many of the cases the robbers are reported as armed with machine guns.

That accounts for the intensified activity by the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit toward strict enforcement of the National Firearms Act, which was passed by Congress in 1934 for the express purpose of making such weapons unobtainable for gangsters. It was not entirely effective but there was a lull in major crime from that time until the close of the recent war.

In the belief that foreign-make machine guns, brought back as souvenirs by returned war veterans, may be falling into the hands of crooks, the tax unit is putting new stress on its appeal to ex-service men possessing such weapons to bring them in for registration. Joe B. Everett, agent in charge of the Monroe office of the unit in the post office building, said yesterday there has been a pleasing response to the request in his district.

The law covers machine guns, which includes all types that fire more than one shot with a single continuous pull of the trigger; rifles above .22 caliber and shotguns with barrels less than 18 inches in length, and .22 caliber rifles with barrels under 16 inches, and mufflers and silencers. Failure to register carries a penalty of $2,000 fine or imprisonment for five years, or both.

Under the law, such a weapon cannot be sold, loaned or given away without paying a tax of $200.

An owner of a trophy machine gun or any souvenir weapon covered by the 1934 act can have his responsibility lessened by permitting the alcohol tax unit office to have it rendered inoperative, Mr. Everett pointed out.

"We provide this service free of charge," he said. "By having the chamber of a gun welded so that a cartridge cannot be inserted, it is rendered harmless and can be disposed of without incurring a penalty. We have found that most of the veterans want these guns as trophies and have no intention of ever firing them. The welding process does not detract from the souvenir value of a gun and it removes the chance of a regrettable accidental discharge and the possibility of theft by gangsters seeking effective weapons with which to ply their trade."

Producer Samuel Goldwyn's declaration to the New York press that Hollywood is starving for new ideas—that it's doomed if it continues to follow the beaten path and slavishly adhere to threadbare plots—was very impressive. But I can't help wondering if the bombastic Mr. Goldwyn wasn't thinking more about publicity than reform. I'll keep wondering that as long as he, personally, refuses to read original scripts submitted to his studios by new writers who might have new ideas and, instead, either turns back such contributions unopened and unread, or hands them to a staff of low-salaried readers who, being smart, would no more dare to recommend anything daringly different than you would dare to go to a formal reception in your unmentionables.

Here's an ironic little story that demonstrates the impossibility of prejudging dramatic ability. Several years ago, a Hollywood high school girl tried to enroll in the famous dramatic school conducted by Madame Maria Ouspenskaya, a veteran who should be able to judge "talent" if anyone can. The girl was rejected as an "impossible." Her name was, and is, Catherine McLeod. She's now working in her second starring role, and is being hailed as one of the greatest finds of recent years. Madame Ouspenskaya played a minor supporting role in Miss McLeod's first picture.

I want to take time out this morning for the deepest of deep bows to a Miss Helen Pueschel of Los Angeles. Without knowing her personally, I've conceived a violent admiration for her—and all on the strength of a photograph which appeared in one of our local newspapers the other day. It showed her standing beside one of the champion Aberdeen - Angus bulls which will be displayed at the Great Western Stock Show, and she wasn't wearing either a bathing suit or shorts!

Trade papers announced the other day that MGM has awarded a starring contract to one Helen Constance, a Rumanian actress, who will have to devote a year or two to study of the English language. Several people who read the item have wondered out loud what MGM will do with a girl who speaks nary a word of our tongue. I think the answer is easy, if the records of the past, where similar cases have arisen, are consulted. They'll undoubtedly cast Miss Constance as a "typical American girl."

OUR CHILDREN

DEMOCRACY IN EDUCATION

There is bitterness in the hearts of many school teachers these days because of the inconsistancy, to give it no worse name, of their leaders and their supervisors. It is the fashion to preach democracy in education. The teachers all over the country attend conferences that are called after the close of the school sessions at a time when teachers are fatigued to the point of exhaustion. The supervisor lectures on democracy, on the program that is to breed a generation of freedom - loving, freedom-practicing children and youth. The idea is set forth in many-syllabled words, many words. The teachers are sent home with the injunction to feel free, to teach freely, to install the freedom of thought in their pupils. Then what?

Supervisors seem to have affection for quiet, peace, the order that allows neither freedom of movement nor of thought. They are old, tired, weary of the turmoil of childhood and youth and how they love Discipline—the discipline that stills children into statues, into regular lines, rigid as dead fish. They are, many of them, the exceptions are rare, worn out looking for defects in discipline methods, programs, that the liveliness of healthy childhood is agony for them to endure. At least that is how it looks to the teachers who live with lively children every school day.

Take playtime. Children must have exercise so a recess is allowed them for play. Play, say the supervisors, should be the spontaneous activity of children. That's the truth. It should be. But is it? Let children run freely, shout as they will, play as they wish, and you have noise, movement that is flashing and dashing and crashing. You have to be young in mind and spirit to supervise that kind of play. The teacher can take it because he knows it is the correct expression of healthy childhood but can the supervisor? Maybe. Maybe not.

One recess time, just after the children had had a gorgeous time chasing each other in a complicated game of tag, the teacher lined them up to allow them to change their mood from that of wild enthusiasm for action to the calmer attitude of mind that allowed for entrance into the study room. Just then the district supervisor appeared. "Splendid, Mr. Sporter, splendid. For the first time I have seen orderly lines in this yard. I am delighted, delighted."

Now what is the teacher to do? Line up the children for quiet? Or allow them to play as children should play? Allow freedom of movement, initiative in play, so laying, according to the supervisor, the basis of a democratic way of life. Or, after all, you know, teachers look for promotions, and an A from the supervisor might mean a lot. And so might a D.

Teachers want to be well-paid, of course, and they should be. But what they want most, what they need most, is leadership, a leadership that respects the teacher's intelligence and the children's needs. Money is not the answer.

Lying is a habit which seems harmless at its beginning but one that may prove very difficult to break. How to tackle this tough problem is explained by Angelo Patri in his leaflet, "Lying," No. P-15.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Sunday School Lesson For December 8
PAUL ADMONISHES THE CHURCHES
Scripture: I Corinthians 11:20-27; Romans 13:13-14; Ephesians 5:18-21
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The notion that the early Christian Church was composed of pure and perfect Christians is one that is soon dispelled when one reads in the New Testament the epistles that were written to the churches not only by Paul but also by Peter, James, and John.

When one considers how unpopular and how subject to persecution was the new faith, it seems strange that any except the most sincere and unsullied should have joined the Christian group. But Paul's admonition against feeding those who would not work seems to indicate that there were in the early Christian community the sort of "converts" who in our time have been called "rice Christians," adherents who sought to be parasites upon the abler and more prosperous members.

Paul was determined to check any abuse of the basic Christian principle of mutual love and mutual aid. Side by side with the tenet that Christians should bear one another's burdens, "and so fulfill the law of Christ," he laid down the principle that "every man shall bear his own burden."

The converts to the Christian church were largely Gentiles, many of them former idolators, in cities full of licentiousness.

No doubt many of those who were drawn to the Christian way were inherently good souls, averse to their licentious and evil surroundings; but others were converts from evil ways of living. When Paul describes the evil life of those corrupt cities, he says, in writing to the Christians, "and such were some of you."

But the fact that they had been washed of their sins did not prevent lapses into the evils of a tempting environment; and some apparently did not accept, or realize, the true nature of the Christian way. Always there have been those ready to corrupt the purity of Christian faith and practice with their own philosophies of ease and indulgence.

Intoxicating liquor, too, was evidently a source of temptation and disgrace to the first Christians, as it has been at all times. Paul warns against drunkenness, and we may be sure that he would not have given the warning if it had not been needed.

Drink can make a fool of a normally good and well-intentioned man quite as effectually as it can of a weakling or wastrel. But Paul had an antidote for the temptation to the intoxication of liquor: one filled with the Spirit could not yield to such temptation.

The man who had "put on the Lord Jesus" had a strength that could not be easily corrupted. Hence Paul's Epistles are constructive, as well as reproving, in their admonitions. He made the Christian life alluring in its height, its joy, and its glory.

BIBLE THOUGHTS

For great is the wrath of the Lord that is poured out upon us, because our fathers have not kept the word of the Lord.—II Chronicles 34:21.

I served my king, He would not in mine age
Have left me naked to mine enemies.

News BEHIND THE NEWS
By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(P)—The miners are being quoted in the newspapers as saying they do not know why John Lewis broke their highly favorable contract he extracted by political pressure from a sympathetic government only six months ago. He announced no list of demands for them. But they intend to follow him blindly, they say. This is their individually announced position.

Experts intimate with the problem who can read between the [illegible] think they know what Lewis is [illegible]. He is front-running for the C. I. O. campaign to increase wages again. Last year, you will recall he missed the same bus. The C. I. O. auto and steel strike ran through the holiday period, but Lewis had a contract with the operators, running until April 1. He did not get in on the C. I. O. campaign but had to follow it, getting his raise at the end of May.

Now C. I. O. has announced it is planning another wage raising campaign and Lewis acted before C. I. O. could get the words out of its mouth. Last year's strike broke the government "hold this line" campaign against inflation. Prices are still rising, but food is due to come down after the first of the year (government economists predicted within 60 days).

But Lewis planned, my inside informants tell me, to grab another wage increase and get away with it before Congress reassembles in January. Thus he would leave C. I. O. to face the music of congressional anti-strike legislation which is sure to arise.

That explanation is the only one which makes sense.

To combat it, the government is in a somewhat weak position and not doing much to strengthen itself. The inside on that is, the government decided to put its entire case in one basket, a wholly legal basket. Obviously this will not do the job. The problem of the nation is to get coal but even if the government wins on the line it has chosen, we may not get coal, for the miners say they will follow Lewis not only against the government, but against law, and will promote sympathy strikes if he is judged to have violated the law. That will not produce much coal, or cure the brown-out, or answer the public necessities.

Whether Lewis violated the law is one thing. The nation needs coal. To it coal is the primary thing from the consuming public standpoint. Of course Lewis must be tried. If his case goes to the supreme court, months might be spent in deciding his guilt of violation of the Smith-Connally act, although the contempt case could be settled more promptly. Either conclusion may not heat the nation this winter.

As the blindness of the miners in proposing to follow Lewis is a main cause of the coal shortage, you would think the government would at least be in the midst now of a terrific campaign to educate the miners on the facts of inflation, the need for continuing its policies, the prospective brevity of the current food price increases, and so many other facts which expose the economic deficiency of the position Lewis has taken.

The government has said nary a word! No speeches! No statements! No propaganda for itself. Just blind following down the blind alley of legal justice which could better be decided after economic justice is done.

Personally I would think also that the government would have taken many steps by now to give the country coal. The government could do this economic justice if it set upon the task. It might not produce much as a start, but the start even of a trickle could eventually grow into a river. It would then not be impotent to Lewis. Coal mining is not an occupation requiring long skill. Apprenticeship standards differ in the various [illegible] only days or [illegible] Indeed about a thousand tons of coal per day [illegible] even now being [illegible] in Pennsylvania [illegible] there is an anti-Lewis union in Illinois, only one third of which went on strike. Encouragement to [illegible] the production is about [illegible] might expect. New machines have been developed for the mining of coal [illegible] swiftly and this might be [illegible] it would take a man [illegible] to learn how to [illegible] to wield a pick [illegible]. The [illegible] has troops available to protect operations.

Now [illegible] campaign for another C. I. O. national wage [illegible] the more does the government [illegible] its duty to protect its economic [illegible] economic action. [illegible] public loses as long as the strike is still on and the nation is not getting coal.

But even if Lewis wins a new contract settlement from the government his victory can only be temporary. The contract can only run until the war-powers act is repealed by Congress or six months thereafter. Then the mines are to be turned back to private operation. [illegible] the government and Lewis will have to negotiate an entirely new contract with the operators who certainly will not give him as good a deal as he got from a politically minded government at the opening of a congressional campaign. In short, we are [illegible] all this coal trouble over a contract which cannot last long.

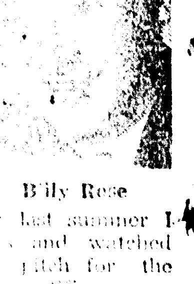
Pitching Horseshoes
By Billy Rose

I wuz robbed.

According to the Bureau of Vital Statistics, I am 47 years of age. That's plain silly. Somewhere along the line somebody picked 20 years out of my pocket. Somebody gave me a fast count.

It was only a couple of years ago I was saving the colored pictures they gave away with Sweet Caporal cigarettes. It was only last year I got my first pair of longies, my first shave, my first kiss. Only a few months ago I sat on a hard bench in a vacant lot up in the Bronx and saw a flickering movie of Mary Pickford in pigtails. It was only last summer I sat in the bleachers and watched Christy Mathewson pitch for the Giants. But my birth certificate says I'm old enough to be my own father. I demand a recount!



Billy Rose

I'm not getting hysterical—just trying to look at it sensibly. Let's jot down the evidence and see what it adds up to: (a) I don't look 47; (b) I don't feel 47; (c) I don't act 47; (d) I don't think 47. My birth certificate says 1899—it must be a typographical error.

I don't claim to be Mickey Rooney, but on the other hand I wasn't around when the Big Dipper was a drinking cup. I refuse to believe I'm through cooking and ready to be basted.

I don't quarrel with my shaving mirror when it tells me my schoolboy complexion has graduated. I don't pretend the [illegible] around my middle is a life-[illegible]. OREGON FUGITIVE HUNTED IN ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30.—(P)—The police here were searching today for a fugitive from Oregon, Clyde A. Guhr, 27, who Police Captain Fidel Aragon said, is wanted for parole violation.

Aragon said Guhr, arrested here yesterday at a request of Postal Inspector Roy H. Conley, broke a padlock to his cell during the night by using a piece of pipe as a jimmy.

The prisoner then walked out of the jail.

A woman who resides next to the third police station, where Guhr had been confined, said she encountered a man that fitted his description in her house. She said the man bolted past her and disappeared.

The officer said the prisoner evidently had scaled a wall surrounding the station and dropped into the next door courtyard.

Old Story Of An Old Evil

The story of the inadequacy of public school teachers' salaries is not a new one. In fact, the only excuse for retelling it is that it seems to be as consistently forgotten as it is frequently told, and also because the situation is passing from that of a national disgrace to that of a national problem.

Recent figures indicate that 350,000 teachers have left their jobs since the war began. Some 60,000 of them have not been replaced. An additional 109,000 teaching jobs are being filled by persons who could not qualify for the jobs except under emergency conditions.

The reasons for this exodus are not hard to find. During the war teachers received an average pay increase of 11 per cent, as against 56 per cent for industrial workers. That brought their average annual salary at the war's end to $1,786, or about $34 a week. This compares unfavorably with the average pay of domestics, manicurists, hat-check girls and others whose jobs scarcely can match the teachers' as contributions to the country's advancement.

Even the average salary quoted above, low as it is, is misleading on the plus side. During the last year of the war half the country's teachers were averaging less than $1,625 a year, a fifth were getting less than $1,200, and 44,000 received less than $600 annually.

Perhaps one of the chief causes of this shameful condition is an outmoded attitude which many of us have toward the profession of teaching—an attitude that sits in a back corner of our mind like an inherited piece of antique furniture.

A century ago, and less, school teaching was the most respectable of the few professions open to women. Only the very young, the very zealous, or the very disappointedly unattractive chose it. Little training was demanded. Little pay was expected or received. Teaching was recognized as necessary, but as a profession for women it was tolerated as the first step in search of a husband, or the last refuge of a misfit spinster who had to make her own way in a man's world.

Today, of course, teaching is but one of hundreds of professions from which a woman may choose. The standards and requirements are high. The training is specialized and costly. Yet we continue to underpay those to whom we entrust the most important years of our children's training. Worse, we continue the old practice of feeling free to criticize teachers' manners, personal habits, dress and mode of living—under threat of firing them.

Most teachers love their work. (How else could they put up with what they do?) But more than a third of the teachers employed in our public school system have had to find other work in order to live and eat decently.

What we shall be faced with, if this continues, is a school system staffed not by teachers equipped for their work by temperament and training, but by ill-trained persons who otherwise could not even earn the teacher's pittance.

The public schools are traditionally and rightly the concern of the states, not the federal government. But certainly the states stand to lose their authority if they do not assume the responsibility of bettering the lot of their public educators.

There are few states that did not grow richer during the war years. It is time that all our states took thought of their own teachers and arranged more adequate compensation for them, or we shall find ourselves with a badly-educated, badly-equipped generation of future citizens.

SOUVENIR GUNS AND GANGSTERS

Bank robberies and other forms of banditry which became rarities after the F. B. I. finally had eradicated the Dillingers and the Pretty Boy Floyds of the long era of lawlessness that followed the First World War are becoming common occurrences again all over the country, and in many of the cases the robbers are reported as armed with machine guns.

That accounts for the intensified activity by the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit toward strict enforcement of the National Firearms Act, which was passed by Congress in 1934 for the express purpose of making such weapons unobtainable for gangsters. It was not entirely effective but there was a lull in major crime from that time until the close of the recent war.

In the belief that foreign-make machine guns, brought back as souvenirs by returned war veterans, may be falling into the hands of crooks, the tax unit is putting new stress on its appeal to ex-service men possessing such weapons to bring them in for registration. Joe B. Everett, agent in charge of the Monroe office of the unit in the post office building, said yesterday there has been a pleasing response to the request in his district.

The law covers machine guns, which includes all types that fire more than one shot with a single continuous pull of the trigger; rifles above .22 caliber and shotguns with barrels less than 18 inches in length, and .22 caliber rifles with barrels under 16 inches, and mufflers and silencers. Failure to register carries a penalty of $2,000 fine or imprisonment for five years, or both.

Under the law, such a weapon cannot be sold, loaned or given away without paying a tax of $200.

An owner of a trophy machine gun or any souvenir weapon covered by the 1934 act can have his responsibility lessened by permitting the alcohol tax unit office to have it rendered inoperative, Mr. Everett pointed out.

"We provide this service free of charge," he said. "By having the chamber of a gun welded so that a cartridge cannot be inserted, it is rendered harmless and can be disposed of without incurring a penalty. We have found that most of the veterans want these guns as trophies and have no intention of ever firing them. The welding process does not detract from the souvenir value of a gun and it removes the chance of a regrettable accidental discharge and the possibility of theft by gangsters seeking effective weapons with which to ply their trade."

Producer Samuel Goldwyn's declaration to the New York press that Hollywood is starving for new ideas—that it's doomed if it continues to follow the beaten path and slavishly adhere to threadbare plots—was very impressive. But I can't help wondering if the bombastic Mr. Goldwyn wasn't thinking more about publicity than reform. I'll keep wondering that as long as he, personally, refuses to read original scripts submitted to his studios by new writers who might have new ideas and, instead, either turns back such contributions unopened and unread, or hands them to a staff of low-salaried readers who, being smart, would no more dare to recommend anything daringly different than you would dare to go to a formal reception in your unmentionables.

Here's an ironic little story that demonstrates the impossibility of prejudging dramatic ability. Several years ago, a Hollywood high school girl tried to enroll in the famous dramatic school conducted by Madame Maria Ouspenskaya, a veteran who should be able to judge "talent" if anyone can. The girl was rejected as an "impossible." Her name was, and is, Catherine McLeod. She's now working in her second starring role, and is being hailed as one of the greatest finds of recent years. Madame Ouspenskaya played a minor supporting role in Miss McLeod's first picture.

I want to take time out this morning for the deepest of deep bows to a Miss Helen Pueschel of Los Angeles. Without knowing her personally, I've conceived a violent admiration for her—and all on the strength of a photograph which appeared in one of our local newspapers the other day. It showed her standing beside one of the champion Aberdeen - Angus bulls which will be displayed at the Great Western Stock Show, and she wasn't wearing either a bathing suit or shorts!

Trade papers announced the other day that MGM has awarded a starring contract to one Helen Constance, a Rumanian actress, who will have to devote a year or two to study of the English language. Several people who read the item have wondered out loud what MGM will do with a girl who speaks nary a word of our tongue. I think the answer is easy, if the records of the past, where similar cases have arisen, are consulted. They'll undoubtedly cast Miss Constance as a "typical American girl."

OUR CHILDREN

DEMOCRACY IN EDUCATION

There is bitterness in the hearts of many school teachers these days because of the inconsistancy, to give it no worse name, of their leaders and their supervisors. It is the fashion to preach democracy in education. The teachers all over the country attend conferences that are called after the close of the school sessions at a time when teachers are fatigued to the point of exhaustion. The supervisor lectures on democracy, on the program that is to breed a generation of freedom - loving, freedom-practicing children and youth. The idea is set forth in many-syllabled words, many words. The teachers are sent home with the injunction to feel free, to teach freely, to instill the freedom of thought in their pupils. Then what?

Supervisors seem to have affection for quiet, peace, the order that allows neither freedom of movement nor of thought. They are old, tired, weary of the turmoil of childhood and youth and how they love Discipline—the discipline that stills children into statues, into regular lines, rigid as dead fish. They are, many of them, the exceptions are rare, worn out looking for defects in discipline methods, programs, that the liveliness of healthy childhood is agony for them to endure. At least that is how it looks to the teachers who live with lively children every school day.

Take playtime. Children must have exercise so a recess is allowed them for play. Play, say the supervisors, should be the spontaneous activity of children. That's the truth. It should be. But is it? Let children run freely, shout as they will, play as they wish, and you have noise, movement that is flashing and dashing and crashing. You have to be young in mind and spirit to supervise that kind of play. The teacher can take it because he knows it is the correct expression of healthy childhood but can the supervisor? Maybe. Maybe not.

One recess time, just after the children had had a gorgeous time chasing each other in a complicated game of tag, the teacher lined them up to allow them to change their mood from that of wild enthusiasm for action to the calmer attitude of mind that allowed for entrance into the study room. Just then the district supervisor appeared. "Splendid, Mr. Sportter, splendid. For the first time I have seen orderly lines in this yard. I am delighted, delighted."

Now what is the teacher to do? Line up the children for quiet? Or allow them to play as children should play? Allow freedom of movement, initiative in play, so laying, according to the supervisor, the basis of a democratic way of life. Or, after all, you know, teachers look for promotions, and an A from the supervisor might mean a lot. And so might a D.

Teachers want to be well-paid, of course, and they should be. But what they want most, what they need most, is leadership, a leadership that respects the teacher's intelligence and the children's needs. Money is not the answer.

Lying is a habit which seems harmless at its beginning but one that may prove very difficult to break. How to tackle this tough problem is explained by Angelo Patri in his leaflet, "Lying," No. P-15.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Sunday School Lesson For December 8
PAUL ADMONISHES THE CHURCHES
Scripture: I Corinthians 11:20-27; Romans 13:13-14; Ephesians 5:18-21
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The notion that the early Christian Church was composed of pure and perfect Christians is one that is soon dispelled when one reads in the New Testament the epistles that were written to the churches not only by Paul but also by Peter, James, and John.

When one considers how unpopular and how subject to persecution was the new faith, it seems strange that any except the most sincere and unsullied should have joined the Christian group. But Paul's admonition against feeding those who would not work seems to indicate that there were in the early Christian community the sort of "converts" who in our time have been called "rice Christians"—idlers who sought to be parasites upon the abler and more prosperous members.

Paul was determined to check any abuse of the basic Christian principle of mutual love and mutual aid. Side by side with the tenet that Christians should bear one another's burdens, "and so fulfill the law of Christ," he laid down the principle that "every man shall bear his own burden."

The converts to the Christian church were largely Gentiles, many of them former idolators, in cities full of licentiousnesss.

No doubt many of those who were drawn to the Christian way were inherently good souls, averse to their licentious and evil surroundings; but others were converts from evil ways of living. When Paul describes the evil life of those corrupt cities, he says, in writing to the Christians, "and such were some of you."

But the fact that they had been washed of their sins did not prevent lapses into the evils of a tempting environment; and some apparently did not accept, or realize, the true nature of the Christian way. Always there have been those ready to corrupt the purity of Christian faith and practice with their own philosophies of ease and indulgence.

Intoxicating liquor, too, was evidently a source of temptation and disgrace to the first Christians, as it has been at all times. Paul warns against drunkenness, and we may be sure that he would not have given the warning if it had not been needed.

Drink can make a fool of a normally good and well-intentioned man quite as effectually as it can of a weakling or wastrel. But Paul had an antidote for the temptation to the intoxication of liquor; one filled with the Spirit could not yield to such temptation.

The man who had "put on the Lord Jesus" had a strength that could not be easily corrupted. Hence Paul's Epistles are constructive, as well as reproving, in their admonitions. He made the Christian life alluring in its height, its joy, and its glory.

BIBLE THOUGHTS

News Behind The News

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The miners are being quoted in the newspapers as saying they do not know why John Lewis broke their highly favorable contract he extracted by political pressure from a sympathetic government only six months ago. He announced no list of demands for them. But they intend to follow him blindly, they say. This is their individually announced position.

Experts intimate with the problem who can read between the seams, think they know what Lewis is up to. He is front-running for the C. I. O. campaign to increase wages again. Last year, you will recall he missed the same bus. The C. I. O. auto and steel strike ran through the holiday period, but Lewis had a contract with the operators, running until April 1. He did not get in on the C. I. O. campaign but had to follow it, getting his raise at the end of May.

Now C. I. O. has announced it is planning another wage raising campaign and Lewis acted before C. I. O. could get the words out of its mouth. Last year's strike broke the government "hold this line" campaign against inflation. Prices are still rising, but food is due to come down after the first of the year (government economists predicted within 60 days.)

But Lewis planned, my inside informants tell me, to grab another wage increase and get away with it before Congress reassembles in January. Thus he would leave C. I. O. to face the music of congressional anti-strike legislation which is sure to arise.

That explanation is the only one which makes sense.

To combat it, the government is in a somewhat weak position and not doing much to strengthen itself. The inside on that is, the government decided to put its entire case in one basket, a wholly legal basket. Obviously this will not do the job. The problem of the nation is to get coal, but even if the government wins on the line it has chosen, we may not get coal, for the miners say they will follow Lewis not only against the government, but against law, and will promote sympathy strikes if he is judged to have violated the law. That will not produce much coal, or cure the brown-out, or answer the public necessities.

Whether Lewis violated the law is one thing. The nation needs coal. This coal is the primary thing from the consuming public standpoint. Of course Lewis must be tried. If his case goes to the supreme court, months might be spent in deciding his guilt of violation of the Smith-Connally act, although the contempt case could be settled more promptly. Either conclusion may not heat the nation this winter.

As the blindness of the miners in proposing to follow Lewis is a main cause of the coal shortage, you would think the government would at least be in the midst now of a terrific campaign to educate the miners on the facts of inflation, the need for continuing its policies, the prospective brevity of the current food price increases, and so many other facts which expose the economic deficiency of the position Lewis has taken.

The government has said nary a word! No speeches! No statements! No propaganda for itself. Just blind following down the blind alley of legal justice which could better be decided after economic justice is done.

Personally I would think also that the government would have taken many steps by now to give the country coal. The government could do this economic justice if it set upon the task. It might not produce much as a start, but the start even of a trickle could eventually grow into a river. It would then not be impotent to Lewis. Coal mining is not an occupation requiring long skill. Apprenticeship standards differ in the various states, some requiring only days of experience, others months. Indeed about a thousand tons of coal per day are even now being produced in Pennsylvania and there is an anti-Lewis union in Illinois, only one third of which went on strike. Encouragement to expand this production is about the least you might expect. New machinery has been developed for the mining of coal more swiftly and this might be used, although it would take a man about as long to learn how to operate the machine as to wield a pick safely. The government has troops available to protect operations.

Now if this trike is a campaign for another C. I. O. national wage hiking move, so much the more does the government have the duty to protect its economic policy by economic action. Each day it argues in court, the public loses, as long as the strike is still on, and the nation is not getting coal.

But even if Lewis wins a new contract settlement from the government his victory can only be temporary. The contract can only run until the war-powers act is repealed by Congress or six months thereafter. Then the mines are to be turned back to private operation by the government and Lewis will have to negotiate an entirely new contract with the operators who certainly will not give him as good a deal as he got from a politically minded government at the opening of a congressional campaign. In short, you are having all this coal trouble over a contract which cannot last long.

John Eliot's "Indian Bible," published in 1663, is believed to have been the first translation of the entire Bible in a new language as a means of evangelization.

Pitching Horseshoes

By Billy Rose

I wuz robbed.

According to the Bureau of Vital Statistics, I am 47 years of age. That's plain silly. Somewhere along the line somebody picked 20 years out of my pocket. Somebody gave me a fast count.

It was only a couple of years ago I was saving the colored pictures they gave away with Sweet Caporal cigarettes. It was only last year I got my first pair of longies, my first shave, my first kiss. Only a few months ago I sat on a hard bench in a vacant lot up in the Bronx and saw a flickering movie of Mary Pickford in pigtails. It was only last summer I sat in the bleachers and watched Christy Mathewson pitch for the Giants. But my birth certificate says I'm old enough to be my own father. I demand a recount!

Billy Rose

I'm not getting hysterical—just trying to look at it sensibly. Let's jot down the evidence and see what it adds up to: (a) I don't look 47; (b) I don't feel 47; (c) I don't act 47; (d) I don't think 47. My birth certificate says 1899—it must be a typographical error.

I don't claim to be Mickey Rooney, but on the other hand I wasn't around when the Big Dipper was a drinking cup. I refuse to believe I'm through cooking and ready to be basted.

I don't quarrel with my shaving mirror when it tells me my schoolboy complexion has graduated. I don't pretend the bulge around my middle is a life-belt. But outside of a slight knock in the left kneecap, I think I'm in good working order. There are a few wrinkles, but they're laugh wrinkles.

On the tennis court, if my wife hits the ball where I ain't, instead of legging it over and knocking the cover off it, I holler "Good shot!" That doesn't mean my heart is getting tired—it's just getting tender.

After a couple of sets last summer I told Eleanor I felt like a two-year-old.

"Are you talking about a horse or an egg?" she asked.

But then Eleanor is a great one for joshing.

In my set, 30 is a nice age for a woman, especially if she happens to be forty. I'm getting to envy the little deceptions practiced by the gals. Why can't the best ten years of my life be between 29 and 30? I know ingenues in the theatre who got bow-legged backing out of covered wagons. I have as much right to be 27 as they have. One of the things that stops me is the fear of being asked whether I wrote "That Old Gang of Mine" when I was 3.

Suppose I do puff a little when I run after a bus? It doesn't mean my git-up and go has got up and went. Any mechanic will tell you buses go faster these days. Suppose I order a cup of tea instead of a coke? Can't a fellow's tastes get a little more civilized? Suppose I do cry at the movies these days? That doesn't prove I'm getting old—it only means Bette Davis is getting to be a better actress. All right, so I do put on rubbers when it rains. It's not that I worry about getting my feet wet. It's just that shoes are scarce and expensive now.

I threw a cemetery salesman out of my office the other day. He asked if I'd be interested in a family plot. I told him there has been a plot in our family for years and that was to get my kid sister married.

On the level, do I look 47 to you? Don't spare my feelings. I want you to be completely frank. Thanks, pal. I didn't think so. And here's that sawbuck I owe you.

By the way, what ever happened to Sessue Hayakawa?

BRUTALLY BEATEN WOMAN IDENTIFIED

TEXARKANA, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Mrs. C. E. Lay of Pine Bluff has identified a brutally beaten young woman who was found near death yesterday under a highway bridge near Texarkana as her 18-year-old daughter, Mrs. Vera Mae Blasingame.

She identified the victim after learning that her address was found on some Christmas cards in Mrs. Blasingame's purse.

The injured girl, mother of an eight months old baby, last was heard from in Mercedes, Tex., Mrs. Lay told officers.

Miller County (Ark.) Sheriff W. E. Davis said Mrs. Blasingame's estranged husband, who lives in Pine Bluff, and her associates in Mercedes would be questioned in an effort to obtain clues.

Mrs. Blasingame, apparently beaten with a pickax about the head, remained unconscious and in a serious condition at a Texarkana hospital.

Sheriff Davis said the attack was not being linked with the "phantom killer" and the series of five Texarkana murders earlier this year.

OREGON FUGITIVE HUNTED IN ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The police here were searching today for a fugitive from Oregon, Clyde A. Guhr, 27, who Police Captain Fidel Aragon said, is wanted for parole violation.

Aragon said Guhr, arrested here yesterday at a request of Postal Inspector Roy H. Cauley, broke a padlock to his cell during the night by using a piece of pipe as a jimmy.

The prisoner then walked out of the jail.

A woman who resides next to the third police station, where Guhr had been confined, said she encountered a man that fitted his description in her house. She said the man bolted past her and disappeared.

The officer said the prisoner evidently had scaled a wall surrounding the station and dropped into the next door courtyard.

VIEWS ON COTTON WILL BE AIRED

Stabilization Meeting To Be Held Dec. 6 In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Conflicting views between the New Orleans and the New York cotton exchanges on stabilizing the market are expected to be aired at the nation-wide meeting of cotton interests scheduled for Dec. 6 in New Orleans.

The meeting was called about two weeks ago by the New Orleans exchange directors, who said they could not approve the New York plan of "elimination of credits on accepted trade accounts," without first obtaining views of the traders.

Thus the New Orleans exchange invited suggestions from representatives of the cotton exchanges, cotton associations and other trade groups, many of whom have already accepted.

Among those to attend are T. J. White, heading the Memphis cotton exchange delegation, and Frank Knell, president of the New York exchange.

Committees of the New Orleans, New York and Chicago cotton exchanges drew up a plan for stricter margins and other trading regulations, as a result of last month's disturbed market, when cotton dropped an aggregate of more than $50 a bale.

The plan was announced first in New York and was acceptable in the main by New Orleans, including a proposal for creation of a national agency to supervise the activities of all the cotton exchanges, and to conduct surprise audits at the discretion of the independent agency.

But New Orleans traders considered detrimental to Southern trade the New York plan under which accounts must be kept margined to the market on the basis of the daily close.

And Robert E. Craig II, vice-president of the New Orleans exchange, said Southern shippers, millers, manufacturers and spot cotton traders, who handle cotton on the actual basis, were definitely opposed to New York's proposal that credits be limited to $2,500 to traders in cotton futures. The limit now may reach $10,000.

Under the existing rules traders dealing in actual cotton usually seek the protection of hedging against it in the futures market. At present hedge sales can be made to account of cotton owners without requiring any margin until the account shows a debit of $5 a bale.

Sentiment among traders here simmers down to a feeling that any hike in margins would create a less fluid market and prohibit protective hedge buying, thus upsetting trading practices of long standing in the South.

Meantime cotton, now selling at around 30 cents a pound, has regained some of the loss experienced in the October break, and fluctuations have approached normal.

Louisiana Oil And Gas News

5 COMPLETIONS IN OIL FIELDS

Week's Report Issued At Office Of District Manager D. S. Cook

There were five completions and no abandonments reported the past week in the Northeast Louisiana oil and gas fields, as shown on the report from the office of Duncan S. Cook, district manager of the department of Conservation, minerals division, in Monroe.

The completions are as follows:

Richland Parish

American Liberty Oil Co., The Mengel Co., 23, section 34-17-8E. Completed as a gas well of 2,000,000 cubic feet. Total depth 3,140 ft.

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co., Delta Lbr Co., 10, section 12-16-7E. Completed making 111 bbls. through 14/64-inch choke. Perf. 2,760-68. Total depth, 2,976 feet. Gravity 42.

Tidewater Association Oil Co., B. L. Warner No. 3, section 12-16-7E. Completed making 211 bbls. through choke. Perf. 2,788-95. Gravity 40.5.

Burden and Kemp Co., R. L. Ratcliff No. 3, section 7-16-8E. Completed making 299 bbls., through 3/16-inch choke. Perf. 2,850-52. Total depth 3,031. Gravity 44.

Murphy-Sun Oil Co., E. S. Karpe No. 3, section 23-17-9E. Completed making 182 bbls., through 3/16-inch choke. Perf. 3,372-80. Total depth 3,383. Gravity 40.5.

The climate on Easter Island in the Pacific is healthful but the soil's fertility has been destroyed by volcanoes. The only water is found in craters and that is brackish and shell fish are the only obtainable marine food.

SAYS GREECE WILL LODGE COMPLAINT

ATHENS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Premier Constantin Tsaldaris formally notified Soviet Charge D'Affaire Nicolai Chernychev tonight that Greece intended to lodge a complaint with the Security Council, charging "foreign sources" with inspiring and directing disorders and violence in northern Greece.

Tsaldaris, who had requested the Soviet envoy to call at the foreign office, stressed that Greece is eager to maintain friendly relations with all powers and, in lodging the complaint, she hoped no power would regard her action other than as protection of her internal and international security and above all to "preserve peace" in the Balkans.

Tsaldaris saw United States Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh and the French and British ambassadors yesterday. So far he has not seen the Yugoslav charge d'affaires, and there is no indication such a meeting is scheduled.

ARMY IS READY TO GIVE OUT 2 MEDALS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The war department announced today it is ready to distribute the "army of occupation of Germany" medal—for the occupation which ended 23 years ago—and the "Women's Army Corps service" medal.

The occupation award is for service in Germany or Austria-Hungary between November 12, 1918, and July 11, 1923. Its face carries a profile of Gen. John J. Pershing and its reverse an eagle. It hangs from a black silk ribbon bordered with white, red and blue stripes.

The face of the WAC medal bears a head of Pallas Athene and the reverse a scroll, surrounded by 13 stars, carrying the words "for service in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps." Its ribbon is a green band between old gold stripes.

It is for service in both the original WAAC and in the WAC which succeeded it, between July 20, 1942, and September 2, 1945.

Persons entitled to the medals may get them by applying to the adjutant general, Washington, and enclosing a certified or photostatic copy of their discharge certificates.

Deafened Now Hear With Tiny Single Unit

Science has now made it possible for the deafened to hear faint sounds. It is a hearing device so small that it fits in the hand and enables thousands to enjoy sermons, music, and friendly companionship. Accepted by the Council on Physical Medicine of the American Medical Association. This device does not require separate battery pack, battery wire, case or garment to bulge or weigh you down. The tone is clear and powerful. So made that you can adjust it yourself to suit your hearing as your hearing changes. The makers of Beltone, Dept. 6124, 1450 W. 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill., are so proud of their achievement that they will gladly send free descriptive booklet and explain how you may get a full demonstration of this remarkable hearing device in your own home without risking a penny. EMBASSY AMAZED BY E. ROOSEVELT

Holds View It Was Not Involved In Heated Discussions In Moscow

MOSCOW, Nov. 30.—(AP)—United States embassy officials expressed amazement today when informed that Elliott Roosevelt had stated the embassy was involved in a heated discussion he had with some American correspondents at a recent unofficial reception here.

The embassy officials took the position that the embassy was involved in no way whatever.

The discussion in question took place at the U. S. office of international information and cultural affairs, where Manning Williams, assistant director of OIICA, and his wife entertained Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt and others.

When I talked to the Roosevelts on Thanksgiving Day about the original reports published in New York—that he had made public utterances here criticizing the American foreign policy—they were of the opinion the story had been sent out by a correspondent.

Assured that this had not been the case, the Roosevelts concluded that the U. S. embassy had reported the incident in routine fashion, and that it had leaked out or had been given out by someone in the state department.

At that time, Roosevelt said he felt perhaps he should bring the matter to the attention of the embassy here, and ask if published reports in the United States were a result of a state department message.

After thinking the matter over, Roosevelt said he was forgetting it for the time being, and did not want to make any public accusation, but that he might have something to say, as well as write, about the incident when he returned to the United States.

I had Thanksgiving dinner with him that night, and he still seemed to think what he called an erroneous report of an off-the-record discussion might have gotten out through some correspondent.

He was so impressed with the idea that a correspondent might have sent out the story that he asked me if it would have been possible for a correspondent to have telephoned the story to the United States.

I told him I had been assured that no correspondent had sent or telephoned a story to the United States.

His conclusion then—and from then on—was that the story must have come through a leak in the state department. He added that the story must have given but one side of the original discussion.

U. S. Ambassador W. Bedell Smith was not at the OIICA party. However, several embassy secretaries and their wives were present, and the Roosevelts said some of the wives took part in the discussion.

U. S. AND CHINA INITIAL AIR PACT

NANKING, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Representatives of the United States and China today initialed the draft of an agreement providing for establishment and development of scheduled air services between the two countries.

The agreement, conforming with the Chicago civil aviation conference resolution of 1944, provides that the United States shall have the right of transit and non-traffic stops in Chinese territory and the right to pick up and discharge international passengers, mail and cargo in Shanghai, Tientsin and Canton.

Chinese airlines are accorded similar rights in the United States, with Honolulu, San Francisco and New York as pickup and discharge points.

Three routes are provided: the northern Pacific traversing Canada, Alaska, the Aleutians, the Kuriles, Japan and Korea; the mid-Pacific via Hawaii, Wake, Guam and the Philippines; and the Atlantic via Europe, North Africa, the Middle East, India, Burma and Indo-China.

It was announced that Northwest Airlines, Pan-American Airways, and Trans-World Airlines of the United States, and China National Aviation Corp., and the Central Air Transport Corp., of China were designated by their respective governments to fly the routes. Both the Chinese lines are government-controlled.

The agreement was negotiated by Bolling Powell, special representative of the state department, who will return to Washington shortly.

JERUSALEM POLICE STATION ATTACKED

JERUSALEM, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The police station in the Mahaneh Yehudah quarter was attacked tonight by small arms fire and grenades, but the attack was beaten off, an official announcement said.

At about the same time heavy explosions shook the center of the city. Officials said unexploded mines had been found and were being disposed of.

The attack on the police station lasted 30 minutes, with gunfire coming from rooftops and windows of neighboring houses.

There was additional gunfire near the central post office, and the shooting continued for an hour or more. Rifled troops and Bren gun carriers moved through the city.

To this correspondent, who has been in Jerusalem 13 years, the shooting seemed the most intense he ever had heard.

BOY'S CHRISTMAS WILL COME EARLY

GREENVILLE, Miss., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Christmas will come early this year for a gallant little Greenville boy. It has to, for Kendrick Rayburn is suffering from an incurable malady and cannot wait for the traditional holiday.

For a while it seemed that Santa would not come at all, a hard thing for a 12-year-old dreaming of a tree and presents to understand. His father, D. B. Rayburn, is suffering from a serious heart ailment, and Christmas was only a wistful yearning for the child, his mother, his five brothers and sisters.

However, a story in the Greenville Delta Democrat Times revealing his plight, resulted in Greenvillians opening their hearts and pocket books in an effort to make Kendrick's last Christmas the happiest one yet. The child does not know how ill he is. He only knows he won't celebrate on the usual day.

Friday he was moved into a private room large enough for him and the glittering Christmas tree given by a local citizen. A delightfully mysterious box of gaily wrapped packages and toys is waiting for Santa to come deliver them, and continuing cash donations assure presents for all the members of the family.

VIEWS ON COTTON WILL BE AIRED

Stabilization Meeting To Be Held Dec. 6 In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Conflicting views between the New Orleans and the New York cotton exchanges on stabilizing the market are expected to be aired at the nation-wide meeting of cotton interests scheduled for Dec. 6 in New Orleans.

The meeting was called about two weeks ago by the New Orleans exchange directors, who said they could not approve the New York plan of "elimination of credits on accepted trade accounts," without first obtaining views of the traders.

Thus the New Orleans exchange invited suggestions from representatives of the cotton exchanges, cotton associations and other trade groups, many of whom have already accepted.

Among those to attend are T. J. White, heading the Memphis cotton exchange delegation, and Frank Knell, president of the New York exchange.

Committees of the New Orleans, New York and Chicago cotton exchanges drew up a plan for stricter margins and other trading regulations, as a result of last month's disturbed market, when cotton dropped an aggregate of more than $50 a bale.

The plan was announced first in New York and was acceptable in the main by New Orleans, including a proposal for creation of a national agency to supervise the activities of all the cotton exchanges, and to conduct surprise audits at the discretion of the independent agency.

But New Orleans traders considered detrimental to Southern trade the New York plan under which accounts must be kept margined to the market on the basis of the daily close.

And Robert E. Craig II, vice-president of the New Orleans exchange, said Southern shippers, millers, manufacturers and spot cotton traders, who handle cotton on the actual basis, were definitely opposed to New York's proposal that credits be limited to $2,500 to traders in cotton futures. The limit now may reach $10,000.

Under the existing rules traders dealing in actual cotton usually seek the protection of hedging against it in the futures market. At present hedge sales can be made to account of cotton owners without requiring any margin until the account shows a debit of $5 a bale.

Sentiment among traders here simmers down to a feeling that any hike in margins would create a less fluid market and prohibit protective hedge buying, thus upsetting trading practices of long standing in the South.

Meantime cotton, now selling at around 30 cents a pound, has regained some of the loss experienced in the October break, and fluctuations have approached normal.

5 COMPLETIONS IN OIL FIELDS

Week's Report Issued At Office Of District Manager D. S. Cook

There were five completions and no abandonments reported the past week in the Northeast Louisiana oil and gas fields, as shown on the report from the office of Duncan S. Cook, district manager of the department of Conservation, minerals division, in Monroe.

The completions are as follows:

Richland Parish

American Liberty Oil Co., The Mengel Co., 23, section 34-17-8E. Completed as a gas well of 2,000,000 cubic feet. Total depth 3,140 ft.

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co., Delta Lbr Co., 10, section 12-16-7E. Completed making 111 bbls. through 14/64-inch choke. Perf. 2,760-68. Total depth, 2,976 feet. Gravity 42.

Tidewater Association Oil Co., B. L. Warner No. 3, section 12-16-7E. Completed making 211 bbls. through choke. Perf. 2,788-95. Gravity 40.5.

SAYS GREECE WILL LODGE COMPLAINT

ATHENS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Premier Constantin Tsaldaris formally notified Soviet Charge D'Affaire Nicolai Chernychev tonight that Greece intended to lodge a complaint with the Security Council, charging "foreign sources" with inspiring and directing disorders and violence in northern Greece.

Tsaldaris, who had requested the Soviet envoy to call at the foreign office, stressed that Greece is eager to maintain friendly relations with all powers and, in lodging the complaint, she hoped no power would regard her action other than as protection of her internal and international security and above all to "preserve peace" in the Balkans.

Tsaldaris saw United States Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh and the French and British ambassadors yesterday. So far he has not seen the Yugoslav charge d'affaires, and there is no indication such a meeting is scheduled.

ARMY IS READY TO GIVE OUT 2 MEDALS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The war department announced today it is ready to distribute the "army of occupation of Germany" medal—for the occupation which ended 23 years ago—and the "Women's Army Corps service" medal.

The occupation award is for service in Germany or Austria-Hungary between November 12, 1918, and July 11, 1923. Its face carries a profile of Gen. John J. Pershing and its reverse an eagle. It hangs from a black silk ribbon bordered with white, red and blue stripes.

The face of the WAC medal bears a head of Pallas Athene and the reverse a scroll, surrounded by 13 stars, carrying the words "for service in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps." Its ribbon is a green band between old gold stripes.

It is for service in both the original WAAC and in the WAC which succeeded it, between July 20, 1942, and September 2, 1945.

Persons entitled to the medals may get them by applying to the adjutant general, Washington, and enclosing a certified or photostatic copy of their discharge certificates.

EMBASSY AMAZED BY E. ROOSEVELT

Holds View It Was Not Involved In Heated Discussions In Moscow

MOSCOW, Nov. 30.—(AP)—United States embassy officials expressed amazement today when informed that Elliott Roosevelt had stated the embassy was involved in a heated discussion he had with some American correspondents at a recent unofficial reception here.

The embassy officials took the position that the embassy was involved in no way whatever.

The discussion in question took place at the U. S. office of international information and cultural affairs, where Manning Williams, assistant director of OIICA, and his wife entertained Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt and others.

When I talked to the Roosevelts on Thanksgiving Day about the original reports published in New York—that he had made public utterances here criticizing the American foreign policy—they were of the opinion the story had been sent out by a correspondent.

Assured that this had not been the case, the Roosevelts concluded that the U. S. embassy had reported the incident in routine fashion, and that it had leaked out or had been given out by someone in the state department.

At that time, Roosevelt said he felt perhaps he should bring the matter to the attention of the embassy here, and ask if published reports in the United States were a result of a state department message.

After thinking the matter over, Roosevelt said he was forgetting it for the time being, and did not want to make any public accusation, but that he might have something to say, as well as write, about the incident when he returned to the United States.

I had Thanksgiving dinner with him that night, and he still seemed to think what he called an erroneous report of an off-the-record discussion might have gotten out through some correspondent.

He was so impressed with the idea that a correspondent might have sent out the story that he asked me if it would have been possible for a correspondent to have telephoned the story to the United States.

I told him I had been assured that no correspondent had sent or telephoned a story to the United States.

His conclusion then—and from then on—was that the story must have come through a leak in the state department. He added that the story must have given but one side of the original discussion.

U. S. Ambassador W. Bedell Smith was not at the OIICA party. However, several embassy secretaries and their wives were present, and the Roosevelts said some of the wives took part in the discussion.

U. S. AND CHINA INITIAL AIR PACT

NANKING, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Representatives of the United States and China today initialed the draft of an agreement providing for establishment and development of scheduled air services between the two countries.

The agreement, conforming with the Chicago civil aviation conference resolution of 1944, provides that the United States shall have the right of transit and non-traffic stops in Chinese territory and the right to pick up and discharge international passengers, mail and cargo in Shanghai, Tientsin and Canton.

Chinese airlines are accorded similar rights in the United States, with Honolulu, San Francisco and New York as pickup and discharge points.

Three routes are provided: the northern Pacific traversing Canada, Alaska, the Aleutians, the Kuriles, Japan and Korea; the mid-Pacific via Hawaii, Wake, Guam and the Philippines; and the Atlantic via Europe, North Africa, the Middle East, India, Burma and Indo-China.

It was announced that Northwest Airlines, Pan-American Airways, and Trans-World Airlines of the United States, and China National Aviation Corp., and the Central Air Transport Corp., of China were designated by their respective governments to fly the routes. Both the Chinese lines are government-controlled.

The agreement was negotiated by Bolling Powell, special representative of the state department, who will return to Washington shortly.

JERUSALEM POLICE STATION ATTACKED

JERUSALEM, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The police station in the Mahaneh Yehudah quarter was attacked tonight by small arms fire and grenades, but the attack was beaten off, an official announcement said.

At about the same time heavy explosions shook the center of the city. Officials said unexploded mines had been found and were being disposed of.

The attack on the police station lasted 30 minutes, with gunfire coming from rooftops and windows of neighboring houses.

There was additional gunfire near the central post office, and the shooting continued for an hour or more. Rifled troops and Bren gun carriers moved through the city.

To this correspondent, who has been in Jerusalem 13 years, the shooting seemed the most intense he ever had heard.

BOY'S CHRISTMAS WILL COME EARLY

GREENVILLE, Miss., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Christmas will come early this year for a gallant little Greenville boy. It has to, for Kendrick Rayburn is suffering from an incurable malady and cannot wait for the traditional holiday.

For a while it seemed that Santa would not come at all, a hard thing for a 12-year-old dreaming of a tree and presents to understand. His father, D. B. Rayburn, is suffering from a serious heart ailment, and Christmas was only a wistful yearning for the child, his mother, his five brothers and sisters.

However, a story in the Greenville Delta Democrat Times revealing his plight, resulted in Greenvillians opening their hearts and pocket books in an effort to make Kendrick's last Christmas the happiest one yet. The child does not know how ill he is. He only knows he won't celebrate on the usual day.

Friday he was moved into a private room large enough for him and the glittering Christmas tree given by a local citizen. A delightfully mysterious box of gaily wrapped packages and toys is waiting for Santa to come deliver them, and continuing cash donations assure presents for all the members of the family.

ALIEN VETS TO FACE DEADLINE

December 31 Time When Second War Power Act Expires

December 31, 1946, is the deadline for veterans to gain citizenship easily, Holcomb C. White, contact representative for the Veterans Administration, pointed out this week in giving veterans a calendar of future benefit dates.

Alien veterans who served in the United States armed forces after September 1, 1939, must apply for "easy" citizenship before December 31 when the Second War Power Act expires, Mr. White explained. He advised them to apply at the office of the clerk, United States District Court, Post Office Building, Monroe, or at the office of the clerk of the Ouachita Parish Court.

The second deadline affects these veterans who have let their G. I. term insurance lapse. They may reinstate this insurance on or before February 1, 1947, without a physical examination by signing a statement that their health is as good as when their policies lapsed and by paying premiums for only two months.

Deadlines for several other benefits will be set automatically when the president or Congress officially declares World War II ended, White pointed out.

They are:

Loans—Home, farm and business loans may be guaranteed or insured by VA up to 10 years after the end of the war.

Education--Education or job-training may be started up to 4 years after the end of the war and completed within 9 years.

Rehabilitation — Disabled veterans eligible for education or training under Public Law 16 face no entry deadline, but they must complete their training by nine years after the end of the war.

Readjustment Allowances—Veterans are eligible for unemployment or self-employment allowances for 2 years after their discharge or after the end of the war, whichever is later, with an over-all limitation of five years after the termination of hostilities.

While there is no time limit for making application for disability pension, there is a limitation on appeals An appeal from the decision of a rating board must be filed within one year from the date of notification of the decision.

UNION PARISH'S FARMERS TO VOTE

MARION, La., Nov. 30—(Special)—Next Tuesday, December 3, the farmers of Union parish will go to the polls and in each of the communities listed below will elect three committeemen and two alternates to serve on the AAA committee of Union parish for the ensuing year. Polls open at 8 a.m. and close at 5 p.m.

Elections will be held as follows:

Ward 1, at Farmerville and Salem Church; Ward 2, at Marion and Linville; Ward 3, at Cherry Ridge, at Spearsville and at Canaan; Ward 4, at Union gin and at Bernice; Ward 5, at Mt. Ararat and at Point; Ward 6, at Truxno and at Laran; Ward 7, at Cross Roads; Ward 8, at Haile; Ward 9, at Sardis Church; and Ward 10, at Lillie.

J. W. Brantley, of Farmervile, is parish chairman of the AAA committee.

Backache Whipped By Man and Wife

The following letter from a well-known Massachusetts housewife is typical of those received from Cystex users all over the world: "I was so laid up with pains in my back, legs and arms that I was miserable. Finally I decided to try your Cystex. In a couple of weeks I was like a new person, the pains had left and I could walk anywhere. My husband had pains in his arms, took Cystex and the pains left." Trial Offer: To prove what Cystex may do to bring you joyous help from the pains and distress due to above mentioned Kidney and Bladder troubles, get Cystex from your druggist and give it a fair trial exactly according to the simple directions. Unless completely satisfied and delighted with your rapid improvement, your money back is guaranteed. So don't suffer another day without trying Cystex.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Russia's insistence yesterday on retaining the veto over any arms control plan gives rise to serious wonder whether the earlier display of sudden Soviet collaboration with the western Allies is what it seems to be—the approach of real peace—or is just another cast of "on again, off again Finnegan."

One's natural inclination is to cheer over any concession, having watched international relations deteriorate to a point where the danger of war could be seen. Still, while the present developments on the whole seem encouraging, we shall do well to reserve the main celebration until we are sure what is in the offing.

The current about-face, barring the veto problem, has been so sudden and seemingly complete as to be staggering—almost too good to be true. There is, for instance, that all-important agreement on the Trieste regime after months of bitter wrangling. That is a key which can unlock the door to the main objective of the peacemakers—a treaty with Germany, upon which must be built the rehabilitation of Europe.

Then the big four council of foreign ministers has, amazing to relate, made progress in resolving the quarrel over free navigation of the Danube river. The vast waterway is of great military - political - economic significance not only to central and eastern Europe but to the continent as a whole. The western Allies have been fighting for wide open navigation, while the Muscovites up to now have opposed it.

Equally astonishing was the Soviet's agreement to international inspections in the field of arms and atomic bombs —until the veto question came up again.

A far-reaching change in Russian policy toward Germany seems to be in the making. There have been persistent reports that the Soviet occupation authorities have decided to form state governments similar to those established in the American zone, with powers divided between federal and state administrations. Heretofore the Russians have been adamant in their insistence on a strong central government and have rejected the American plan for a federal state.

So it goes, and the ensemble looks so good at the moment that it really seems a pity not to accept it at face value fourthwith. However, we have seen so many violent ups-and-downs in the relations of Moscow and the western Allies that we must wait and see. And that's not a one-sided viewpoint, for Eddy Gilmore, A. P. chief of bureau in Moscow, reports that the Russian people, convinced that the Soviet Union is making important concessions at the United Nations and foreign ministers meetings in New York, are beginning to ask when the United States will start doing the same thing.

Probably the citizens of the Soviet capital also are thinking, as is your columnist, that the statesmen of most all countries sometimes resort to strategy not unlike that employed by generals in war. I refer to the practice of creating a diversion on one front in order to distract enemy attention from the real point of attack.

In any event, we may expect that Russia will expect a quid pro quo for concessions. What reciprocity will they want? Well, there's that highly important question of increased Soviet rights in the Dardaneles which have been a matter of stubborn argument. And don't overlook that Greek Premier Tsaldaris is scheduled to fly to New York, presumably to lay before the United Nations the charge that Greece is being invaded by leftists from Russian dominated Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria. Those are but two of numerous situations in which Russia undoubtedly feels she would like, if not the support, at least the neutrality of the western Allies.

RELEASED ON BOND

ALEXANDRIA, La., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Alvin Miller, driver of a truck which yesterday killed a 5-year-old boy here, was released from the parish jail today under $1,500 bond, Sheriff Grady Kelley said. Miller was charged with negligent homicide for the death of J. C. Damico, who, officers said, was struck when he darted from behind a second truck to the street in front of his home.

PROPOSE ANNUAL PAY GUARANTEES

Government Study Holds It Would Help Stabilize Economy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (P)—A government study held today that a guaranteed annual wage for workers can help stabilize the economy and point the way to enduring prosperity.

The findings were contained in an interim report made public by Murray W. Latimer, former chairman of the National Railroad Retirement Board and director of the study, which was made at White House direction.

Many industrialists have opposed the wage guarantee idea on the ground they would lose a great deal of money if required to continue paying wages for as long as a year to workers they had to lay off.

Latimer's report held that even in most seasonal industries, wage guarantees can be granted without increasing costs to employers by more than six percent if coordinated with the existing system of state unemployment compensation.

The report urged that the federal and state governments take steps—by broadening present unemployment compensation benefits and extending special tax exemptions—to encourage more widespread acceptance of the guaranteed wage plan.

"The study has recognized that the guaranteed wage system is not a panacea for the insecurity of our economic system, that it cannot in and of itself eliminate the fluctuations in the economic system," the report said.

"On the other hand, it is quite clear that widespread wage guarantees can make a substantial contribution to the stabilization of the economy through the stabilization of wage earner income and hence of consumer expenditures."

The report recognized that other factors must be considered "beyond the immediate expenditures for consumer goods of the recipients of guaranteed wages." It disclosed that a companion survey—as to the plan's "over-all economic influence"—is being completed.

This phase of the study is being done by Professors Alvin H. Hansen of Harvard, former economic adviser to the Federal Reserve board, and Paul A. Samuelson of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

In connection with Latimer's study, the C. I. O. reiterated today that Latimer had been ordered by the office of war mobilization and reconversion to wind up his work in a hurry, by December 31. The C. I. O., which has long been encouraging the government study, said in it's weekly newspaper that O. W. M. R.'s action would cause the study to be abandoned before "certain vital aspects" are satisfactorily completed.

Latimer told a reporter he had "received no such orders" and the study group still has sufficient funds remaining from its $250,000 allocation to "run for several months additional."

The report said that reserves in the state unemployment compensation funds are large enough to warrant increasing the benefits a jobless worker may receive, both as to amount and duration of payments. It suggested $25 to $30 a week for 26 to 30 weeks.

But even these increased rates, the report said, would leave "ample room for voluntary supplementation of benefits" by guaranteed wage plans initiated by private business.

The report noted that at present employes out of work who receive guaranteed wage payments are ineligible for unemployment compensation payments.

Among the report's recommendations were these:

1. That the government urge the states to allow workers covered under guaranteed wage plans to receive unemployment compensation.

2. That employers paying out guaranteed wage benefits be allowed to calculate the unemployment compensation payments are part of their wage guarantees.

3. That Congress amend the tax laws to allow firms to accumulate tax-free trust funds against future costs of guaranteed wage plans.

Present tax laws provide some exemption to the wage guaranteeing employer, the report said, explaining that "for every extra dollar currently paid out in wages under a guarantee, a company with a taxable income of $50,000 or over has its tax reduced by 38 cents."

The report noted that at least 196 guaranteed wage plans were in operation in early 1946 and said the majority of them pledge payment of full pay for a year. Besides affording "security for the worker," it added, the plans achieve economies for employers because of "improved labor relations" resulting in "a higher rate of productivity."

The study was an outgrowth of a case before the former War Labor Board in which the C. I. O. Steelworkers Union asked for a guaranteed wage plan. The WLB turned the union down but recommended that the late President Roosevelt have a study made of the whole idea.

Roosevelt named Eric Johnston, then president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and now president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, as head of a committee to handle the study. Johnston designated Latimer and Arthur S. Meyer, chairman of the New York State Mediation Board, to do the work.

that therefore the government cannot support the claim of interference with its "sovereign functions."

Second, that Lewis was not obliged to take his new demands to the wage stabilization board because the government itself did not use the board; that therefore U. M. W. was justified in terminating its contract to gain its ends.

The private operators whom the government displaced after last spring's 59-day strike still stand all losses and reap all profits, if any, from the government operation, the union will contend. The owners also make good all claims, pay taxes and stand suits, the union will argue, and in effect are still running their properties.

These developments occurred on the outskirts of the court controversy:

1. The Virginia State Corporation Commission, it was reported, may go ahead with its scheduled hearing Monday against Lewis regardless of whether he or his counsel shows up. The hearing is to determine whether Lewis should be barred from selling U. M. W. "memberships" in Virginia because the union has not registered with the commission. U. M. W.'s benefits to members, the complaint contends, amount to securities which should be registered.

2. The interior department reported that conferences already have started between federal agencies and companies which propose to pump natural gas to the east through the big and little inch pipelines during the coal emergency.

3. New proposals for legislation to promote labor peace are expected from a three-day conference of state labor commissioners and union leaders which will start Monday. At the capitol, a check showed strong support for President Truman in his finish fight with Lewis from both Democrats and Republicans.

these five powers could veto any proposed inspection of its territory or any control measures the council might seek to apply.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, acting chief British delegate and British attorney general, held the close attention of the committee as he answered that feature in today's meeting.

"We will be no parties to a scheme which gives any power veto over the way in which regulation, control or inspection should be carried out," he said. "A scheme subject to such hazards would be a fraud, a delusion and a snare. Do not let us foist this humbug on the world."

The Russian delegate, Andrei A. Vishinsky, deputy foreign minister, made no reply.

Canada's delegate, L. D. Wilgress, ambassador to Moscow, said that the powers of the inspection commission proposed by Russia "will be insufficient" if the veto applied.

"The permanent international commission of control established under an international disarmament treaty (as envisaged by a Canadian resolution) would have freedom of access to inspect anywhere in any state, in order to satisfy itself and satisfy the whole world that no war preparations are taking place," Wilgress said.

Shawcross agreed with other delegates that the atomic weapons must be outlawed but he said that should be part of the general plan.

"The Soviet says that the primary object is to be the prohibition of the production and use of atomic energy for military purposes," Shawcross said. "Now I am all in favor of that being done as part and parcel of a general scheme of reduction of armaments. But I do not understand how of all people the Soviet government can suggest that rockets, bacteriological warfare, other instruments of mass destruction are not at once to be abolished, that vast armies with enormous quantities of long range artillery can be maintained but the atom bomb must be prohibited, not merely as a weapon against civilians, but against the vast armies, the cannon, the rocket launching sites. Obviously these things must all go—and I mean go—together."

Warning the U. N. that control of the atomic bomb cannot be effective unless the veto is eliminated, Parodi said that "it seems evident that control cannot be control if one who is holding control can by his own initiative evade it. He suggested it might be possible to find a formula for special agreement to place the atomic issue outside the veto.

H. V. Wellington Koo, chief delegate of China, reminded the committee that his country already had proposed giving up the veto on atomic matters if the other veto nations would do likewise. He also came out for "an effective system of international control and inspection to protect complying states against the hazards of evasions and violations."

LOSS IN DALLAS

began crumbling from the basement ceiling.

A fireman staggered out and collapsed on the street, gasping for air.

"Like a blast furnace down there," he said.

Three times Chief Williams went into the basement. At length he emerged, coughing and ill and unable to continue his work.

Even before firemen were called the lighting equipment had failed throughout the building and for the first hour they worked in smoky darkness. Lavish Christmas decorations gleamed ghostily in the rays of their flashlights. The smoke pall drifted upward to fine gowns and especially-bred furs on higher floors.

It was the second fire in Neiman Marcus history. In 1912 a blaze destroyed the store at a previous location.

At 1 a. m. portable generators were set up outside the entrances to feed spotlights which were carried into the interior. Holes were chopped in the ground floor, lines dumped thousands of gallons of water into the basement. On the lower level, firemen wearing gas masks slithered along on their stomachs, directing operations. Finally, the water level in the basement reached knee-depth in some places.

Crowds in the street watched smoke billow from windows and the roof. Ambulances waited among the big red trucks. Rubber-coated firemen hurried grimly on every floor, frequently emerging from the structure to fill their lungs with fresh air. At one time a dozen fire fighters were flat on the sidewalks, getting their second wind.

Owens was carried out unconscious on a canvas stretcher by seven comrades.

For the past few days the store, loaded with Christmas stocks, has experienced one of its heaviest selling seasons in history.

"This fire," said Ross, "happened at the worst possible time."

year plugged steadily ahead, each year exceeding its predecessor in the volume of business transacted, and now with the ending days of 1946 almost here, President Travis Oliver assures that never in 41 years, in which he has been associated with the bank, has it had a year as successful as the current one. It now ranks as an institution with a capital structure of a million dollars. * * * Vice-President John M Breard is proud of his banking affiliation with this institution which extends over a period of 37 years. This year, through pressure of business, he had to miss, for the first time in years, the annual meeting of the Louisiana Crippled Children's association in New Orleans, held yesterday and today. * * *

Today members of the stately Grace Episcopal church will assemble to do honor to their rector, Rev. Edward Farren Hayward, who has just completed 25 years of outstanding success as its leader. The Rt. Rev. John Jackson, Bishop of Louisiana, will deliver the anniversary sermon. Tomorrow night, not only church members but the public of the Twin Cities, will gather at Hotel Frances to pay their respects to this veteran rector in a public reception.

Rev. Hayward took up his rectorship under cloudy skies financially, with barely any funds available and in addition the old-time church was burned. With indomitable spirit and a super-spiritual urge, he has led his flock forward. Today it owns and has paid in full for the most beautiful church edifice in Monroe, reminiscent of the Tudor-Gothic era, valued at $130,000, and the church's spiritual life has been commensurate with temporal success. The general public will pay tribute to a leader who today holds an enviable record, unequalled by any other Monroe pastor, of having guided his flock through the vicissitudes of a quarter of a century.

A committee of three members, appointed by the Central Trades and Labor Council, told The World Saturday that the council did not pass a resolution at their meeting Friday night concerning the current coal strike or mentioning John L. Lewis, but if they had, it would have been contrary to the views of Walter Veach which were published in these columns several days ago.

der to bring electricity to 15,000,000 Mexicans, three-fourths of the population.

In industrial development the immediate emphasis is on heavy industry to convert ores and petroleum at home, improvement of mining, building of new refineries and pipelines for the state-owned petroleum industry, modernizing of textile plants, encouraging of industrial chemical production and stimulating the meat packing industry.

While private enterprise is expected to shoulder most of the industrialization costs the government will present congress with probably the largest budget in history to cover a public works program more ambitious than any yet conceived in Mexico.

Mexicans say it cannot be financed without negotiation of a huge foreign loan and believe steps have been taken in the United States to float one.

Financial prospects are complicated by the government's plan to do away with sweeping tariffs on exports and imports which have provided the principal source of government income. New domestic industries will be under a protective tariff. No plan has been put forward as yet for raising the necessary money needed to compensate for the loss in tariff revenues.

Aleman, a mild, smiling man, has been in politics for 16 years, starting as a legal expert in the agricultural department. He is married and has two children, Beatriz, 13, and Miguel, 11, who attended school in San Antonio, Tex., last year.

Aleman is a break in the tradition of rule by military men since the days of Cortes, the Spanish conqueror. When Mexico finally began the march toward democracy with the revolution of 36 years ago, it proved to be a road damp with blood. But the election of Aleman, who is far to the right of the Socialism of Lazaro Cardenas, predecessor of Avila Camacho, was definitely peaceful.

ful year enjoyed by his bank as the one that is now ending.

At a special meeting of stockholders on November 5, last, the stockholders by unanimous vote of 92.2 of the outstanding stock present at the meeting, voted to declare a stock dividend of 33 and one-third per cent to stockholders of record, thereby increasing the capital stock to $500,000, represented by 5,000 shares of $100 par value and also transferred from undivided profits an additional $100,000 to surplus, making the surplus $500,000. This gives effect to a capital structure of a million dollars.

With this newly-expanded financial structure President Oliver anticipates a greatly broadened future for the bank.

The increased volume of business of this institution will require added facilities and as soon as building material is available the building immediately east of the banking house will be remodeled and added to the floor space of the present bank, Mr. Oliver said.

Italy, told the court "I have lost this fight, and now I make a special demand on behalf of von Mackensen: No clemency.

"The slogan of every officer who loses his honor is: When honor is lost everything is lost. You could not save him from dishonor. Grant him the clean death of a soldier—death through shooting."

Gen. Keller said "we cannot agree that this verdict is a right one," and complained that "you British officers are not able to understand us German officers entirely."

He acknowledged the "fairness" of the trial, but added "I could not fight entirely in the way I might have wished. British procedure is different and I am a prisoner of war. My freedom of movement is limited and therefore I could not put forward all the evidence I could have had I been a free man."

Col. Wolfgang Christ, who defended Maeltzer, said, "I cannot believe the court found him a bloodthirsty murderer * * * he is the victim of the misfortune of the chain of command."

C. L. Sterling, bewigged judge advocate of the tribunal announced that both the verdict and sentence were subject to confirmation by "higher military authority," in this case Lt. Gen. John Harding, commander of British forces in the Mediterranean theater. Presumably carrying out of the sentence will not occur until confirmation of the sentence takes place.

Earlier in the final summation to the five-man military court Sterling evoked a final, stark vision of the massacre in the caves, near the Appian Way and now a scene of an annual pilgrimage on the anniversary of the slayings:

"Fourteen-year-old boys, old men, 335 persons with their hands tied behind their backs, with no time to make peace with their Maker, with no time to say goodbye to their relatives and friends, no time to settle their affairs, were led five at a time into the caves, were made to kneel down and the life was shot out of them.

"That is a picture which might well call for retribution."

'WIFE-HUNTING' BY VETS SCARES GIRLS

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Veterans, you are scaring the girls with your "wife-hunting" approach.

Dr. Herbert D. Lamson, Boston University expert on courtship, said in an interview the girls are complaining that the boys are "too serious" too soon.

"They feel," he added, "the boys are bent on wife-finding in a hurry to make up for lost time."

Dr. Lamson, however, derides the old adage that marriage and studies don't mix.

"I very definitely feel that veterans in college who are older and more mature can mix marriage and studies without lowering their grades," he said.

"Marriage affords them more stability. When students have known each other for a long time and have the consent of their parents, I see no reason why marriage should be postponed."

He warns, however, that a wife can break her student-husband if she demands too much social life, and attributes the large number of postwar divorces to unsound marriages during a period of emotional tension.

"Men coming home from war, rushed into marriage with girls they did not know too well," he said, "or they did not allow themselves enough time with their former girl friends for mutual rediscovery of each other.

"Forgetting that everyone changes, they were in a hurry to settle down, and as a result were far less critical than they would have been in normal times."

CONFESSES SETTING FIRES IN MISSOURI

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the state highway patrol, announced today that Elopus Walker, 46-year-old Kansas City Negro, had admitted setting all of the incendiary fires which had terrorized north central Missouri.

He said Walker was making "a full statement" admitting all of the fires and robberies which had spread $250,000 worth of destruction in 10 towns since September 8.

"Articles in his possession definitely tie him up with the fire and he is making statements to officers now at Chillicothe," Colonel Waggoner said.

Walker was arrested while hitch-hiking north of Chillicothe. No charge has been filed.

Walker's arrest followed by 24 hours the latest of the series of fires, those at Laredo, in Grundy county, Friday. Three business houses, a church and a vacant house were destroyed with a loss estimated at $75,000.

State highway patrol officers at Chillicothe said the first fire was at Corder in Lafayette county on Sept. 8. Those which followed were at Wakenda Sept. 28; Brunswick Nov. 5, Gilliam Nov. 13, Brunswick Nov. 14, Higbee Nov. 15, Higginsville Nov. 17, Mayview Nov. 21 and Laredo Nov. 29.

SOFT COAL

Monday, and said further layoffs would be necessary unless the coal situation improves.

The Indiana state chamber of commerce said the Thanksgiving holiday had saved sufficient coal there to forestall the widespread shut downs which had been anticipated next week.

Meanwhile, cost of the strike ran into untold millions. The Illinois Manufacturers' Association estimated industrial production in the state will drop from $150,000,000 to $120,000,000 if the coal stoppage lasts another week. Such a decrease in production will mean a loss in wages of $10,000,000 for next week. Usual wages total $50,000,000 weekly for Illinois industrial workers.

More and more schools were closing because of lack of heat for the classrooms. Youngstown, Ohio, schools will not open Monday and eight schools in Goshen, Ind., planned to shut down "late next week."

Many miners in Kentucky, Pennsylvania and West Virginia yesterday collected their last full pay until they return to the pits although some West Virginia miners have one more pay coming in two weeks—for about four working days in the half month between Nov. 15 and the time of the walkout.

PROPOSE ANNUAL PAY GUARANTEES

Government Study Holds It Would Help Stabilize Economy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A government study held today that a guaranteed annual wage for workers can help stabilize the economy and point the way to enduring prosperity.

The findings were contained in an interim report made public by Murray W. Latimer, former chairman of the National Railroad Retirement Board and director of the study, which was made at White House direction.

Many industrialists have opposed the wage guarantee idea on the ground they would lose a great deal of money if required to continue paying wages for as long as a year to workers they had to lay off.

Latimer's report held that even in most seasonal industries, wage guarantees can be granted without increasing costs to employers by more than six percent if coordinated with the existing system of state unemployment compensation.

The report urged that the federal and state governments take steps—by broadening present unemployment compensation benefits and extending special tax exemptions—to encourage more widespread acceptance of the guaranteed wage plan.

"The study has recognized that the guaranteed wage system is not a panacea for the insecurity of our economic system, that it cannot in and of itself eliminate the fluctuations in the economic system," the report said.

"On the other hand, it is quite clear that widespread wage guarantees can make a substantial contribution to the stabilization of the economy through the stabilization of wage earner income and hence of consumer expenditures."

The report recognized that other factors must be considered "beyond the immediate expenditures for consumer goods of the recipients of guaranteed wages." It disclosed that a companion survey—as to the plan's "over-all economic influence"—is being completed.

This phase of the study is being done by Professors Alvin H. Hansen of Harvard, former economic adviser to the Federal Reserve board, and Paul A. Samuelson of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

In connection with Latimer's study, the C. I. O. reiterated today that Latimer had been ordered by the office of war mobilization and reconversion to wind up his work in a hurry, by December 31. The C. I. O., which has long been encouraging the government study, said in its weekly newspaper that O. W. N. R.'s action would cause the study to be abandoned before "certain vital aspects" are satisfactorily completed.

Latimer told a reporter he had "received no such orders" and the study group still has sufficient funds remaining from its $250,000 allocation to "run for several months additional."

The report said that reserves in the state unemployment compensation funds are large enough to warrant increasing the benefits a jobless worker may receive, both as to amount and duration of payments. It suggested $25 to $30 a week for 26 to 30 weeks.

But even these increased rates, the report said, would leave "ample room for voluntary supplementation of benefits" by guaranteed wage plans initiated by private business.

The report noted that at present employes out of work who receive guaranteed wage payments are ineligible for unemployment compensation payments.

Among the report's recommendations were these:

1. That the government urge the states to allow workers covered under guaranteed wage plans to receive unemployment compensation.

2. That employers paying out guaranteed wage benefits be allowed to calculate the unemployment compensation payments are part of their wage guarantees.

3. That Congress amend the tax laws to allow firms to accumulate tax-free trust funds against future costs of guaranteed wage plans.

Present tax laws provide some exemption to the wage guaranteeing employer, the report said, explaining that "for every extra dollar currently paid out in wages under a guarantee, a company with a taxable income of $50,000 or over has its tax reduced by 38 cents."

The report noted that at least 196 guaranteed wage plans were in operation in early 1946 and said the majority of them pledge payment of full pay for a year. Besides affording "security for the worker," it added, the plans achieve economies for employers because of "improved labor relations" resulting in "a higher rate of productivity."

The study was an outgrowth of a case before the former War Labor Board in which the C. I. O. Steelworkers Union asked for a guaranteed wage plan. The WLB turned the union down but recommended that the late President Roosevelt have a study made of the whole idea.

Roosevelt named Eric Johnston, then president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and now president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, as head of a committee to handle the study. Johnston designated Latimer and Arthur S. Meyer, chairman of the New York State Mediation Board, to do the work.

"Dear Good Fellows: I am a woman with 5 little children and my husband is old and out of work. I have 2 boys, ages 8 and 13 and 3 girls, ages 11, 5 and 15 months. We would like anything you can bring. My husband needs a sweater and some pants, size 44. I need sweater and dress, size 46. The children also need clothes."

"Dear Good Fellows: I am an old lady, most 86 years old. I need help badly. Wont you bring me something for Xmas? If you dont help me I wont have any Xmas at all. I lived by myself till my son came back from war and his wife took me in to live with them, but he doesnt make much money so I will appreciate anything you bring me for help.

"I dont get but a small check and have to pay most of it for medicine and doctor's bills. I sure will appreciate any help."

"Dear Good Fellows: I am writing to ask that you not forget us Christmas. I am on the welfare and am 56 years old and have a girl 16 in high school. I am just getting over a serious operation and in addition have a sprained ankle. Please bring me a sweater and anything you can give as we are depending on you for our Christmas dinner. Will appreciate anything you may bring. May the Lord bless you in the good work you are doing."

"Dear Good Fellows: I was reading in the paper where it said about helping people at Xmas and I sure would appreciate it if you can help me by bringing my baby some clothes and us a little something to eat. My baby is going on 3 years old.

"Dear Good Fellows: I am writing you to ask you to please not forget a poor old crippled lady who is 84. She has an apartment and lives alone. Anything you can give will be most acceptable. She needs clothes and food very badly.

"A FRIEND."

that therefore the government cannot support the claim of interference with its "sovereign functions."

Second, that Lewis was not obliged to take his new demands to the wage stabilization board because the government itself did not use the board; that therefore U. M. W. was justified in terminating its contract to gain its ends.

The private operators whom the government displaced after last spring's 59-day strike still stand all losses and reap all profits, if any, from the government operation, the union will contend. The owners also make good all claims, pay taxes and stand suits, the union will argue, and in effect are still running their properties.

These developments occurred on the outskirts of the court controversy:

1. The Virginia State Corporation Commission, it was reported, may go ahead with its scheduled hearing Monday against Lewis regardless of whether he or his counsel shows up. The hearing is to determine whether Lewis should be barred from selling U. M. W. "memberships" in Virginia because the union has not registered with the commission. U. M. W.'s benefits to members, the complaint contends, amount to securities which should be registered.

2. The interior department reported that conferences already have started between federal agencies and companies which propose to pump natural gas to the east through the big and little inch pipelines during the coal emergency.

3. New proposals for legislation to promote labor peace are expected from a three-day conference of state labor commissioners and union leaders which will start Monday. At the capitol, a check showed strong support for President Truman in his finish fight with Lewis from both Democrats and Republicans.

"The occasion is favorable now as it has never been. I have only one fear and that is that Chamberlain or such another dirty swine comes to me with propositions or a change of mind. He will be thrown downstairs, and even if I must personally kick him in the belly before the eyes of all the photographers.

these five powers could veto any proposed inspection of its territory or any control measures the council might seek to apply.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, acting chief British delegate and British attorney general, held the close attention of the committee as he answered that feature in today's meeting.

"We will be no parties to a scheme which gives any power veto over the way in which regulation, control or inspection should be carried out," he said. "A scheme subject to such hazards would be a fraud, a delusion and a snare. Do not let us foist this humbug on the world."

The Russian delegate, Andrei A. Vishinsky, deputy foreign minister, made no reply.

Canada's delegate, L. D. Wilgress, ambassador to Moscow, said that the powers of the inspection commission proposed by Russia "will be insufficient" if the veto applied.

"The permanent international commission of control established under an international disarmament treaty (as envisaged by a Canadian resolution) would have freedom of access to inspect anywhere in any state, in order to satisfy itself and satisfy the whole world that no war preparations are taking place," Wilgress said.

Shawcross agreed with other delegates that the atomic weapons must be outlawed but he said that should be part of the general plan.

"The Soviet says that the primary object is to be the prohibition of the production and use of atomic energy for military purposes," Shawcross said. "Now I am all in favor of that being done as part and parcel of a general scheme of reduction of armaments. But I do not understand how of all people the Soviet government can suggest that rockets, bacteriological warfare, other instruments of mass destruction are not at once to be abolished, that vast armies with enormous quantities of long range artillery can be maintained but the atom bomb must be prohibited, not merely as a weapon against civilians, but against the vast armies, the cannon, the rocket launching sites. Obviously these things must all go—and I mean go—together."

Warning the U. N. that control of the atomic bomb cannot be effective unless the veto is eliminated, Parodi said that "it seems evident that control cannot be control if one who is holding control can by his own initiative evade it. He suggested it might be possible to find a formula for special agreement to place the atomic issue outside the veto.

H. V. Wellington Koo, chief delegate of China, reminded the committee that his country already had proposed giving up the veto on atomic matters if the other veto nations would do likewise. He also came out for "an effective system of international control and inspection to protect complying states against the hazards of evasions and violations."

LOSS IN DALLAS

began crumbling from the basement ceiling.

A fireman staggered out and collapsed on the street, gasping for air.

"Like a blast furnace down there," he said.

Three times Chief Williams went into the basement. At length he emerged, coughing and ill and unable to continue his work.

Even before firemen were called the lighting equipment had failed throughout the building and for the first hour they worked in smoky darkness. Lavish Christmas decorations gleamed ghostily in the rays of their flashlights. The smoke pall drifted upward to fine gowns and especially-bred furs on higher floors.

It was the second fire in Neiman Marcus history. In 1912 a blaze destroyed the store at a previous location.

At 1 a. m. portable generators were set up outside the entrances to feed spotlights which were carried into the interior. Holes were chopped in the ground floor, lines dumped thousands of gallons of water into the basement. On the lower level, firemen wearing gas masks slithered along on their stomachs, directing operations. Finally, the water level in the basement reached knee-depth in some places.

Crowds in the street watched smoke billow from windows and the roof. Ambulances waited among the big red trucks. Rubber-coated firemen hurried grimly on every floor, frequently emerging from the structure to fill their lungs with fresh air. At one time a dozen fire fighters were flat on the sidewalks, getting their second wind.

Owens was carried out unconscious on a canvas stretcher by seven comrades.

For the past few days the store, loaded with Christmas stocks, has experienced one of its heaviest selling seasons in history.

"This fire," said Ross, "happened at the worst possible time."

year plugged steadily ahead, each year exceeding its predecessor in the volume of business transacted, and now with the ending days of 1946 almost here, President Travis Oliver assures that never in 41 years, in which he has been associated with the bank, has it had a year as successful as the current one. It now ranks as an institution with a capital structure of a million dollars. * * * Vice-President John M. Breard is proud of his banking affiliation with this institution which extends over a period of 37 years. This year, through pressure of business, he had to miss, for the first time in years, the annual meeting of the Louisiana Crippled Children's association in New Orleans, held yesterday and today. * * *

Today members of the stately Grace Episcopal church will assemble to do honor to their rector, Rev. Edward Farren Hayward, who has just completed 25 years of outstanding success as its leader. The Rt. Rev. John Jackson, Bishop of Louisiana, will deliver the anniversary sermon. Tomorrow night, not only church members but the public of the Twin Cities, will gather at Hotel Frances to pay their respects to this veteran rector in a public reception.

Rev. Hayward took up his rectorship under cloudy skies financially, with barely any funds available and in addition the old-time church was burned. With indomitable spirit and a super-spiritual urge, he has led his flock forward. Today it owns and has paid in full for the most beautiful church edifice in Monroe, reminiscent of the Tudor-Gothic era, valued at $130,000, and the church's spiritual life has been commensurate with temporal success. The general public will pay tribute to a leader who today holds an enviable record, unequalled by any other Monroe pastor, of having guided his flock through the vicissitudes of a quarter of a century.

A committee of three members, appointed by the Central Trades and Labor Council, told The World Saturday that the council did not pass a resolution at their meeting Friday night concerning the current coal strike or mentioning John L. Lewis, but if they had, it would have been contrary to the views of Walter Veach which were published in these columns several days ago.

MEXICO

der to bring electricity to 15,000,000 Mexicans, three-fourths of the population.

In industrial development the immediate emphasis is on heavy industry to convert ores and petroleum at home, improvement of mining, building of new refineries and pipelines for the state-owned petroleum industry, modernizing of textile plants, encouraging of industrial chemical production and stimulating the meat packing industry.

While private enterprise is expected to shoulder most of the industrialization costs the government will present congress with probably the largest budget in history to cover a public works program more ambitious than any yet conceived in Mexico.

Mexicans say it cannot be financed without negotiation of a huge foreign loan and believe steps have been taken in the United States to float one.

Financial prospects are complicated by the government's plan to do away with sweeping tariffs on exports and imports which have provided the principal source of government income. New domestic industries will be under a protective tariff. No plan has been put forward as yet for raising the necessary money needed to compensate for the loss in tariff revenues.

Aleman, a mild, smiling man, has been in politics for 16 years, starting as a legal expert in the agricultural department. He is married and has two children, Beatriz, 13, and Miguel, 11, who attended school in San Antonio, Tex., last year.

Aleman is a break in the tradition of rule by military men since the days of Cortes, the Spanish conqueror. When Mexico finally began the march toward democracy with the revolution of 36 years ago, it proved to be a road damp with blood. But the election of Aleman, who is far to the right of the Socialism of Lazaro Cardenas, predecessor of Avila Camacho, was definitely peaceful.

The official count in Mexico's first secret ballot was 1,786,901 votes for Aleman and 443,357 for his nearest rival, Ezequiel Padilla.

BANKING

ful year enjoyed by his bank as the one that is now ending.

At a special meeting of stockholders on November 5, last, the stockholders by unanimous vote of 92.2 of the outstanding stock present at the meeting, voted to declare a stock dividend of 33 and one-third per cent to stockholders of record, thereby increasing the capital stock to $500,000, represented by 5,000 shares of $100 par value and also transferred from undivided profits an additional $100,000 to surplus, making the surplus $500,000. This gives effect to a capital structure of a million dollars.

With this newly-expanded financial structure President Oliver anticipates a greatly broadened future for the bank.

The increased volume of business of this institution will require added facilities and as soon as building material is available the building immediately east of the banking house will be remodeled and added to the floor space of the present bank, Mr. Oliver said.

2 NAZI

Italy, told the court "I have lost this fight, and now I make a special demand on behalf of von Mackensen: No clemency.

"The slogan of every officer who loses his honor is: When honor is lost everything is lost. You could not save him from dishonor. Grant him the clean death of a soldier—death through shooting."

Gen. Keller said "we cannot agree that this verdict is a right one," and complained that "you British officers are not able to understand us German officers entirely."

He acknowledged the "fairness" of the trial, but added "I could not fight entirely in the way I might have wished. British procedure is different and I am a prisoner of war. My freedom of movement is limited and therefore I could not put forward all the evidence I could have had I been a free man."

Col. Wolfgang Christ, who defended Maeltzer, said, "I cannot believe the court found him a bloodthirsty murderer * * * he is the victim of the misfortune of the chain of command."

C. L. Sterling, bewigged judge advocate of the tribunal, announced that both the verdict and sentence were subject to confirmation by "higher military authority," in this case Lt. Gen. John Harding, commander of British forces in the Mediterranean theater. Presumably carrying out of the sentence will not occur until confirmation of the sentence takes place.

Earlier in the final summation to the five-man military court Sterling evoked a final, stark vision of the massacre in the caves, near the Appian Way and now a scene of an annual pilgrimage on the anniversary of the slayings:

"Fourteen-year-old boys, old men, 335 persons with their hands tied behind their backs, with no time to make peace with their Maker, with no time to say goodbye to their relatives and friends, no time to settle their affairs, were led five at a time into the caves, were made to kneel down and the life was shot out of them.

"That is a picture which might well call for retribution."

'WIFE-HUNTING' BY VETS SCARES GIRLS

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Veterans, you are scaring the girls with your "wife-hunting" approach.

Dr. Herbert D. Lamson, Boston University expert on courtship, said in an interview the girls are complaining that the boys are "too serious" too soon.

"They feel," he added, "the boys are bent on wife-finding in a hurry to make up for lost time."

Dr. Lamson, however, derides the old adage that marriage and studies don't mix.

"I very definitely feel that veterans in college who are older and more mature can mix marriage and studies without lowering their grades," he said.

"Marriage affords them more stability. When students have known each other for a long time and have the consent of their parents, I see no reason why marriage should be postponed."

He warns, however, that a wife can break her student-husband if she demands too much social life, and attributes the large number of postwar divorces to unsound marriages during a period of emotional tension.

"Men coming home from war, rushed into marriage with girls they did not know too well," he said, "or they did not allow themselves enough time with their former girl friends for mutual rediscovery of each other.

"Forgetting that everyone changes, they were in a hurry to settle down, and as a result were far less critical than they would have been in normal times."

CONFESSES SETTING FIRES IN MISSOURI

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the state highway patrol, announced today that Elopus Walker, 46-year-old Kansas City Negro, had admitted setting all of the incendiary fires which had terrorized north central Missouri.

He said Walker was making "a full statement" admitting all of the fires and robberies which had spread $250,000 worth of destruction in 10 towns since September 8.

"Articles in his possession definitely tie him up with the fire and he is making statements to officers now at Chillicothe," Colonel Waggoner said.

Walker was arrested while hitchhiking north of Chillicothe. No charge has been filed.

Walker's arrest followed by 24 hours the latest of the series of fires, those at Laredo, in Grundy county, Friday. Three business houses, a church and a vacant house were destroyed with a loss estimated at $75,000.

State highway patrol officers at Chillicothe said the first fire was at Corder in Lafayette county on Sept. 8. Those which followed were at Wakenda Sept. 28; Brunswick Nov. 5, Gilliam Nov. 13, Brunswick Nov. 14, Higbee Nov. 15, Higginsville Nov. 17, Mayview Nov. 21 and Laredo Nov. 29.

SOFT COAL

Monday, and said further layoffs would be necessary unless the coal situation improves.

The Indiana state chamber of commerce said the Thanksgiving holiday had saved sufficient coal there to forestall the widespread shut downs which had been anticipated next week.

Meanwhile, cost of the strike ran into untold millions. The Illinois Manufacturers' Association estimated industrial production in the state will drop from $150,000,000 to $120,000,000 if the coal stoppage lasts another week. Such a decrease in production will mean a loss in wages of $10,000,000 for next week. Usual wages total $50,000,000 weekly for Illinois industrial workers.

More and more schools were closing because of lack of heat for the classrooms. Youngstown, Ohio, schools will not open Monday and eight schools in Goshen, Ind., planned to shut down "late next week."

Many miners in Kentucky, Pennsylvania and West Virginia yesterday collected their last full pay until they return to the pits although some West Virginia miners have one more pay coming in two weeks—for about four working days in the half month between Nov. 15 and the time of the walkout.

CELEBRATE 75TH MARRIAGE YEAR

One Son Is Too Old To Attend Couple's Diamond Wedding

JENA, La., Nov. 30.—(AP)—"Uncle Jase" and "Aunt Bianca" Doughty observed their diamond wedding anniversary today, but their oldest son, who lives in Yantis, Texas, wasn't able to attend the celebration.

"The boy" says he is "getting too old to travel." He's only 73. So Uncle Jase "reckoned" he would "have to go over there and see him as soon as I get my fall garden planted."

Although Uncle Jase is 94 years old—the same age as Aunt Bianca—his age doesn't keep him from getting around just as he used to, taking his daily stroll into town to get his newspaper and mail, "talking with the boys," or even riding his pony up until a few weeks ago when he sold the horse.

Seven other sons and daughters range in age down to 49 years.

The Doughtys were 19 years old when they were married. The 75 years of married life have been happy ones.

"I wouldn't mind doing it over again," Uncle Jase mused, "if I could marry the same woman. But I wouldn't marry any of the young, modern girls," he added.

"I don't know how Mama has put up with me all these years," he continued, "but I guess it's because Mama keeps me so busy I never get caught up any more."

Uncle Jase wishes he was back on the farm cultivating the crops and tending the stock because his age seems no handicap to him. He attributes the fact that he has reached 94 to a simple formula:

"Hard work and plenty to eat, eat regular and sleep regular," is his prescription for those who want to enjoy their advanced years.

There are five generations of the family living, and the old couple are proud of their six great great grandchildren. Uncle Jase and Aunt Bianca had 14 children, eight of whom are still living, including the oldest and youngest son and oldest and youngest daughter.

There were more than 100 grand and great grandchildren living when last counted a year ago, but there is no telling how many there are now, Uncle Jase said.

ACCUSES FORTUNE TELLER OF THEFT

Charged With Taking $600 And Number Of Valuable Articles

Mrs. H. H. Lindsley, Bastrop, La., swore out a warrant Friday for the arrest of Mrs. Jack Smith, alias Madame Benes, palmist, Highway 80, George W. Lester, district attorney, said Saturday.

Madame Benes is charged with the theft of $600 in cash, one engagement ring and one wedding ring, valued at $200, one electric fan, valued at $50, a .38 Spanish pistol, valued at $25, and one electric roaster, valued at $13.

Mrs. Lindsley stated that she and her husband were moving to Morton, Miss., and she went to Madame Benes Wednesday for "pastime." She told Madame Benes that she had the $600 in her purse, and the other articles were in her automobile. Madame Benes told Mrs. Lindsley to leave the money and other articles with her, and she could come for them anytime. Mrs. Lindsley left the money and articles with Madame Benes, with the understanding that she would get them Friday. In the meantime Madame Benes left town with the money and stolen articles, it was stated.

Mrs. Lindsley told District Attorney Lester that Madame Benes was about 35 years old, with long blonde hair, and that she was driving a 1941 or 1942 Cadillac, four-door sedan, Louisiana license No. 337-994.

Boley's Notebook

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—This may get Paul Holt shot as a traitor in Piccadilly Circus at high noon when he returns to his native England, but he said in front of three witnesses that America "is the most civilized country in the world."

Not only that but Paul, who is a highly intellectual citizen of the British Commonwealth and one of its best known journalists, said further: "And I like America. It's a wonderful place."

Well, if this isn't heresy from a foreigner, it is certainly a fresh note from a new bugle. So for a change let's hear from somebody abroad who looked over the United States, found it grand and is willing to say so.

Holt is a slim small sensitive man of 40 with prematurely white hair and the face of a wise child. He is a reformed war correspondent who now writes a weekly column for the London Daily Express, which has the world's largest daily circulation. He also does the film reviews.

He came here a few weeks ago for the first time since 1937. One of his assignments was to assess the present stage of anti-British feeling in America, and this is his report:

"I didn't find any."

Holt rates the United States tops in civilization because "it's a twenty-four-hour-a-day country. You can work, eat, drink, loaf or play any time in the day or night. There is always something doing."

"It is the most vigorous place in the world—vigorous and violent. It is so exciting to find people roaring their hearts out for something they want. They haven't given their individuality to a government to run as nearly every other people have. Here they demand things and still grasp for them as individuals."

Holt doesn't see America as a land of money grubbers.

"As a matter of fact you have lost your faith in the dollar," he said, "and you'll have to find faith in something new.

"I think that a little song I heard in a night club—'There Isn't Any Money in Money Any More'—is the themesong of America now.

A few more Holtisms:

"There seems to be a tradition in the American schools now that a girl should try to make herself look as slack and unsexy as she can.

"The American boy is tough and masculine. That is good. The American girl—before she goes to school—is already a little mother, extra-feminine, more so even than little French girls. That is wonderful. But you don't follow through. The middle-aged man loses his toughness, and the middle-aged woman loses her femininity to a surprising degree.

"What Hollywood needs is a good five-cent recession. They have no idea out there that their pictures are getting worse. Someday somebody will give such a gigantic yawn that it will break Hollywood apart.

"America has the greatest sense of international decency of any country, but you don't know how to use your power to achieve it."

Both Holt and his wife, Estelle, said they found Americans in all sections they visited to be inquiring, intelligent, sympathetic of foreign suffering and want and anxious to learn other people's points of view.

American taxi drivers and elevator attendants impressed Mrs. Holt as "wonderful — the most fascinating, gentle, charming, wise and intelligent group I've ever met."

BIDS ON FERRY SERVICE

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Alfred M. Moncla of Moncla submitted the low bid—$8,880—for furnishing free ferry service across the Red river at Moncla in Avoyelles parish, the state highway department announced today. The department recently awarded a contract for reconstruction of the bridge across the river at that point. The earlier bridge was destroyed by flood several years ago. Unsuccessful bidders included Steven W. Clark, Jr., of Marksville, Elzie D. Clark of Effie and W. J. Wise of Marksville.

NAT'L GUARD IS BEING FORMED

Local Unit Activated; More Enlistees Can Still Enroll

The new National Guard, headquarters company, third battalion, 199th infantry regiment, is now activated, states Fred Beckett, officer in charge, and an inspection will be held for recognition on December 15.

A meeting was held at the city hall, court room, last Monday for enlistment and tomorrow at 8 p.m. also in the city hall, a second opportunity to enlist will be available. It is desired to have many more enlistees who are required in order to bring the unit up to the minimum strength that is required.

Enlisted men are asked to bring their statements of past service.

The National Guard will drill once weekly for a period of two hours and also attend a 15-day summer training camp.

A bill has been introduced into Congress providing for retirement allowances of National Guard officers and men which has not passed but has a reasonable chance to pass later on.

The rates of pay are of interest. Master sergeants receive, per drill, $5.50 or $346 annually. Technical sergeants receive, $4.50 a drill, or $283.50 annually. Staff sergeant (Tec 3) gets $3.83 a drill or $241.29 annually. Sergeant (Tec 4) gets $3.33 per drill or $209.79 annually. Corporal (Tec 5) gets $3 per drill or $189 annually. Private first class gets $2.66 per drill or $167.58 annually, and a private receives $2.50 a drill or $157.40 annually.

SHREVEPORT D. A. R. MEMBER SUCCUMBS

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Mrs. V. L. Fulton, 75, a pioneer member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, died here today. She was a lifelong resident of Shreveport and was widely known in church and charitable circles.

Mrs. Fulton had been confined to her home for the past ten years, because of an accident.

Survivors include three sons, T. I. Fulton, A. L. Fulton and W. F. Fulton, all of Houston, Texas. Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon.

BOY IS INJURED BY DYNAMITE CAP

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Nine-year-old Marlin Bickham of Starks, La., made the mistake of touching a lighted match to a dynamite cap that one of his playmates had found in a vacant field.

The contraption exploded, injuring his left eye seriously and damaging two fingers. In the hospital here today, the youth said he accepted bad advice.

"Someone said to light it," he said, "and I did. There was a mighty loud noise—louder than fire crackers."

TENSAS PARISH TO HONOR NEGRO HERO

NATCHEZ, Miss., Nov. 30.—(AP)—A Negro hero will be honored by citizens of Tensas parish, Louisiana, at public ceremonies to be held on the courthouse lawn at St. Joseph, the parish seat, Sunday December 1. He is Tom Gordon.

Several months ago, William David Clarke, the white employer of the old Negro was trapped in a pit where a butane gas tank had exploded. Gordon leaped into the burning pit and although suffering terrible burns himself, lifted the body of young Clarke out and only climbed out himself when Clarke was beyond the reach of flames. Clarke was rushed to a hospital at Ferriday, La., where he lived for a few days before death ended his suffering.

A leading Tensas parish citizens group has presented the name of Gordon to the Carnegie Foundation with the recommendation that he be awarded a Carnegie hero medal.

In addition to the tributes voiced at the public ceremonies Sunday it is reported that Gordon will be presented with over a thousand dollars and given the assurance that his comfort and welfare will be provided for as long as he lives.

CELEBRATE 75TH MARRIAGE YEAR

One Son Is Too Old To Attend Couple's Diamond Wedding

JENA, La., Nov. 30.—(AP)—"Uncle Jase" and "Aunt Bianca" Doughty observed their diamond wedding anniversary today, but their oldest son, who lives in Yantis, Texas, wasn't able to attend the celebration.

"The boy" says he is "getting too old to travel." He's only 73. So Uncle Jase "reckoned" he would "have to go over there and see him as soon as I get my fall garden planted."

Although Uncle Jase is 94 years old —the same age as Aunt Bianca—his age doesn't keep him from getting around just as he used to, taking his daily stroll into town to get his newspaper and mail, "talking with the boys," or even riding his pony up until a few weeks ago when he sold the horse.

Seven other sons and daughters range in age down to 49 years.

The Doughtys were 19 years old when they were married. The 75 years of married life have been happy ones.

"I wouldn't mind doing it over again," Uncle Jase mused, "if I could marry the same woman. But I wouldn't marry any of the young, modern girls," he added.

"I don't know how Mama has put up with me all these years," he continued, "but I guess it's because Mama keeps me so busy I never get caught up any more."

Uncle Jase wishes he was back on the farm cultivating the crops and tending the stock because his age seems no handicap to him. He attributes the fact that he has reached 94 to a simple formula:

"Hard work and plenty to eat, eat regular and sleep regular," is his prescription for those who want to enjoy their advanced years.

There are five generations of the family living, and the old couple are proud of their six great great grandchildren. Uncle Jase and Aunt Bianca had 14 children, eight of whom are still living, including the oldest and youngest son and oldest and youngest daughter.

There were more than 100 grand and great grandchildren living when last counted a year ago, but there is no telling how many there are now, Uncle Jase said.

ACCUSES FORTUNE TELLER OF THEFT

Charged With Taking $600 And Number Of Valuable Articles

Mrs. H. H. Lindsley, Bastrop, La., swore out a warrant Friday for the arrest of Mrs. Jack Smith, alias Madame Benes, palmist, Highway 80, George W. Lester, district attorney, said Saturday.

Madame Benes is charged with the theft of $600 in cash, one engagement ring and one wedding ring, valued at $200, one electric fan, valued at $50, a .38 Spanish pistol, valued at $25, and one electric roaster, valued at $13.

Mrs. Lindsley stated that she and her husband were moving to Morton, Miss., and she went to Madame Benes Wednesday for "pastime." She told Madame Benes that she had the $600 in her purse, and the other articles were in her automobile. Madame Benes told Mrs. Lindsley to leave the money and other articles with her, and she could come for them anytime. Mrs. Lindsley left the money and articles with Madame Benes, with the understanding that she would get them Friday. In the meantime Madame Benes left town with the money and stolen articles, it was stated.

Mrs. Lindsley told District Attorney Lester that Madame Benes was about 35 years old, with long blonde hair, and that she was driving a 1941 or 1942 Cadillac, four-door sedan, Louisiana license No. 337-994.

Boley's Notebook

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—This may get Paul Holt shot as a traitor in Piccadilly Circus at high noon when he returns to his native England, but he said in front of three witnesses that America "is the most civilized country in the world."

Not only that but Paul, who is a highly intellectual citizen of the British Commonwealth and one of its best known journalists, said further: "And I like America. It's a wonderful place."

Well, if this isn't heresy from a foreigner, it is certainly a fresh note from a new bugle. So for a change let's hear from somebody abroad who looked over the United States, found it grand and is willing to say so.

Holt is a slim small sensitive man of 40 with prematurely white hair and the face of a wise child. He is a reformed war correspondent who now writes a weekly column for the London Daily Express, which has the world's largest daily circulation. He also does the film reviews.

He came here a few weeks ago for the first time since 1937. One of his assignments was to assess the present stage of anti-British feeling in America, and this is his report:

"I didn't find any."

Holt rates the United States tops in civilization because "it's a twenty-four-hour-a-day country. You can work, eat, drink, loaf or play any time in the day or night. There is always something doing."

"It is the most vigorous place in the world—vigorous and violent. It is so exciting to find people roaring their hearts out for something they want. They haven't given their individuality to a government to run as nearly every other people have. Here they demand things and still grasp for them as individuals."

Holt doesn't see America as a land of money grubbers.

"As a matter of fact you have lost your faith in the dollar," he said, "and you'll have to find faith in something new.

"I think that a little song I heard in a night club—'There Isn't Any Money in Money Any More'—is the themesong of America now.

A few more Holtisms:

"There seems to be a tradition in the American schools now that a girl should try to make herself look as slack and unsexy as she can.

"The American boy is tough and masculine. That is good. The American girl—before she goes to school —is already a little mother, extra-feminine, more so even than little French girls. That is wonderful. But you don't follow through. The middle-aged man loses his toughness, and the middle-aged woman loses her femininity to a surprising degree.

"What Hollywood needs is a good five-cent recession. They have no idea out there that their pictures are getting worse. Someday somebody will give such a gigantic yawn that it will break Hollywood apart.

"America has the greatest sense of international decency of any country, but you don't know how to use your power to achieve it."

Both Holt and his wife, Estelle, said they found Americans in all sections they visited to be inquiring, intelligent, sympathetic of foreign suffering and want and anxious to learn other people's points of view.

American taxi drivers and elevator attendants impressed Mrs. Holt as "wonderful — the most fascinating, gentle, charming, wise and intelligent group I've ever met."

GEORGIA, NORTH CAROLINA IN SUGAR BOWL

Underdog Navy Holds Mighty Army To 21-18 Triumph

BATTLE WILL PIT TRIPPI'S POWER AGAINST JUSTICE

High-Riding Bulldogs Undefeated, Untied; Tar Heels Once Beaten

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Georgia's unbeaten, untied Bulldogs will meet North Carolina's Southern Conference champions in the 13th annual Sugar Bowl football game here on Jan. 1.

Officials of the Mid-Winter Sports Association announced the pairings late today after some long-distance telephoning which followed Georgia's 35-7 thumping of Georgia Tech and the Carolina Tar Heels' 49 to 14 victory over Virginia.

The match had been freely predicted as the most likely Sugar Bowl combination if both teams won their games today.

The game will feature a duel between two of the country's most spectacular tailbacks — Georgia's triple-threat All-America candidate Charlie Trippi and North Carolina's 160-pound Freshman Charlie Justice.

Georgia's Bulldogs' rated No. 3 behind Army and Notre Dame in last week's Associated Press poll of college football teams, is the country's only unbeaten, untied college eleven besides U. C. L. A.

Some critics have pointed to soft spots in their schedule, but today's manhandling of Georgia Tech's powerful Engineers should be proof of excellence.

Georgia has scored at least four touchdowns in every game, except for the 14-0 victory over Alabama. In last week's tabulations the Bulldogs were second in the country in total offensive yardage, averaging 389.7 per game, and in passing effectiveness completing 93 out of 183 for an average of 174.4.

Their season included one-sided victories over Clemson, Temple, Kentucky, Oklahoma A. and M., Furman, Florida, Auburn and Chattanooga.

North Carolina's Tar Heels are champions of the Southern Conference, with a season's record of eight victories, one tie and one defeat.

The only loss was 20-14 to the Tennessee Vols—and this was somewhat discounted by a victory over Wake Forest, which had beaten Tennessee Virginia Tech tied the Carolinians in their season opener, 14 to 14.

In other games Carolina beat Miami, Maryland, Navy, Florida, William and Mary, Duke and Virginia.

The team showed clear superiority over every opponent except Tennessee. The game with the Vols could have gone either way.

Chief spectator interest in the Tar Heels is centered in Charlie "Choo-choo" Justice 22-year-old, 160-pound freshman from Asheville, N. C. Justice is a breakaway runner with a ball-carrying average of seven yards per trip. He's accomplished half a dozen sprints of 65 yards or more, including a 74-yard touchdown scamper against Tennessee's expert defense.

Coach Carl Snavely has said Justice is the most dependable kicker he's ever tutored, and Choochoo found a good passing arm in late season games.

The Tar Heels have some big linemen to balance Justice's lack of heft. Outstanding among the forwards are Ted Hazelwood, 224-pound tackle, and Chan Highsmith, 215-pound center. Harry Varney, though somewhat lighter at 180, is a power at guard.

This will be the first bowl game for a North Carolina football team.

LEAD RAMS INTO PLAYOFF BATTLE

CO-LIN, HOLMES TO PLAY CHARITY FOOTBALL GAME

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Nov 30.—(AP)—Copiah-Lincoln Junior College of Wesson and Holmes Junior College of Goodman will meet here Friday night, Dec. 13, in a post-season football game sponsored by the Hattiesburg Lions Club, it was announced today by Elwyn Ward, chairman of the Lions committee in charge of arrangements for the contest.

Proceeds from the game will go to the Lions Club Christmas Doll and Toy Fund.

Both Wesson and Goodman finished near the top of the standings in the Mississippi Junior College Conference.

'Fast Clock' Reports Leave Plenty Room To Argue Over Army-Navy Tilt

Three Teams Win Bowl Bids On Strength Of Saturday Performances

By Harold Classen

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The Glenn Davis-Felix Blanchard era of college football came to an official close today with Army's 21 to 18 victory over Navy in Philadelphia.

But it is likely that arguments of the nation's drugstore quarterbacks over the reported "fast clock" will be as long as the string of 28 games without a defeat the Army's touchdown twins helped build during their three years together.

President Truman and 102,000 other spectators saw the Navy carry the battle to the favored Cadets with such fury that the Middies were three yards from victory with five seconds to play. Coach Tom Hamilton sent in a substitute to stop the clock but the newcomer couldn't attract the officials' attention before time ran out.

That ending to a game that was the Blanchard-Davis farewell overshadowed a program in which Notre Dame ended an unbeaten season by battering Southern California, 26 to 6, although Coach Frank Leahy was ill abed, and North Carolina, Georgia and Louisiana State all earned major bowl berths with resounding victories.

North Carolina crushed Virginia, 49 to 14, and Georgia racked up its first unbeaten campaign since 1896 by annihilating Georgia Tech, 35 to 7. Immediately after the victories were posted, it was announced the two would meet Jan. 1 in the New Orleans' Sugar Bowl. Charles (Choochoo) Justice got three touchdowns for the Tar Heels and Charles Trippi collected the same number for the Georgians.

Louisiana State accepted a bid to oppose Arkansas in the Dallas Cotton Bowl after downing Tulane, 41 to 27.

Navy's brash attempt to dethrone the Army, mythical national champions for the past two years, was the big surprise of the day. Minor shocks were Tennessee's narrow squeak with Vanderbilt, 7 to 6; Alabama's 24 to 7 verdict over Mississippi State in a game most experts saw going the other way and Holy Cross' 13 to 6 decision over Boston College.

In the same category comes Oklahoma's 73 to 12 revenge for war-time beatings by Oklahoma A. and M.

Rice, which moves against Tennessee in the Orange Bowl, pulled into a first place Southwest Conference tie with Arkansas by beating Baylor, 38 to 6. In the same league, Southern Methodist stopped Texas Christian, 30 to 13.

U. C. L. A., Illinois' opponent in the Rose Bowl, finished its schedule with an 18 to 0 whitewashing of Nebraska and Hardin-Simmons, a participant in the coming Alamo Bowl, knocked over Texas Tech, 21 to 6.

Washington State traveled to East Lansing, Mich., for a 26 to 20 setback by Michigan State. Maryland's disappointing eleven lost another, this time to North Carolina State, 28 to 7, while Florida, also the owner of a poor record, bowed to Auburn, 47 to 12. Oregon State moved past Washington, 21 to 12.

STAGG MAY STEP DOWN AT COLLEGE OF PACIFIC

STOCKTON, Calif., Nov. 30.—(AP)—The College of the Pacific suggested today that it might be better for Amos Alonzo Stagg, 84-year-old dean of American football coaches, to step down after more than half a century of active coaching but left the decision up to him.

Taking official notice of recurrent reports that the veteran coach was nearing the end of his active work on the gridiron, James H. Corson, the college's dean of personnel, said:

"We feel that it would possibly be better for him, the boys, and the school if he let someone else take over the active coaching of the team, but that decision has to come from Mr. Stagg."

Corson said Stagg and Dr. Tully C. Knoles, chancellor of the college, had been negotiating regarding the coach's activities with the team next year.

SLIDELL WINS

SLIDELL, La., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Slidell High School defeated Varnado High 21 to 0 in a one-sided game here last night. Slidell outplayed the visitors in every quarter.

22 TEAMS READY TO PLAY IN CITY'S 4 CAGE LEAGUES

Winter Games Billed For 5 Nights Each Week, Beginning Tomorrow

Twenty-two basketball teams, operating in four leagues sponsored by the Monroe Recreation department, go into action here this week with games scheduled for each night, Monday through Friday, it was announced last night by Jack Hesketh.

The loops slated for action are the City League, a no-age-limit organization for men; the Recreation Girls League, also with no age limit on players; the Junior League, a circuit for high school boys under 18 years old; and the Midget League, for boys in their early 'teens.

The Junior League will open the Monroe cage season with three games tomorrow night, and the circuit will also be busy again with three more games Thursday night, all in the Ouachita Parish High School gymnasium.

The Midget schedule opens next, with two games Tuesday, and the little fellows will play once each week. They play at L. T. I.

On Wednesday the girls will go into action with two games, and they also play on the same night each week.

The City League, appearing for the first time Friday, will play the same night each week through the rest of the schedule.

All girls and City League games will be played at Northeast Junior College.

The first round of play in each league was announced last night by Director Hesketh as follows:

GAME ENDS WITH TARS ON CADETS' FIVE-YARD STRIPE

Middies Steal Show In Last Half To Completely Outplay West Point

By Sid Feder

MUNICIPAL STADIUM, PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Army's careening Cadets wound up their three-year run unbeaten today, but only by the squeaky margin of three extra points, as the Navy picked itself off the floor from its worst season in history to battle the mightiest gridiron machine of a generation to a standstill.

The score was 21 to 18, and the only reason the impossible didn't happen was because the "monster and his play-mate"—Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis—set off all their sizzling fireworks in the first half, and the Middie kicking toes couldn't hit the bullseye.

From the start of the second half it was Navy's ball game, as the up-to-now meek Middies, mauled and manhandled in seven straight starts up to today, gave the Cadets the fight of their lives before they were able to come home with that rare three point edge.

It was a slashing, smashing battle these fiercely fighting future admirals put up—a fight that saw them dug in on Army's five-yard line and still rolling when the clock ran out of time to put an end to what appeared the makings of one of the most amazing upsets this game of moleskin mayhem has ever seen.

It left the 102,000 customers who had this huge South Philadelphia concrete horseshoe bulging at the seams—among them President Truman—hanging on the ropes and gasping as the Middies stopped B. and D. to a slow walk in the final two periods and sailed down-field for two touchdowns on their own.

It was a show, too, that had all the usual icing that accompanies the annual service classic—official Washington represented by the chief executive, War Secretary Patterson, Navy Secretary Forrestal and bushels of army and navy big shots. The Army mule was there and the Navy goat and the Cadet and Middie student bodies.

And then it had the Navy footballers, flailed and flattened through a first half that saw Davis score once and Blanchard twice to give the Army a 21-6 edge at the intermission, rolling up their sleeves and coming back with a thrill-a-second job of work that just missed winning.

President Truman, the former artilleryman who is strictly neutral in this brawl every year, sat in his 50-yard line box on the Navy side of the field through the first half and saw the Black Knights of the Hudson pull the customers out of their seats as Davis dashed 13 yards for the first score. Blanchard bulled his way 52 yards for a second and then Davis hit Blanchard with a 27-yard pass in the end zone for a third.

Jack Ray, the Texan with the thread-a-needle toe, booted the point after each one of these tallies, and that did the trick.

That was enough to put this third unbeaten season of the Black Knights on ice, a string that saw the Army banners flying ever since they lost the 1943 Navy game, 13-0. In that startling stretch, they piled up 27 victories in 28 trips to the post, with only their scoreless standoff with Notre Dame three weeks ago marring the run.

But it never came closer to being broken than it was on this crisp, sunshiny afternoon, and the faithful—some of whom had paid ticket speculators as high as $50 a-piece for the privilege of sitting in on it—will never forget it. Before it started, there had been nothing to recommend this as a red-hot brawl, what with a Navy team

BASTROP, BOSSIER CITY IN 'A' SCRAP

Rams And Bearcats Battle Friday For District Championship

BASTROP, La., Nov. 30.—(Special)—The Bastrop High School Rams and the Bossier City High School Bearkats will meet at West Side Stadium here Friday night for the north Louisiana Class A football championship with a shot at the state title going to the winner.

Coach Charlie "Red" Thomas was forced to workout with his Rams in rain the early part of the week, but they got in good full workouts yesterday and today. He plans to keep them busy every afternoon this week through Thursday with emphasis being put on building a defense for expected Bearkat offensives.

Assistant Coach McDermott, a former Bossier City High athlete, scouted the Bearkats twice this year, and has taught the Junior Rams Bossier plays which they are running against the Ram varsity. "Cowboy" Holman, also an aide to Thomas, is putting more stress on line work, and Bastrop expects to have its defenses in working order for the big game.

Coach Thomas has reported Bastrop in good physical condition without a single cripple on the squad, while reports drifting in here from Bossier indicate the Bearcats came out of their 14-12 win over Minden last week with several cripples.

Coach Thomas is also giving his charges some new offensive maneuvers with which he hopes they can surprise the 'Kats.

Three Teams Win Bowl Bids On Strength Of Saturday Performances

By Harold Classen

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The Glenn Davis-Felix Blanchard era of college football came to an official close today with Army's 21 to 18 victory over Navy in Philadelphia.

But it is likely that arguments of the nation's drugstore quarterbacks over the reported "fast clock" will be as long as the string of 28 games without a defeat the Army's touchdown twins helped build during their three years together.

President Truman and 102,000 other spectators saw the Navy carry the battle to the favored Cadets with such fury that the Middies were three yards from victory with five seconds to play. Coach Tom Hamilton sent in a substitute to stop the clock but the newcomer couldn't attract the officials' attention before time ran out.

That ending to a game that was the Blanchard-Davis farewell overshadowed a program in which Notre Dame ended an unbeaten season by battering Southern California, 26 to 6, although Coach Frank Leahy was ill abed, and North Carolina, Georgia and Louisiana State all earned major bowl berths with resounding victories.

North Carolina crushed Virginia, 49 to 14, and Georgia racked up its first unbeaten campaign since 1896 by annihilating Georgia Tech, 35 to 7. Immediately after the victories were posted, it was announced the two would meet Jan. 1 in the New Orleans' Sugar Bowl. Charles (Choochoo) Justice got three touchdowns for the Tar Heels and Charles Trippi collected the same number for the Georgians.

Louisiana State accepted a bid to oppose Arkansas in the Dallas Cotton Bowl after downing Tulane, 41 to 27.

Navy's brash attempt to dethrone the Army, mythical national champions for the past two years, was the big surprise of the day. Minor shocks were Tennessee's narrow squeak with Vanderbilt, 7 to 6; Alabama's 24 to 7 verdict over Mississippi State in a game most experts saw going the other way and Holy Cross' 13 to 6 decision over Boston College.

In the same category comes Oklahoma's 73 to 12 revenge for war-time beatings by Oklahoma A. and M.

Rice, which moves against Tennessee in the Orange Bowl, pulled into a first place Southwest Conference tie with Arkansas by beating Baylor, 38 to 6. In the same league, Southern Methodist stopped Texas Christian, 30 to 13.

U. C. L. A., Illinois' opponent in the Rose Bowl, finished its schedule with an 18 to 0 whitewashing of Nebraska and Hardin-Simmons, a participant in the coming Alamo Bowl, knocked over Texas Tech, 21 to 6.

Washington State traveled to East Lansing, Mich., for a 26 to 20 setback by Michigan State. Maryland's disappointing eleven lost another, this time to North Carolina State, 28 to 7, while Florida, also the owner of a poor record, bowed to Auburn, 47 to 12. Oregon State moved past Washington, 21 to 12.

STAGG MAY STEP DOWN AT COLLEGE OF PACIFIC

STOCKTON, Calif., Nov. 30.—(AP)—The College of the Pacific suggested today that it might be better for Amos Alonzo Stagg, 84-year-old dean of American football coaches, to step down after more than half a century of active coaching but left the decision up to him.

Taking official notice of recurrent reports that the veteran coach was nearing the end of his active work on the gridiron, James H. Corson, the college's dean of personnel, said:

"We feel that it would possibly be better for him, the boys, and the school if he let someone else take over the active coaching of the team, but that decision has to come from Mr. Stagg."

Corson said Stagg and Dr. Tully C. Knoles, chancellor of the college, had been negotiating regarding the coach's activities with the team next year.

22 TEAMS READY TO PLAY IN CITY'S 4 CAGE LEAGUES

Winter Games Billed For 5 Nights Each Week, Beginning Tomorrow

Twenty-two basketball teams, operating in four leagues sponsored by the Monroe Recreation department, go into action here this week with games scheduled for each night, Monday through Friday, it was announced last night by Jack Hesketh.

The loops slated for action are the City League, a no-age-limit organization for men; the Recreation Girls League, also with no age limit on players; the Junior League, a circuit for high school boys under 18 years old; and the Midget League, for boys in their early 'teens.

The Junior League will open the Monroe cage season with three games tomorrow night, and the circuit will also be busy again with three more games Thursday night, all in the Ouachita Parish High School gymnasium.

The Midget schedule opens next, with two games Tuesday, and the little fellows will play once each week. They play at L. T. I.

On Wednesday the girls will go into action with two games, and they also play on the same night each week.

The City League, appearing for the first time Friday, will play the same night each week through the rest of the schedule.

All girls and City League games will be played at Northeast Junior College.

The first round of play in each league was announced last night by Director Hesketh as follows:

Midget League

Dec. 3: Ouachita Jeeps vs. Spatafora's, L. T. I. vs. Red Shield.

Dec. 10: Red Shield vs. Jeeps, L. T. I. vs. Spatafora's.

The Midgets conclude their schedule March 4. The girls close out March 5. The Junior League winds up March 13, and the City loop closes out March 14.

BASTROP, BOSSIER CITY IN 'A' SCRAP

BASTROP, La., Nov. 30.—(Special)—The Bastrop High School Rams and the Bossier City High School Bearkats will meet at West Side Stadium here Friday night for the north Louisiana Class A football championship with a shot at the state title going to the winner.

Coach Charlie "Red" Thomas was forced to workout with his Rams in rain the early part of the week, but they got in good full workouts yesterday and today. He plans to keep them busy every afternoon this week through Thursday with emphasis being put on building a defense for expected Bearkat offensives.

Assistant Coach McDermott, a former Bossier City High athlete, scouted the Bearkats twice this year, and has taught the Junior Rams Bossier plays which they are running against the Ram varsity. "Cowboy" Holman, also an aide to Thomas, is putting more stress on line work, and Bastrop expects to have its defenses in working order for the big game.

Coach Thomas has reported Bastrop in good physical condition without a single cripple on the squad, while reports drifting in here from Bossier indicate the Bearcats came out of their 14-12 win over Minden last week with several cripples.

Coach Thomas is also giving his charges some new offensive maneuvers with which he hopes they can surprise the 'Kats.

During World War II flax culture in northern Ireland expanded to 125,000 acres, four to six times pre-war averages.

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Louisiana State, while in the running for a bowl bid today, had to stave off a brilliant last-half rally to down a surprising Tulane football team, 41 to 27.

Forty-five thousand spectators attracted by the renewal of a bitter state rivalry, either held their breaths or roared for more as Don Fortier, 24-year-old Tulane freshman, threatened to pull the game out of the fire with a skillful blend of passing and running.

The powerful L. S. U. machine, sparked by Y. A. Tittle and Ray Coates, exploded for three touchdowns in a wild second period to gain the winning margin.

Tittle threw three touchdown passes and Coates connected with two, but it was a pair of long runs by Slim Jim Cason, neither of which went for a score, which highlighted the Louisiana attack.

But far and away the best individual performance of the day was Fortier's amazing exhibition. He passed for three touchdowns and scored another on an 18-yard jaunt.

L. S. U. led 35 to 7, with the third period less than two minutes old, the battling Greenies, spearheaded by Fortier, took over with a vengeance. Fortier had engineered the lone

BRANHAM MAY RETIRE AS MINOR LEAGUE HEAD

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Judge W. G. Bramham, a pillor of organized baseball for nearly 50 years, announced today that he expected to retire as president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

The 72-year-old head of the minor leagues said in an interview:

"They are talking of my retirement based on the condition of my health. I suppose that is what it will result in. Definitely I expect to retire."

FEUD BETWEEN ARIZONA OLDTIMERS AND FANCY FOX HUNTERS WARMS UP

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Dark words crossed between Phoenix cattlemen and Tucson fox-hunters today, and nobody smiled when they said it.

Riled by old cowhands' sneers that a pink-rigged fox hunt was "pantywaist" stuff for Arizona, the Rillito Invitational Hunt Club of Tucson cracked back with a challenge to the cattlemen to join the chase tomorrow.

Them was fightin' words for the old timers, who want none of it.

"It's against our principals to participate in fancy duds affairs requiring the wearing, by anyone, of pink coats and derby hats," said J. Manford Cartwright.

"That's why we organized the Arizona Old-Time Anti-Hightoned Fox Hunting Association. You don't invite the W. C. T. U. to a beer bust, do you?"

At Tucson, Master of the Hounds Jack Goodman saw nothing unseemly in the formal dress event. Reason for the hunt, he said, is to "bring some decent strains of thoroughbred horses into this part of the country. Those 'wild mustangs' they're hollering about in Phoenix wouldn't last cross-country after one jump."

Goodman said no "poor, little emaciated fox" will be chased across the desert. The hounds are being trained to follow a carcass dragged over the ground. Sure, club members will wear pink coats but, he said, "ask them in Phoenix if they'd go to a formal ball in Levis?"

"Huh!" snorted Cartwright. "This is a free country, I guess, and if grown people want to ride around in pink coats chasing scents we won't stop 'em. But it looks like a mighty poor way to spend your time."

SEGURA WILL GET ANOTHER CHANCE AT CURTIS' TITLE

Light Heavyweight Wrestling Match At Kallio's Thursday Night

Another world's light heavyweight championship wrestling brawl is on tap for Twin City mat fans this week when Jack Curtis, the champ, defends his crown against the challenge of Bobby Segura, the Mexican gamecock who was repulsed in a close title fight with Curtis only three weeks ago.

Promoter Gus Kallio, in announcing his card last night, also declared the date of the match and further programs this winter would be held on Thursday night instead of Wednesday as has been the practice during the autumn months.

Segura will have to go all the way by himself this time since his pal, Francisco Aguaya, isn't on the bill and won't be around to give him any help if he runs into trouble with Curtis. In his last title scrap with Curtis, Aguaya, standing at the ringside after having finished a semi-final appearance, jumped into the ring in a vain effort to save Segura from Curtis' question mark hold. But a mob of fans followed Aguaya into the ring, and it was a battered and wiser wrestling villain who left the ring with his clothing torn to shreds.

The semi-final attraction will bring together Irish McGee, classy tussler of St. Louis, Mo., who has appeared here before the war when Kallio was staging his shows at the Ouachita Valley Fair Grounds, and Bill Hickson, another clever wrestler from Knoxville, Tenn.

McGee and Hickson, promising a scientific struggle, will wrestle over an hour time limit distance, two falls to win.

The main event will have a 90-minute time limit.

PALMER HOLDING LEAD AT ORLANDO

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., after faltering badly at the start steadied down on the incoming nine and retained his one-stroke lead in the $10,000 Open Golf Tourney here today.

He carded an even par 71 over the Dubsbread Country Club course to put his 54-hole total at 204.

Hard at his heels was Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y., who turned in a six under par 65 for 205.

In third place at 206 was Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., and following with 207 were Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, Bob Hamilton of Chicago and Harry Todd of Dallas.

Leaders scorer:

Johnny Palmer, Badin, N. C., 133-71—204.

Claude Harmon, Mamaroneck, N. Y., 140-65—205.

Sam Snead, Hot Springs, Va., 138-68- 206.

Fred Haas, New Orleans, 142-65—207.

Ray Hill, Shreveport, La., 135-74—209.

Tony Penna, Cincinnati 139-70—209.

Tommy Bolt, Shreveport, 141-68—209.

SPORTS ROUND UP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A story relayed here from down New Orleans way says that Army showed considerable interest in the Sugar Bowl invitation but insisted on the privilege of either picking its own opponent or rejecting any team it considered undesirable. . . . The finger, of course, was pointed right at the Southeastern Conference and its openly-awarded athletic scholarships. . . . The West Pointers say, however, that after the Rose Bowl deal fell through, the Army team voted on "other bowls" and wasn't strongly in favor of accepting a bid. . . . Seems a lot of Cadets really are interested in going home for the holidays—their only chance—but were willing to forego that because Glenn Davis was so eager to play at Pasadena.

Carolina Bound?

Bishopville, S. C., Doc Blanchard's home town, turned out a pretty good high school football team for a village of 3,000 population this fall. Now Bishopville is planning a bowl game for its kids and wants Blanchard, Arnold Tucker and Glenn Davis to officiate. . . . Tucker's family recently moved back from Miami to Calhoun Falls, S. C., where the Army quarterback went to grammar school. . . . Bishopville, incidentally, claims to have a successor to Doc in J. W. Jones, high school tailback, who completed 114 passes in 138 attempts this season.

One-Minute Sports Page

Reaves Baysinger, Jr., Navy quarterback, pitches baseballs as well as passes in better-than-fair form. . . . William and Mary's colorful football team is being considered for the 'Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., and would accept a bid faster than you can say the College of William and Mary. . . . Gene Berce, Marquette University basketballer, shouldn't feel the cold this winter. If he wants he can wear sweaters with varsity letters from Marquette, Bucknell and Cornell. . . . Harness horsemen shipping to Hollywood Park this winter will get stall space free, along with a rack full of hay and the first bedding of straw. After that they're on their own. . . . A minor leaguer studying proposed baseball legislation complains that since the amendments were distributed, some amendments to the amendments have come out and now its a heck of a job knowing who wants what.

Weak End Items

The Texas Christian University Basketball Brochure, just arrived, has the name of "Honest Bill" Rosenblatt, former Brooklyn College and Long Island University player, carefully crossed off the list. How come? . . . Joe Louis' autobiography, "My Life Story," which isn't to be published here until January, already has begun to appear serially in the London Sunday News. . . . Straw in the wind? When Yale's Howie Odell approached Assistant Reggie Root and Syracuse's Biggie Munn at a recent gathering, Root started to say: "We were just talking about . . ." . . . Howie interjected: "Officials?"

By Leroy Simms

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Little Harry Gilmer and his Alabama teammates wrecked a highly-favored Mississippi State eleven here today 24 to 7, before a homecoming day crowd of 25,000.

The 'Bama eleven, beaten four times previously, was in command throughout the contest, and had a wide margin all the way.

After a scoreless first period, Gilmer connected with End Ted Cook for a 44-yard gain to take the ball to the State six. An offside penalty nullified a Tide touchdown, but sub Quarterback Hugh Morrow kicked a field goal from placement, and Alabama was never headed.

The next touchdown followed shortly, with Gilmer passing first to Cook and then to Morrow and Billy Cadenhead to cover most of the distance in a 69-yard drive. Red Noonan, frosh fullback, made the final yard for the score.

Johnny Wozniak, junior guard, made the second touchdown after blocking Billy Murphy's punt on the State 38. He grabbed the ball on the bounce on the State 20 and ran over by himself.

Gilmer shot another long pass, this time for 42 yards, to Cook to set up the final Tide marker. Gilmer lugged it over from the three on second down.

For his day's effort, Gilmer netted 65 yards rushing in 19 carries and connected with eight of 17 passes.

State's touchdown, which followed the final Alabama score, was engineered by Lawrence Matulich, sub tailback, and followed a 67-yard run back of the kickoff by Graham Bramlett, sub wingback. Matulich connected with three passes to Kermit Davis, Kenneth Davis and Harper Davis in turn, and then slammed through the line for the final five yards in two tries.

The heralded battle between Gilmer and State's All-Southeastern back, Tom (Shorty) McWilliams, failed to develop because the Tide line stopped McWilliams cold most of the day. McWilliams netted 31 yards rushing in eight carries, and his only pass attempt fell incomplete.

State's line held its own for the opening period, but was badly outplayed the rest of the way. Alabama had 142 yards rushing to 72 for State, and netted 162 passing to 64 for State.

The lineups:

Miss. State	Pos.	Alabama
Hilderbrand	LE	Cook
Sidorik	LT	Whitley
Mihalic	LG	Wozniak
Corley	C	Mancha
Harris	RG	Filippini
Garrett	RT	Flowers
Howard	RE	Cain
Moates	QB	Self
McWilliams	LH	Gilmer
H. Davis	RH	Tew
Bailey	FB	Hodges

Scores by quarters:

Miss. State	0	0	0	7	— 7
Alabama	0	10	7	7	—24

Miss. State scoring — Touchdown, Matulich (for McWilliams). Point after touchdown, Shuff (for Garrett).

Alabama scoring—Touchdowns, Noonan (for Hodges), Wozniak, Gilmer. Points after touchdowns, Morrow (for Self) 3, placements. Field goal, Morrow, placement.

RUSTON SCHEDULES TOP NEGRO BATTLE

RUSTON, La., Nov. 30.—(Special)—Grambling College, a Negro institution, makes its first bow of the season before Ruston fans when the local eleven tackles the highly rated Mississippi Industrial College team here next Saturday night at 8 o'clock at Louisiana Tech Stadium.

It's Ruston's Lions' Bowl game in which the two Negro outfits will be playing under the sponsorship of the Ruston Lions Club for the benefit of underprivileged children and civic improvements.

The Tigers from Grambling will be attempting to succeed where six other teams have failed against the Mississippians this season. The Mississippi Negroes have scored 314 points on seven opponents and have given up a total of only 45 points. In their latest encounter Mississippi Industrial swamped Shorter College of Little Rock, Ark., 98 to 6; blasted Campbell College of Jackson, Miss., 76 to 6; and rolled over Okalona College of Mississippi, 76 to 0.

The return of Captain "Express" Younger to the Grambling team has greatly strengthened the Tigers for the Friday date, and another outstanding feature of the Grambling eleven is its fine array of backs, four outstanding boys capable of going the full distance at any spot in the backfield.

Tickets for the game will be on sale at leading business houses in Ruston this week.

Former Arcadia Grid Star To Go On Byrd Antarctic Expedition

ARCADIA, La., Nov. 30.—(Special)—Daniel B. Edwards, former football star on the Arcadia High School teams and lately returned from the Southwest Pacific war area, has been selected as one of the men to go on the Byrd Antarctic Expedition and is now in Boston working with other members of the expedition getting things in readiness for the voyage.

Edwards starred on the 1936-37-38 teams when in the local school. He was an outstanding tennis, softball, and basketball player. In addition to his athletic prowess, he was an excellent student in his academics. His general standing in the school in deportment and other extra activities was excellent.

He was very active in scouting, becoming an Eagle Scout and assisted as scoutmaster for the local Norwella Troop 110. He went to all the encampments and took an active part in the leadership of these.

Besides being outstanding in sports, scouting, social, and community activities in general, he was very active in church work being one of the leaders in the Young People's Division of the Methodist Church. He was active in Sunday school and related church work.

He enlisted in the Navy in 1941 before Pearl Harbor and served throughout the war. He saw combat service in the Philippines and nearby areas of the conflict. He was still in the service when selected to go on the expedition as he was serving a regular term of service having volunteered for a longer period of time than just the period of the war.

21 LION PLAYERS TO GET LETTERS

Coach Hodgins Reports Two Managers To Also Get Coveted 'O'

Twenty-one Ouachita Parish High School football players and two student managers have been named as winners of letters for their work during the grid season just closed for the Lions, it was announced last night by Coach Jim Hodgins.

As a usual procedure, the names of lettermen are not announced until the actual presentations take place, in normal times soon after the season ends. But there is a probability that the Lions won't actually get their coveted "O" before late next spring at the soonest. The 1945 lettermen didn't get their's until the middle of the '46 season.

Manufacturers have such backlogs of orders to fill to make up for wartime shortages that the boys can't possibly get their letters any sooner.

The list of lettermen was announced by Coach Hodgins as Clyde "Sonny" Webb, Robert Kirby, James Perry, Marvin Dearman, C. L. Wink, Bobby Bruce, Charles Venable, Clark Matkins, Quinn Becker, Fred Hueneféld, Jack Smith, Eddie Moss, Charles Moore, Fay Duchesne, Lawson Fleming, Kendall Bailey, E. J. Sievers, Mark Boatright, Ernest "Buster" King, Jarrell Matkins, and Graham Humble from the football squad. Managers lettering for the first time were Carter and McDonald.

Fay Duchesne, Ouachita fullback, and Marvin Dearman, tackle, earned their third letters, Duchesne getting all of his with the Lions, and Dearman, who played with Ouachita the first time this year, winning two others at an Arkansas school.

Earning their second letters with the Lions were Webb, Perry, Wink, Venable, C. Matkins, Becker, Moore, Bailey, Seivers, King, J. Matkins, and Humble, the latter winning a letter even though he saw little action all season after suffering an early season injury.

Out of the 21 football lettermen, Coach Hodgins expects to lose only four linemen, Webb, Dearman, Wink and C. Matkins through graduation. He's looking for his entire backfield back, and expects to develop new talent to fill the gaps in the forward wall.

JENNINGS, HAYNESVILLE IN CLASS AA SEMI-FINAL PLAYOFF GAME FRIDAY

HAYNESVILLE, La., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Jennings High School's Bulldogs, champions of the Southwest Louisiana district, and the Haynesville Tornado, North Louisiana AA champions, will meet in the semi-final contest of the state football playoffs Friday night at Haynesville.

Location of the playoff game was decided at a conference of Jennings and Haynesville coaches. Friday's game will mark the first time a playoff contest has been held in Haynesville even though the Tornadoes have figured in the money several times during recent years.

Jennings was high scoring eleven in Louisiana this year and operating from a modified T has an unusually husky and speedy backfield featuring Haddock, 170-pound halfback, and Kibodeaux, 150-pound halfback.

Haynesville has showed rugged defensive ability but has not been a high scoring club. The Tornado team, undefeated and tied but once, builds its offense around Charles Walker, 190-pound fullback who handles the passing and kicking and is an outstanding line-backer.

Kickoff time for the game is 8:15 p. m.

MEMPHIS GETS S. E. C. GAMES

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 30.—(AP)—The University of Mississippi basketball team will meet Alabama's Crimson Tide here Jan. 9 in the first Southeastern conference basketball game ever to be played in Memphis, Promoter Early Maxwell announced today. Maxwell said Louisiana State's cagers would play here Jan. 29, but that an opponent had not yet been named.

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Louisiana State, while in the running for a bowl bid today, had to stave off a brilliant last-half rally to down a surprising Tulane football team, 41 to 27.

Forty-five thousand spectators attracted by the renewal of a bitter state rivalry, either held their breaths or roared for more as Don Fortier, 24-year-old Tulane freshman, threatened to pull the game out of the fire with a skillful blend of passing and running.

The powerful L. S. U. machine, sparked by Y. A. Tittle and Ray Coates, exploded for three touchdowns in a wild second period to gain the winning margin.

Tittle threw three touchdown passes and Coates connected with two, but it was a pair of long runs by Slim Jim Cason, neither of which went for a score, which highlighted the Louisiana attack.

But far and away the best individual performance of the day was Fortier's amazing exhibition. He passed for three touchdowns and scored another on an 18-yard jaunt.

L. S. U. led 35 to 7, with the third period less than two minutes old, the battling Greenies, spearheaded by Fortier, took over with a vengeance.

BRANHAM MAY RETIRE AS MINOR LEAGUE HEAD

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Judge W. G. Bramham, a pillor of organized baseball for nearly 50 years, announced today that he expected to retire as president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

The 72-year-old head of the minor leagues said in an interview:

"They are talking of my retirement based on the condition of my health. I suppose that is what it will result in. Definitely I expect to retire."

FEUD BETWEEN ARIZONA OLDTIMERS AND FANCY FOX HUNTERS WARMS UP

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Dark words crossed between Phoenix cattlemen and Tucson fox-hunters today, and nobody smiled when they said it.

Riled by old cowhands' sneers that a pink-rigged fox hunt was "panty-waist" stuff for Arizona, the Rillito Invitational Hunt Club of Tucson cracked back with a challenge to the cattlemen to join the chase tomorrow.

Them was fightin' words for the old timers, who want none of it.

"It's against our principals to participate in fancy duds affairs requiring the wearing, by anyone, of pink coats and derby hats," said J. Manford Cartwright.

"That's why we organized the Arizona Old-Time Anti-Hightoned Fox Hunting Association. You don't invite the W. C. T. U. to a beer bust, do you?"

At Tucson, Master of the Hounds Jack Goodman saw nothing unseemly in the formal dress event. Reason for the hunt, he said, is to "bring some decent strains of thoroughbred horses into this part of the country. Those 'wild mustangs' they're hollering about in Phoenix wouldn't last cross-country after one jump."

Goodman said no "poor, little emaciated fox" will be chased across the desert. The hounds are being trained to follow a carcass dragged over the ground. Sure, club members will wear pink coats but, he said, "ask them in Phoenix if they'd go to a formal ball in Levis?"

"Huh!" snorted Cartwright. "This is a free country, I guess, and if grown people want to ride around in pink coats chasing scents we won't stop 'em. But it looks like a mighty poor way to spend your time."

SEGURA WILL GET ANOTHER CHANCE AT CURTIS' TITLE

Light Heavyweight Wrestling Match At Kallio's Thursday Night

Another world's light heavyweight championship wrestling brawl is on tap for Twin City mat fans this week when Jack Curtis, the champ, defends his crown against the challenge of Bobby Segura, the Mexican gamecock who was repulsed in a close title fight with Curtis only three weeks ago.

Promoter Gus Kallio, in announcing his card last night, also declared the date of the match and further programs this winter would be held on Thursday night instead of Wednesday as has been the practice during the autumn months.

Segura will have to go all the way by himself this time since his pal, Francisco Aguaya, isn't on the bill and won't be around to give him any help if he runs into trouble with Curtis. In his last title scrap with Curtis, Aguaya, standing at the ringside after having finished a semi-final appearance, jumped into the ring in a vain effort to save Segura from Curtis' question mark hold. But a mob of fans followed Aguaya into the ring, and it was a battered and wiser wrestling villain who left the ring with his clothing torn to shreds.

The semi-final attraction will bring together Irish McGee, classy tussler of St. Louis, Mo., who has appeared here before the war when Kallio was staging his shows at the Ouachita Valley Fair Grounds, and Bill Hickson, another clever wrestler from Knoxville, Tenn.

McGee and Hickson, promising a scientific struggle, will wrestle over an hour time limit distance, two falls to win.

The main event will have a 90-minute time limit.

PALMER HOLDING LEAD AT ORLANDO

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., after faltering badly at the start steadied down on the incoming nine and retained his one-stroke lead in the $10,000 Open Golf Tourney here today.

He carded an even par 71 over the Dubsbread Country Club course to put his 54-hole total at 204.

Hard at his heels was Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y., who turned in a six under par 65 for 205.

In third place at 206 was Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., and following with 207 were Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, Bob Hamilton of Chicago and Harry Todd of Dallas.

Leaders scorer:

Johnny Palmer, Badin, N. C., 133-71—204.

Claude Harmon, Mamaroneck, N. Y., 140-65—205.

Sam Snead, Hot Springs, Va., 138-68—206.

Fred Haas, New Orleans, 142-65—207.

Ray Hill, Shreveport, La., 135-74—209.

Tony Penna, Cincinnati 139-70—209.

Tommy Bolt, Shreveport, 141-68—209.

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—(AP)—A story relayed here from down New Orleans way says that Army showed considerable interest in the Sugar Bowl invitation but insisted on the privilege of either picking its own opponent or rejecting any team it considered undesirable. . . . The finger, of course, was pointed right at the Southeastern Conference and its openly-awarded athletic scholarships. . . . The West Pointers say, however, that after the Rose Bowl deal fell through, the Army team voted on "other bowls" and wasn't strongly in favor of accepting a bid. . . . Seems a lot of Cadets really are interested in going home for the holidays—their only chance—but were willing to forego that because Glenn Davis was so eager to play at Pasadena.

Carolina Bound?

Bishopville, S. C., Doc Blanchard's home town, turned out a pretty good high school football team for a village of 3,000 population this fall. Now Bishopville is planning a bowl game for its kids and wants Blanchard, Arnold Tucker and Glenn Davis to officiate. . . . Tucker's family recently moved back from Miami to Calhoun Falls, S. C., where the Army quarterback went to grammar school. . . . Bishopville, incidentally, claims to have a successor to Doc in J. W. Jones, high school tailback, who completed 114 passes in 138 attempts this season.

One-Minute Sports Page

Reaves Baysinger, Jr., Navy quarterback, pitches baseballs as well as passes in better-than-fair form. . . . William and Mary's colorful football team is being considered for the 'Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., and would accept a bid faster than you can say the College of William and Mary. . . . Gene Berce, Marquette University basketballer, shouldn't feel the cold this winter. If he wants he can wear sweaters with varsity letters from Marquette, Bucknell and Cornell. . . . Harness horsemen shipping to Hollywood Park this winter will get stall space free, along with a rack full of hay and the first bedding of straw. After that they're on their own. . . . A minor leaguer studying proposed baseball legislation complains that since the amendments were distributed, some amendments to the amendments have come out and now its a heck of a job knowing who wants what.

Weak End Items

The Texas Christian University Basketball Brochure, just arrived, has the name of "Honest Bill" Rosenblatt, former Brooklyn College and Long Island University player, carefully crossed off the list. How come? . . . Joe Louis' autobiography, "My Life Story," which isn't to be published here until January, already has begun to appear serially in the London Sunday News. . . . Straw in the wind? When Yale's Howie Odell approached Assistant Reggie Root and Syracuse's Biggie Munn at a recent gathering, Root started to say: "We were just talking about . . ." . . . Howie interjected: "Officials?"

By Leroy Simms

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Little Harry Gilmer and his Alabama teammates wrecked a highly-favored Mississippi State eleven here today 24 to 7, before a homecoming day crowd of 25,000.

The 'Bama eleven, beaten four times previously, was in command throughout the contest, and had a wide margin all the way.

After a scoreless first period, Gilmer connected with End Ted Cook for a 44-yard gain to take the ball to the State six. An offside penalty nullified a Tide touchdown, but sub Quarterback Hugh Morrow kicked a field goal from placement, and Alabama was never headed.

The next touchdown followed shortly, with Gilmer passing first to Cook and then to Morrow and Billy Cadenhead to cover most of the distance in a 69-yard drive. Red Noonan, frosh fullback, made the final yard for the score.

Johnny Wozniak, junior guard, made the second touchdown after blocking Billy Murphy's punt on the State 38. He grabbed the ball on the bounce on the State 20 and ran over by himself.

Gilmer shot another long pass, this time for 42 yards, to Cook to set up the final Tide marker. Gilmer lugged it over from the three on second down.

For his day's effort, Gilmer netted 65 yards rushing in 19 carries and connected with eight of 17 passes.

State's touchdown, which followed the final Alabama score, was engineered by Lawrence Matulich, sub tailback, and followed a 67-yard run back of the kickoff by Graham Bramlett, sub wingback. Matulich connected with three passes to Kermit Davis, Kenneth Davis and Harper Davis in turn, and then slammed through the line for the final five yards in two tries.

The heralded battle between Gilmer and State's All-Southeastern back, Tom (Shorty) McWilliams, failed to develop because the Tide line stopped McWilliams cold most of the day. McWilliams netted 31 yards rushing in eight carries, and his only pass attempt fell incomplete.

State's line held its own for the opening period, but was badly outplayed the rest of the way. Alabama had 142 yards rushing to 72 for State, and netted 162 passing to 64 for State.

The lineups:

Miss. State	Pos.	Alabama
Hilderbrand	LE	Cook
Sidorik	LT	Whitley
Mihalic	LG	Wozniak

RUSTON SCHEDULES TOP NEGRO BATTLE

RUSTON, La., Nov. 30.—(Special)—Grambling College, a Negro institution, makes its first bow of the season before Ruston fans when the local eleven tackles the highly rated Mississippi Industrial College team here next Saturday night at 8 o'clock at Louisiana Tech Stadium.

It's Ruston's Lions' Bowl game in which the two Negro outfits will be playing under the sponsorship of the Ruston Lions Club for the benefit of underprivileged children and civic improvements.

The Tigers from Grambling will be attempting to succeed where six other teams have failed against the Mississippians this season. The Mississippi Negroes have scored 314 points on seven opponents and have given up a total of only 45 points. In their latest encounter Mississippi Industrial swamped Shorter College of Little Rock, Ark., 98 to 6; blasted Campbell College of Jackson, Miss., 76 to 6; and rolled over Okalona College of Mississippi, 76 to 0.

The return of Captain "Express" Younger to the Grambling team has greatly strengthened the Tigers for the Friday date, and another outstanding feature of the Grambling eleven is its fine array of backs, four outstanding boys capable of going the full distance at any spot in the backfield.

Tickets for the game will be on sale at leading business houses in Ruston this week.

Former Arcadia Grid Star To Go On Byrd Antarctic Expedition

ARCADIA, La., Nov. 30.—(Special)—Daniel B. Edwards, former football star on the Arcadia High School teams and lately returned from the Southwest Pacific war area, has been selected as one of the men to go on the Byrd Antarctic Expedition and is now in Boston working with other members of the expedition getting things in readiness for the voyage.

Edwards starred on the 1936-37-38 teams when in the local school. He was an outstanding tennis, softball, and basketball player. In addition to his athletic prowess, he was an excellent student in his academics. His general standing in the school in deportment and other extra activities was excellent.

He was very active in scouting, becoming an Eagle Scout and assisted as scoutmaster for the local Norwella Troop 110. He went to all the encampments and took an active part in the leadership of these.

Besides being outstanding in sports, scouting, social, and community activities in general, he was very active in church work being one of the leaders in the Young People's Division of the Methodist Church. He was active in Sunday school and related church work.

He enlisted in the Navy in 1941 before Pearl Harbor and served throughout the war. He saw combat service in the Philippines and nearby areas of the conflict. He was still in the service when selected to go on the expedition as he was serving a regular term of service having volunteered for a longer period of time than just the period of the war.

21 LION PLAYERS TO GET LETTERS

Coach Hodgins Reports Two Managers To Also Get Coveted 'O'

Twenty-one Ouachita Parish High School football players and two student managers have been named as winners of letters for their work during the grid season just closed for the Lions, it was announced last night by Coach Jim Hodgins.

As a usual procedure, the names of lettermen are not announced until the actual presentations take place, in normal times soon after the season ends. But there is a probability that the Lions won't actually get their coveted "O" before late next spring at the soonest. The 1945 lettermen didn't get their's until the middle of the '46 season.

Manufacturers have such backlogs of orders to fill to make up for wartime shortages that the boys can't possibly get their letters any sooner.

The list of lettermen was announced by Coach Hodgins as Clyde "Sonny" Webb, Robert Kirby, James Perry, Marvin Dearman, C. L. Wink, Bobby Bruce, Charles Venable, Clark Matkins, Quinn Becker, Fred Huenefeld, Jack Smith, Eddie Moss, Charles Moore, Fay Duchesne, Lawson Fleming, Kendall Bailey, E. J. Sievers, Mark Boatright, Ernest "Buster" King, Jarrell Matkins, and Graham Humble from the football squad. Managers lettering for the first time were Carter and McDonald.

Fay Duchesne, Ouachita fullback, and Marvin Dearman, tackle, earned their third letters, Duchesne getting all of his with the Lions, and Dearman, who played with Ouachita the first time this year, winning two others at an Arkansas school.

Earning their second letters with the Lions were Webb, Perry, Wink, Venable, C. Matkins, Becker, Moore, Bailey, Seivers, King, J. Matkins, and Humble, the latter winning a letter even though he saw little action all season after suffering an early season injury.

Out of the 21 football lettermen, Coach Hodgins expects to lose only four linemen, Webb, Dearman, Wink and C. Matkins through graduation. He's looking for his entire backfield back, and expects to develop new talent to fill the gaps in the forward wall.

JENNINGS, HAYNESVILLE IN CLASS AA SEMI-FINAL PLAYOFF GAME FRIDAY

HAYNESVILLE, La., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Jennings High School's Bulldogs, champions of the Southwest Louisiana district, and the Haynesville Tornado, North Louisiana AA champions, will meet in the semi-final contest of the state football playoffs Friday night at Haynesville.

Location of the playoff game was decided at a conference of Jennings and Haynesville coaches. Friday's game will mark the first time a playoff contest has been held in Haynesville even though the Tornadoes have figured in the money several times during recent years.

Jennings was high scoring eleven in Louisiana this year and operating from a modified T has an unusually husky and speedy backfield featuring Haddock, 170-pound halfback, and Kibodeaux, 150-pound halfback.

Haynesville has showed rugged defensive ability but has not been a high scoring club. The Tornado team, undefeated and tied but once, builds its offense around Charles Walker, 190-pound fullback who handles the passing and kicking and is an outstanding line-backer.

Kickoff time for the game is 8:15 p. m.

MEMPHIS GETS S. E. C. GAMES

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 30.—(AP)—The University of Mississippi basketball team will meet Alabama's Crimson Tide here Jan. 9 in the first Southeastern conference basketball game ever to be played in Memphis. Promoter Early Maxwell announced today. Maxwell said Louisiana State's cagers would play here Jan. 29, but that an opponent had not yet been named.

COTTON BOWL INVITATION GOES TO L. S. U.

TIGERS TO OPPOSE ARKANSAS ELEVEN IN TEXAS CLASSIC

Bayou Bengals Already Being Put In Favorite Role For Dallas Game

DALLAS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Jimmy Stewart, executive secretary of the Southwest Conference, announced here today that Louisiana State University and the University of Arkansas would meet in the Cotton Bowl here New Years day.

Arkansas, in gaining a share of the Southwest championship—its first title glory in 13 years—won five conference games and lost one. In full season play, the Razorbacks won six tilts, lost three and tied one. Two of their defeats were close. They lost to Mississippi 9-7 and to Tulsa 14-13. The most decisive licking handed the Razorbacks was 20-0, by Texas.

Louisiana State edged Rice 7-6 in the opening game of the season on a muddy field. The Tigers swept aside Mississippi State and Texas A. and M. before losing to Georgia Tech 26-7. Then followed victories over Vanderbilt, Mississippi, Alabama, Miami, Fordham and Tulane.

The fact that L. S. U. beat Mississippi 34-21 and Mississippi defeated Arkansas probably will make the Tigers favorites in the Cotton Bowl.

Arkansas, as co-champion of the Southwest Conference, is the host team. It entered the Cotton Bowl last week when Rice, tied with Arkansas for first, withdrew any claim it might have had and accepted a bid to the Orange Bowl.

The conference by unanimous vote today granted Rice permission to play in the Miami classic.

Louisiana State today accepted the invitation as visiting team. L. S. U. won nine games and lost one—the lone defeat being to Georgia Tech 26-7. Among its victims was Rice which also lost to Arkansas. In fact, it was Arkansas' 7-0 win over Rice that gave the former a tie for the conference title.

Louisiana State is a bowl veteran. It has appeared in three Sugar Bowl classics and once played in the Orange Bowl. Its record is one victory in the four appearances, the Tigers having defeated Texas A. and M. in the 1944 Orange Bowl. They lost to Texas Christian in 1936 and to Santa Clara in 1937 and 1938 in the Sugar Bowl.

Arkansas has appeared in one bowl. That was the Blue Bonnet Bowl—forerunner of the Cotton Bowl—in 1934 when the Razorbacks played a scoreless tie with Centenary.

This will be the eleventh annual Cotton Bowl game. Last year Texas beat Missouri 40-27 in the Dallas New Year's Day classic.

TINY TEXAN

"coachless" Irish were in piling up their eighth victory against a scoreless tie with Army for the season, they couldn't stop the inspired Trojans from scoring the first touchdown against Notre Dame's first stringers and making it a 13 to 6 ball game until the final period.

McGee, whose first name Leahy couldn't recall for sports writers in early practices, streaked 77 yards for the first Irish score in the second quarter, seconds after he galloped 50 yards on another break-away. The Longview, Tex., fireball launched a 13-point Irish attack in the final period with an eight-yard payoff jaunt around end.

With Leahy at home, bed-ridden with a cold and "nervous exhaustion," the Irish ploughed to 26 first downs against Southern California's nine and an amazing 517 yards by rushing against 108.

Yet, it took McGee's phantom-like flitting to spark them to their brace of six-pointers in the second and fourth period.

The second Notre Dame touchdown was fashioned of a 22-yard pass from reserve Quarter George Ratterman to Substitute End Leon Hart, while the final score in the last quarter came on second string Halfback Gerry Cowhig's 15-yard sprint.

Southern California, held beyond the 50 the first half, exploded for a 45-yard touchdown drive late in the third period when Johnny Naumu squirmed over from the one-foot stripe.

It took a Notre Dame pass interference on a goal-line toss from George Murphy intended for Naumu to set up the touchdown. Naumu missed what then seemed an important placement try for point. That shoved Notre Dame's lead to 13-6, but the Irish then loosed their full offensive fury.

Starting on their 12 after Southern California's touchdown - following kickoff, the Irish thunder-bolted to the Trojan x in just seven plays and then stocky McGee darted clear around end for his second touchdown. On that parade, Quarterback Johnny Lujack ambled 21 and a pass from Ratterman to Floyd Simmons covered 49 yards to Southern California's 12.

Even after the Irish sewed things up with their fourth touchdown on Cowhig's run, the hard-battling Trojans weren't finished. Bob Musick intercepted a pass by Ratterman with less than a minute left, deep in Notre Dame territory and battled back to Notre Dame's two before two Irish tacklers dragged him down. A penalty for too much time probably cost the Trojans a second touchdown, something no other team had accomplished, because the gun sounded seconds later.

Extra-point Specialist Fred Earley converted only two of his four conversions tries.

This 18th renewal of a bitter intersectional rivalry which now stands 11 to 6 in favor of the Irish with one tie was savagely fought despite the one-sidedness of the statistics. Southern California's big forwards jarred Irish backs into fumbling seven times. Time and again, players of both sides were knocked cold in the rousing melee.

McGee's "break-away" effectiveness was vividly demonstrated in the fact he carried the ball only six times for an amazing net gain of 146 yards.

Notre Dame, in brushing aside Southern California, Tulane, Northwestern, Navy, Iowa, Purdue, Pittsburgh and Illinois, while playing Army to a standoff, rolled up 281 points for the season. Four opponents scored a touchdown apiece for a 24 point total, but six-pointers by Illinois, Iowa and Purdue were against Irish reserves.

Notre Dame's 1941 unbeaten record was identical with eight wins and a scoreless go against Army.

Southern California, a Rose Bowl candidate until defeated by U. C. L. A. 13 to 6 last week, finished with five victories and four defeats, two of them decisive trimmings by midwestern teams. Ohio State trounced the Trojans, 21-0 early in the season.

The lineups:

Southern Cal.	Pos.	Notre Dame
Essick	LE	Skoglund
Ferraro	LT	Connor
J. Musick	LG	Fischer
McCormick	C	Strohmeyer
Garzoni	RG	Mastrangelo
Aguirre	RT	Czarobski
Callanan	RE	Zilly
Lillywhite	QB	Lujack
Doll	LH	T. Brennan

DUKE AT TOP WITH THREE ON ASSOCIATED PRESS ALL-SOUTHERN

Players from eight schools compose the 1946 All-Southern Conference football team selected by the Associated Press on the recommendations of coaches and sports writers. Duke University topped the others by placing three, Kelly Mote, end; Al DeRogatis, tackle, and Bill Milner, guard. From William and Mary come two, Jack Cloud, back, and Knox Ramsey, guard. Others on the team are Charlie Justice of North Carolina, back; Nick Sacrinty of Wake Forest, back; Howard Turner of North Carolina State, back; William Chipley of Washington and Lee, end; John Maskas of Virginia Tech, tackle, and Bryant Meeks of South Carolina, center. GAME ENDS that hadn't won a game since it nosed out Villanova in its season opener and a 32-point underdog among the betting boys today.

But there has been no collegiate struggle with more upsets per square yard than this one in the 56 years it has been on the books. And today, the Middies almost made the biggest one of all happen.

They drove 82 yards between Army's first and second touchdowns for one of their own, that put them behind only 7-6, with the second quarter started. Then they clawed and dug and inched their way 78 yards more in the third period, and finally, capitalizing on a queer quarterbacking stunt by the usually errorless Arnold Tucker late in the third period, they clicked for 35 yards in a hurry for their last marker early in the fourth.

And in Reaves (Base) Baysinger, tall, slim Syracuse, N. Y., quarterback who never did any signal-calling before the Notre Dame clash three weeks ago, and Bill Hawkins of Richmond, Va., fresh off the hospital list, they had the scoring punch. Base scored the first marker on a one-yard sneak through the line, and Hawkins hit the jackpot for the second one, from two yards out.

And for the final one, for which they got the opportunity when Tucker called for a fourth-down rush well in his own territory and Blanchard failed to make the distance they unfurled Bill Earl, a tiny 160-pound pitcher from Arlington, Va. Bill tossed a short one which Leon Bramlett, the Navy captain from Clarksdale, Miss., caught in the end zone.

After the first touchdown, Bob Van Summern's place-kick was blocked. Hawkins tried the other two but he was wide on one and had the other partly blocked.

Then in the fading moments came the biggest thrill of all. An Army kick carried only to the Navy 33. Pete Williams, a Miami, Fla., 170-pounder whose specialty is running the ends, picked up nine yards in two tries. Baysinger, whose well-mixed signal-calling kept the Cadets baffled most of the day, passed 18 yards to Phil Ryan. Lynn Chewing went to work then, and his last lope was for 21 yards to the Army 3.

The Cadets, with the clock ticking off the final seconds, stopped Chewning twice more, the Navy drew a five yard penalty for delaying the game. Williams whipped around right end to bring it back to the four, but that was all old father time allowed them. There were some who said the clock should have been stopped on one shovel pass in this series, but the officials ruled otherwise.

Navy started out as if it was going to make trouble. Taking the opening kickoff, the Middies clicked for two first downs to the Army 31 with the opening kickoff.

That was the start of a wide-open first half which had hair-raiser written all over it. After a few minutes, Baysinger fumbled and Art Gerometta, the big-shouldered Army guard from Gary, Ind., landed on it on the Cadet 38. Tucker hit Davis, in motion on the Navy 14, with a 46-yard pitch, then Shoveled to Glenn again and the slippery speedster from California went wide around his own left end for the initial six-pointer.

Navy took the next kickoff on its own 18 and never let go until it had its touchdown, with Baysinger slipping through the middle for the last few inches two plays after the second quarter began and right after he had heaved 33 yards to Bramlett, who was hauled down by Davis just short of the touchdown.

That got the Army's dander up, and after Blanchard brought the next kickoff back 16 yards, the Cadets drove 81 yards in seven plays for the second score. Davis got 16 on two tries; Tucker passed to Glenn near midfield, and Blanchard then sliced between his own right tackle and guard, cut over to the right side line and just out galloped the entire Navy back field for 52 yards.

Navy started to roll again with the next kickoff, but was stopped when Bill Yeomans, the Army sub-center from Glendale, Ariz., intercepted a Baysinger pitch on the Middie 39. Three plays later it was touchdown again, as Davis tossed the final 27 yards to his All-American playmate in the end zone.

Middie Coach Tom Hamilton must have fed his players raw meat between halves, because they came out a-winging.

Blanchard's failure to pick up the few inches needed for first down late in the final period on a fourth-down bull into the Navy line set up the Middies' final frolic. Earl came scampering into the game and pitched to Art Markel, the regular left end from Los Angeles, on the Cadet 22. Hawkins slipped through the middle for 17, and on fourth down, with the ball on the Army 3, Earl reached Bramlett in touchdown-land with his pitch.

Thus nine of Army's starting 11—headed by D. and B.—wound up their careers with a win, squeaky as it was. It's the end of the road for them, and for a football era that probably won't be seen again in a long, long time—if ever. For it's the end of the wartime football that loaded the two service schools with talent at the expense of many of the other colleges.

As for Navy, with most of its present squad returning, it may mark the beginning of a run in which the Middies can catch up somewhat on their Army rivals. Only it's a safe bet that Coach Hamilton will be finding himself a place-kicker for those extra points before next year.

NORTHWESTERN DEMONS TROUNCE STEVE F. AUSTIN

NATCHITOCHES, La., Nov. 30.—(AP)—The Northwestern Louisiana State College Demons closed their season today by trouncing the Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks of Nacodoches, Texas 27 to 6.

The Demons scored twice in the second and pushed over a touchdown in each of the third and fourth quarters.

D. White, fullback tallied twice for the winners, Wilson, sub fullback, and Center Tarleton once each. Halfback Wilson scored for the losers. Tinsley place-kicked three extra points for the Demons.

The winners picked up 20 first downs, gained 215 yards net by rushing and 144 on passes. The Lumberjacks could rack up only six first downs, 24 yards rushing and 132 through the air.

BEGIN PLANS FOR LEGION BASEBALL

Birth Certificates On Eligible Boys Must Be Obtained Before January 1

Advanced plans for the American Legion baseball program for 1947 in northeast Louisiana, Monroe and West Monroe in particular, will be undertaken this week as District Chairman E. B. Todd, Monroe, yesterday said he was advising all towns planning teams to "get the birth certificates straight on your players" before January 1.

The reason for the December hustle is to get birth certificates on all prospective players before the January 1 deadline so there will be no question of their eligibility.

Legion baseball eligibility rules read:

"A boy, to be eligible for American Legion baseball, must have been born in the year 1930 or thereafter. A boy who became 17 years old prior to January 1, 1947, is not eligible.

"He must have a birth certificate recorded with the bureau of vital statistics of the department of health or a recognized birth recording agency of city, county or state by January 1, 1947.

"The Legion does not recognize baptism papers, hospital certificates or delayed birth certificates obtained in 1947."

Todd warned that although a boy might actually be in the eligible age group he will not be permitted to play under Legion rules if the obtaining of his certificate is delayed until after January 1.

Last summer six teams campaigned in the northeast state district from Monroe-West Monroe, Farmerville, Winnsboro, Ruston, Columbia, and Bastrop. The Monroe-West Monroe entry met and eliminated Farmerville in the district title playoff but in turn was eliminated by Shreveport in the state semi-finals.

MONROE CAUSES DELAY OF LEAGUE'S MEETING

GREENVILLE, Miss., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Judge Emmet Harty, president of the Cotton States Baseball League, announcing late today that a meeting scheduled here tomorrow for reorganizing the league has been postponed until Sunday, Dec. 8.

Harty said the delay was decided upon in order to allow additional time for Monroe, La., to determine whether that city will enter a team.

He said further time had been requested by Saul Adler, president of the Monroe club.

Cities expected to send representatives to the meeting in addition to Monroe are El Dorado, Helena, Hot Springs, Pine Bluff, Greenville, Greenwood, and Clarksdale.

LAST HALF WAVE

Tulane touchdown in the second period by runing back a kickoff 50 yards, and throwing passes of 37 and 9 yards, the latter to Ed Heider for a touchdown.

In the third and fourth periods, he completed tosses to Heider good for 31 and three yards for scores, and went over once himself after working the ball to the 18 with his running and throwing.

Tittle's first touchdown toss, to Coates for 31 yards, gave L. S. U. a 7 to 0 first period edge. In the second quarter orgy, he hit Mel Lyle for 44 yards and Al Heroman for 20. Tittle set up another score in that period by passing for 17 yards to Ed Lindsey on the four. Heroman scooted over.

Coates' two successful passes, both in the third, were to Jeff Adams for 16 yards and to Dale Gray for 24.

Heider placekicked three points after touchdown for Tulane, and Holly Heard made good five out of six for L. S. U.

Cason's two long runs were sensational sprints. He took a punt on the six, squirmed through a flock of would-be tacklers, picked up his interference and went all the way. But an L. S. U. player was caught clipping, and the ball was put into play on the Tulane 36.

Cason took a kickoff on the three, and blasted his way through one wall of Greenies to go all the way. But he stepped out of bounds on the L. S. U. 41.

Fortier first brought the spectators to their feet with his return of a kickoff in the second period when he threatened to break into the open, although he made 18 yards.

After that he was a Thunderbolt. Before the second quarter was over, Fortier sped back 50 yards with a kickoff to the Louisiana State 49.

He connected with a pass good for 37 yards to Sammy Edwards, then found Heider with his first pay off toss.

On a 60-yard drive in the third, Fortier completed passes to Heider for 13 yards and to Ken Tarzetti for 14 before he threw a touchdown effort to Heider.

Also in the third, Fortier ran back a kickoff 32 yards to the Tulane 47. He and Bill Svoboda got together on a pass to the Louisiana 31. Once the fourth period started, Fortier ran for a touchdown in two plays, the first for 13 yards.

A 22-yard jaunt by Fortier to the for-yard line set up the final Tulane touchdown.

Tulane still was trying desperately in the final stages.

The Greenies were ahead of L. S. U. on the statistics, gaining 120 yards rushing to 101, and making 207 yards on passes to 163.

The lineup:

Tulane	Pos.	L. S. U.
Tarzetti	LE	Lindsey
Tessier	LT	Champagne

Hardin Indians Roll Over N. J. C. Gridders, 33 To 0

HEAVIER TEXANS PROVE TOO MUCH FOR MALONEMEN

Lee Dunaway Suffers Severe Injury In Charity Game At Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Nov. 30.—The Hardin Indians of Wichita Falls used their superior weight, two fancy punt returns, a blocked punt, and a pair of 50-yard reverse end runs to defeat an out-manned Northeast Junior College Indian eleven from Monroe, La., here today, 33 to 0.

The game, played for the benefit of the Shriners' crippled children's fund, attracted a sellout crowd of about 12,000.

But the game was a much harder fought contest than the score indicated, and the Louisiana Redskins were getting nothing but compliments from the Wichita Falls fans tonight for the brand of football they played.

Loss of the game, however, was not the hardest blow suffered by the visiting Tribesmen who left for the return trip home tonight leaving behind Lee Dunaway, guard from Burkburnett, Tex., who was receiving treatment in a local hospital for a severe injury suffered in the game.

Coach James L. Malone remained behind to stay with Dunaway who was believed to have a hip fracture although the full extent of his injury will not be determined until tomorrow morning. Dunaway was the only left guard here with the visitors who left two other guards, John Masenko and Darrell Foreman, at home with injuries.

It was anybodys ball game until the last play of the first quarter when Barry, Hardin substitute back, got loose to return an N. J. C. punt for the first touchdown of the game to send Hardin out in front.

Williams, fast-stepping Hardin left halfback, duplicated the feat with another punt return for a touchdown in the second quarter and a blocked N. J. C. punt gave Hardin another. Big Boy Bigham, 240-pound tackle, blocked the N. J. C. punt in the visitors' endzone and the ball was covered for a touchdown.

The only Hardin scores from "honest to goodness" scrimmage by the locals were the last two, and both were almost identical as Stillman, 200-pound left end, took the ball on each occasion to go 50 yards the first time and 55 yards on the second trip for touchdowns on reverses around end.

OUACHITA QUINT TO OPEN SEASON WITH OAK RIDGE

Lions Launch Basketball Season In Game Here Tuesday Night

With their football season finished, the Lions of Ouachita Parish High School launch their 1946-47 basketball campaign here Tuesday night against Oak Ridge High School's quintet, it was announced last night by Coach Herbert H. Holliman. The game is scheduled for 8 o'clock in the O. P. H. S. gymnasium.

Coach Holliman announced his Lion cagers would tackle a schedule of about 20 games this season in addition to appearances in at least two tournaments. Ouachita will meet three other high school rivals before the Christmas holidays and then go into action after the first of the year against the best high school quints in north Louisiana.

In addition to the opener with Oak Ridge, the Lions also have dates with Calhoun, Okaloosa, Ruston, Byrd of Shreveport, Fair Park at Shreveport, Bolton of Alexandria, Winnsboro, and Bastrop, meeting each team at least twice. Tournaments which the Lions already plan to attend are the annual Northeast Junior College Invitational Tournament February 7 and 8, and the North Louisiana Rally at Ruston later in February.

The Oak Ridge team has been working out for several weeks and will come here in good shape for the game. The Lions reported for basketball practices only last Monday.

Coach Holliman is planning to carry a 15-player squad this year, almost double the eight-player squad he kept available last season, but he has only two regulars back from the past campaign and only one of them will be ready to play Tuesday.

Gone are Maurice "Red" Rawls, C. J. Fontana, and Billie Collie. Ernest "Buster" King, a regular last year, is suffering a knee injury received in football and won't be able to play for a while, thus leaving only Clyde "Sonny" Webb from last season's quintet ready to play again.

Squadmen returning from the '45-46 club are Kendall Bailey, Gerald Matkins, and Winfred Rawls.

ROSE BOWL-BOUND UCLANS DEFEAT NEBRASKA, 18 TO 0

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Rose Bowl-bound U. C. L. A. ended a perfect grid campaign today—the first in its 29-year history with an 18 to 0 triumph over the Cornhuskers of Nebraska in Memorial Coliseum.

Scoring two touchdowns in the second quarter and one more in the final period, the Uclans finished the 1946 schedule with 10 straight wins, no ties, and a total of 313 points to 72 for their opponents.

Thus the slate was clean for U. C. L. A.'s clash in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day with the University of Illinois, whose scouts saw little new in the free-wheeling Bruin machine today.

A crowd of 52,558 fans saw Coach Bert Labrucherie use his best speed burners. The Bruins rolled up yardage by the mouthful against a stubborn Cornhusker squad.

COTTON BOWL INVITATION GOES TO L. S. U.

Bayou Bengals Already Being Put In Favorite Role For Dallas Game

DALLAS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Jimmy Stewart, executive secretary of the Southwest Conference, announced here today that Louisiana State University and the University of Arkansas would meet in the Cotton Bowl here New Years day.

Arkansas, in gaining a share of the Southwest championship—its first title glory in 13 years—won five conference games and lost one. In full season play, the Razorbacks won six tilts, lost three and tied one. Two of their defeats were close. They lost to Mississippi 9-7 and to Tulsa 14-13. The most decisive licking handed the Razorbacks was 20-0, by Texas.

Louisiana State edged Rice 7-6 in the opening game of the season on a muddy field. The Tigers swept aside Mississippi State and Texas A. and M. before losing to Georgia Tech 26-7. Then followed victories over Vanderbilt, Mississippi, Alabama, Miami, Fordham and Tulane.

The fact that L. S. U. beat Mississippi 34-21 and Mississippi defeated Arkansas probably will make the Tigers favorites in the Cotton Bowl.

Arkansas, as co-champion of the Southwest Conference, is the host team. It entered the Cotton Bowl last week when Rice, tied with Arkansas for first, withdrew any claim it might have had and accepted a bid to the Orange Bowl.

The conference by unanimous vote today granted Rice permission to play in the Miami classic.

Louisiana State today accepted the invitation as visiting team. L. S. U. won nine games and lost one—the lone defeat being to Georgia Tech 26-7. Among its victims was Rice which also lost to Arkansas. In fact, it was Arkansas' 7-0 win over Rice that gave the former a tie for the conference title.

Louisiana State is a bowl veteran. It has appeared in three Sugar Bowl classics and once played in the Orange Bowl. Its record is one victory in the four appearances, the Tigers having defeated Texas A. and M. in the 1944 Orange Bowl. They lost to Texas Christian in 1936 and to Santa Clara in 1937 and 1938 in the Sugar Bowl.

Arkansas has appeared in one bowl. That was the Blue Bonnet Bowl—forerunner of the Cotton Bowl—in 1934 when the Razorbacks played a scoreless tie with Centenary.

This will be the eleventh annual Cotton Bowl game. Last year Texas beat Missouri 40-27 in the Dallas New Year's Day classic.

TINY TEXAN

"coachless" Irish were in piling up their eighth victory against a scoreless tie with Army for the season, they couldn't stop the inspired Trojans from scoring the first touchdown against Notre Dame's first stringers and making it a 13 to 6 ball game until the final period.

McGee, whose first name Leahy couldn't recall for sports writers in early practices, streaked 77 yards for the first Irish score in the second quarter, seconds after he galloped 50 yards on another break-away. The Longview, Tex., fireball launched a 13-point Irish attack in the final period with an eight-yard payoff jaunt around end.

With Leahy at home, bed-ridden with a cold and "nervous exhaustion," the Irish ploughed to 26 first downs against Southern California's nine and an amazing 517 yards by rushing against 108.

Yet, it took McGee's phantom-like flitting to spark them to their brace of six-pointers in the second and fourth period.

The second Notre Dame touchdown was fashioned of a 22-yard pass from reserve Quarter George Ratterman to Substitute End Leon Hart, while the final score in the last quarter came on second string Halfback Gerry Cowhig's 13-yard sprint.

Southern California, held beyond the 50 the first half, exploded for a 45-yard touchdown drive late in the third period when Johnny Naumu squirmed over from the one-foot stripe.

It took a Notre Dame pass interference on a goal-line toss from George Murphy intended for Naumu to set up the touchdown. Naumu missed what then seemed an important placement try for point. That shoved Notre Dame's lead to 13-6, but the Irish then loosed their full offensive fury.

Starting on their 12 after Southern California's touchdown - following kickoff, the Irish thunder-bolted to the Trojan 8 in just seven plays and then stocky McGee darted clear around end for his second touchdown. On that parade, Quarterback Johnny Lujack ambled 21 and a pass from Ratterman to Floyd Simmons covered 49 yards to Southern California's 12.

Even after the Irish sewed things up with their fourth touchdown on Cowhig's run, the hard-battling Trojans weren't finished. Bob Musick intercepted a pass by Ratterman with less than a minute left, deep in Notre Dame territory and battled back to Notre Dame's two before two Irish tacklers dragged him down. A penalty for too much time probably cost the Trojans a second touchdown, something no other team had accomplished, because the gun sounded seconds later.

Extra-point Specialist Fred Earley converted only two of his four conversions tries.

This 18th renewal of a bitter intersectional rivalry which now stands 11 to 6 in favor of the Irish with one tie was savagely fought despite the one-sidedness of the statistics. Southern California's big forwards jarred Irish backs into fumbling seven times. Time and again, players of both sides were knocked cold in the rousing melee.

McGee's "break-away" effectiveness was vividly demonstrated in the fact he carried the ball only six times for an amazing net gain of 146 yards.

Notre Dame, in brushing aside Southern California, Tulane, Northwestern, Navy, Iowa, Purdue, Pittsburgh and Illinois, while playing Army to a standoff, rolled up 281 points for the season. Four opponents scored a touchdown apiece for a 24 point total, but six-pointers by Illinois, Iowa and Purdue were against Irish reserves.

Notre Dame's 1941 unbeaten record was identical with eight wins and a scoreless go against Army.

Southern California, a Rose Bowl candidate until defeated by U. C. L. A. 13 to 6 last week, finished with five victories and four defeats, two of them decisive trimmings by midwestern teams. Ohio State trounced the Trojans, 21-0 early in the season.

The lineups:

Southern Cal.	Pos.	Notre Dame
Essick	LE	Skoglund
Ferraro	LT	Connor
J. Musick	LG	Fischer
McCormick	C	Strohmeyer
Garzoni	RG	Mastrangelo
Aguirre	RT	Czarobski
Callanan	RE	Zilly
Lillywhite	QB	Lujack

Score by quarters:

Southern Cal.	0	0	6	0	—6
Notre Dame	0	13	0	13	—26

Southern California scoring: touchdown, Naumu, (sub for Doll).

Notre Dame scoring: touchdowns, McGee 2 (sub for Brennan), Hart (sub for Zilly), Cowhig (sub for Brennan,. Points after touchdown: Early (sub for Brennan) 2 (placements).

Substitutions:

Notre Dame: Ends, Limont, Hart Kosikowski, R. Walsh; tackles, Sullivan, Fallon, Urban; guards, Signaigo, Rovai, Meter, McBride; centers, Wendell, W. Walsh; backs, Ashbaugh, Ratterman, Simmons, McGee, Earley, Livingston, Swistowicz, Cowhig, Coutro, Slovak, Panelli, Clatt, Agnone.

Southern California: Ends, Hardy, Linehan, Cleary, Pourchot, Salata, Tolman, McKinney, Caro; tackles, Schutte, Romer, Perrin; guards, Bastian, Clark, Stall, Pierson, Semeniuk; centers, Conforti, Antles; backs, McCardle, Murphy, Riggs, Droblow, Garlin, Naumu, Kerns, Kirby, Ragan, Whitehead Oestreich, Rossetto.

NORTHWESTERN DEMONS TROUNCE STEVE F. AUSTIN

NATCHITOCHES, La., Nov. 30.—(AP)—The Northwestern Louisiana State College Demons closed their season today by trouncing the Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks of Nacodoches, Texas, 27 to 6.

The Demons scored twice in the second and pushed over a touchdown in each of the third and fourth quarters.

D. White, fullback, tallied twice for the winners, Wilson, sub fullback, and Center Tarleton, once each. Halfback Wilson scored for the losers. Tinsley place-kicked three extra points for the Demons.

The winners picked up 20 first downs, gained 215 yards net by rushing and 144 on passes. The Lumberjacks could rack up only six first downs, 24 yards rushing and 132 through the air.

'SHRIMP' GAME FRIDAY

GAME ENDS

that hadn't won a game since it nosed out Villanova in its season opener and a 32-point underdog among the betting boys today.

But there has been no collegiate struggle with more upsets per square yard than this one in the 56 years it has been on the books. And today, the Middies almost made the biggest one of all happen.

They drove 82 yards between Army's first and second touchdowns for one of their own, that put them behind only 7-6, with the second quarter started. Then they clawed and dug and inched their way 78 yards more in the third period, and finally, capitalizing on a queer quarterbacking stunt by the usually errorless Arnold Tucker late in the third period, they clicked for 35 yards in a hurry for their last marker early in the fourth.

And in Reaves (Base) Baysinger, tall, slim Syracuse, N. Y., quarterback who never did any signal-calling before the Notre Dame clash three weeks ago, and Bill Hawkins of Richmond, Va., fresh off the hospital list, they had the scoring punch. Base scored the first marker on a one-yard sneak through the line, and Hawkins hit the jackpot for the second one, from two yards out.

And for the final one, for which they got the opportunity when Tucker called for a fourth-down rush well in his own territory and Blanchard failed to make the distance they unfurled Bill Earl, a tiny 160-pound pitcher from Arlington, Va. Bill tossed a short one which Leon Bramlett, the Navy captain from Clarksdale, Miss., caught in the end zone.

After the first touchdown, Bob Van Summern's place-kick was blocked. Hawkins tried the other two but he was wide on one and had the other partly blocked.

Then in the fading moments came the biggest thrill of all. An Army kick carried only to the Navy 33. Pete Williams, a Miami, Fla., 170-pounder whose specialty is running the ends, picked up nine yards in two tries. Baysinger, whose well-mixed signal-calling kept the Cadets baffled most of the day, passed 18 yards to Phil Ryan. Lynn Chewing went to work then, and his last lope was for 21 yards to the Army 3.

The Cadets, with the clock ticking off the final seconds, stopped Chewning twice more, the Navy drew a five yard penalty for delaying the game. Williams whipped around right end to bring it back to the four, but that was all old father time allowed them. There were some who said the clock should have been stopped on one shovel pass in this series, but the officials ruled otherwise.

Navy started out as if it was going to make trouble. Taking the opening kickoff, the Middies clicked for two first downs to the Army 31 with the opening kickoff.

That was the start of a wide-open first half which had hair-raiser written all over it. After a few minutes, Baysinger fumbled and Art Gerometta, the big-shouldered Army guard from Gary, Ind., landed on it on the Cadet 38. Tucker hit Davis, in motion on the Navy 14, with a 46-yard pitch, then Shoveled to Glenn again and the slippery speedster from California went wide around his own left end for the initial six-pointer.

Navy took the next kickoff on its own 18 and never let go until it had its touchdown, with Baysinger slipping through the middle for the last few inches two plays after the second quarter began and right after he had heaved 33 yards to Bramlett, who was hauled down by Davis just short of the touchdown.

That got the Army's dander up, and after Blanchard brought the next kickoff back 16 yards, the Cadets drove 81 yards in seven plays for the second score. Davis got 16 on two tries; Tucker passed to Glenn near midfield, and Blanchard then sliced between his own right tackle and guard, cut over to the right side line and just out galloped the entire Navy back field for 52 yards.

Navy started to roll again with the next kickoff, but was stopped when Bill Yeomans, the Army sub-center from Glendale, Ariz., intercepted a Baysinger pitch on the Middie 39. Three plays later it was touchdown again, as Davis tossed the final 27 yards to his All-American playmate in the end zone.

Middie Coach Tom Hamilton must have fed his players raw meat between halves, because they came out a-winging.

Blanchard's failure to pick up the few inches needed for first down late in the final period on a fourth-down bull into the Navy line set up the Middies' final frolic. Earl came scampering into the game and pitched to Art Markel, the regular left end from Los Angeles, on the Cadet 22. Hawkins slipped through the middle for 17, and on fourth down, with the ball on the Army 3, Earl reached Bramlett in touchdown-land with his pitch.

Thus nine of Army's starting 11—headed by D. and B.—wound up their careers with a win, squeaky as it was. It's the end of the road for them, and for a football era that probably won't be seen again in a long, long time—if ever. For it's the end of the wartime football that loaded the two service schools with talent at the expense of many of the other colleges.

As for Navy, with most of its present squad returning, it may mark the beginning of a run in which the Middies can catch up somewhat on their Army rivals. Only it's a safe bet that Coach Hamilton will be finding himself a place-kicker for those extra points before next year.

BEGIN PLANS FOR LEGION BASEBALL

Birth Certificates On Eligible Boys Must Be Obtained Before January 1

Advanced plans for the American Legion baseball program for 1947 in northeast Louisiana, Monroe and West Monroe in particular, will be undertaken this week as District Chairman E. B. Todd, Monroe, yesterday said he was advising all towns planning teams to "get the birth certificates straight on your players" before January 1.

The reason for the December hustle is to get birth certificates on all prospective players before the January 1 deadline so there will be no question of their eligibility.

Legion baseball eligibility rules read:

"A boy, to be eligible for American Legion baseball, must have been born in the year 1930 or thereafter. A boy who became 17 years old prior to January 1, 1947, is not eligible.

"He must have a birth certificate recorded with the bureau of vital statistics of the department of health or a recognized birth recording agency of city, county or state by January 1, 1947.

"The Legion does not recognize baptism papers, hospital certificates or delayed birth certificates obtained in 1947."

Todd warned that although a boy might actually be in the eligible age group he will not be permitted to play under Legion rules if the obtaining of his certificate is delayed until after January 1.

Last summer six teams campaigned in the northeast state district from Monroe-West Monroe, Farmerville, Winnsboro, Ruston, Columbia, and Bastrop. The Monroe-West Monroe entry met and eliminated Farmerville in the district title playoff but in turn was eliminated by Shreveport in the state semi-finals.

MONROE CAUSES DELAY OF LEAGUE'S MEETING

GREENVILLE, Miss., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Judge Emmet Harty, president of the Cotton States Baseball League, announcing late today that a meeting scheduled here tomorrow for reorganizing the league has been postponed until Sunday, Dec. 8.

Harty said the delay was decided upon in order to allow additional time for Monroe, La., to determine whether that city will enter a team.

He said further time had been requested by Saul Adler, president of the Monroe club.

Cities expected to send representatives to the meeting in addition to Monroe are El Dorado, Helena, Hot Springs, Pine Bluff, Greenville, Greenwood, and Clarksdale.

Tulane touchdown in the second period by runing back a kickoff 50 yards, and throwing passes of 37 and 9 yards, the latter to Ed Heider for a touchdown.

In the third and fourth periods, he completed tosses to Heider good for 31 and three yards for scores, and went over once himself after working the ball to the 18 with his running and throwing.

Tittle's first touchdown toss, to Coates for 31 yards, gave L. S. U. a 7 to 0 first period edge. In the second quarter orgy, he hit Mel Lyle for 44 yards and Al Heroman for 20. Tittle set up another score in that period by passing for 17 yards to Ed Lindsey on the four. Heroman scooted over.

Coates' two successful passes, both in the third, were to Jeff Adams for 16 yards and to Dale Gray for 24.

Heider placekicked three points after touchdown for Tulane, and Holly Heard made good five out of six for L. S. U.

Cason's two long runs were sensational sprints. He took a punt on the six, squirmed through a flock of would-be tacklers, picked up his interference and went all the way. But an L. S. U. player was caught clipping, and the ball was put into play on the Tulane 36.

Cason took a kickoff on the three, and blasted his way through one wall of Greenies to go all the way. But he stepped out of bounds on the L. S. U. 41.

Fortier first brought the spectators to their feet with his return of a kickoff in the second period when he threatened to break into the open, although he made 18 yards.

After that he was a Thunderbolt. Before the second quarter was over, Fortier sped back 50 yards with a kickoff to the Louisiana State 49.

He connected with a pass good for 37 yards to Sammy Edwards, then found Heider with his first pay off toss.

On a 60-yard drive in the third, Fortier completed passes to Heider for 13 yards and to Ken Tarzetti for 14 before he threw a touchdown effort to Heider.

Also in the third, Fortier ran back a kickoff 32 yards to the Tulane 47. He and Bill Svoboda got together on a pass to the Louisiana 31. Once the fourth period started, Fortier ran for a touchdown in two plays, the first for 13 yards.

A 22-yard jaunt by Fortier to the for-yard line set up the final Tulane touchdown.

Tulane still was trying desperately in the final stages.

The Greenies were ahead of L. S. U. on the statistics, gaining 120 yards rushing to 101, and making 207 yards on passes to 163.

The lineup:

Score by quarters:

Tulane	0	7	6	14	—27
L. S. U.	7	21	13	0	—41

Tulane scoring: Touchdowns, Heider 3, Fortier (for Van Meter); points after touchdown, Heider 3 (placements).

Louisiana State scoring: Touchdowns, Heroman (for Sandifer) 2, Lyle (for Lindsey), Adams (for Richmond), Gray (for Coates), Coates. Points after touchdowns, Heard (for Land) 5, (placements).

Substitutions:

Tulane: Ends, Riggs, Partridge, Olsen, Edwards; tackles, Franz, Villars; guards, Igleheart, Brown; Balen, centers, Kotteman; backs, Fortier, McCain, Hoot, Campora, Keeton, Brignac, Key, Sims, Svoboda, Leierer.

Louisiana State: Ends, Bullock, Tullos, Baird; guards, Holland, Lewis, Bluntzer, Core, Miller; centers, Claunch, C. Schroll; backs, Landry, H. Collins, Burkett, B. Schroll, Toth, Cason, Heroman, Gray.

HEAVIER TEXANS PROVE TOO MUCH FOR MALONEMEN

Lee Dunaway Suffers Severe Injury In Charity Game At Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Nov. 30.—The Hardin Indians of Wichita Falls used their superior weight, two fancy punt returns, a blocked punt, and a pair of 50-yard reverse end runs to defeat an out-manned Northeast Junior College Indian eleven from Monroe, La., here today, 33 to 0.

The game, played for the benefit of the Shriners' crippled children's fund, attracted a sellout crowd of about 12,000.

But the game was a much harder fought contest than the score indicated, and the Louisiana Redskins were getting nothing but compliments from the Wichita Falls fans tonight for the brand of football they played.

Loss of the game, however, was not the hardest blow suffered by the visiting Tribesmen who left for the return trip home tonight leaving behind Lee Dunaway, guard from Burkburnett, Tex., who was receiving treatment in a local hospital for a severe injury suffered in the game.

Coach James L. Malone remained behind to stay with Dunaway who was believed to have a hip fracture although the full extent of his injury will not be determined until tomorrow morning. Dunaway was the only left guard here with the visitors who left two other guards, John Masenko and Darrell Foreman, at home with injuries.

It was anybodys ball game until the last play of the first quarter when Barry, Hardin substitute back, got loose to return an N. J. C. punt for the first touchdown of the game to send Hardin out in front.

Williams, fast-stepping Hardin left halfback, duplicated the feat with another punt return for a touchdown in the second quarter and a blocked N. J. C. punt gave Hardin another. Big Boy Bigham, 240-pound tackle, blocked the N. J. C. punt in the visitors' endzone and the ball was covered for a touchdown.

The only Hardin scores from "honest to goodness" scrimmage by the locals were the last two, and both were almost identical as Stillman, 200-pound left end, took the ball on each occasion to go 50 yards the first time and 55 yards on the second trip for touchdowns on reverses around end.

AMVET AUXILIARY MEETS

The auxiliary of the American Veterans of World War II will meet here tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock at Hotel Frances, it was announced last night.

OUACHITA QUINT TO OPEN SEASON WITH OAK RIDGE

Lions Launch Basketball Season In Game Here Tuesday Night

With their football season finished, the Lions of Ouachita Parish High School launch their 1946-47 basketball campaign here Tuesday night against Oak Ridge High School's quintet, it was announced last night by Coach Herbert H. Holliman. The game is scheduled for 8 o'clock in the O. P. H. S. gymnasium.

Coach Holliman announced his Lion cagers would tackle a schedule of about 20 games this season in addition to appearances in at least two tournaments. Ouachita will meet three other high school rivals before the Christmas holidays and then go into action after the first of the year against the best high school quints in north Louisiana.

In addition to the opener with Oak Ridge, the Lions also have dates with Calhoun, Okaloosa, Ruston, Byrd of Shreveport, Fair Park at Shreveport, Bolton of Alexandria, Winnsboro, and Bastrop, meeting each team at least twice. Tournaments which the Lions already plan to attend are the annual Northeast Junior College Invitational Tournament February 7 and 8, and the North Louisiana Rally at Ruston later in February.

The Oak Ridge team has been working out for several weeks and will come here in good shape for the game. The Lions reported for basketball practices only last Monday.

Coach Holliman is planning to carry a 15-player squad this year, almost double the eight-player squad he kept available last season, but he has only two regulars back from the past campaign and only one of them will be ready to play Tuesday.

Gone are Maurice "Red" Rawls, C. J. Fontana, and Billie Collie. Ernest "Buster" King, a regular last year, is suffering a knee injury received in football and won't be able to play for a while, thus leaving only Clyde "Sonny" Webb from last season's quintet ready to play again.

Squadmen returning from the '45-46 club are Kendall Bailey, Gerald Matkins, and Winfred Rawls.

ROSE BOWL-BOUND UCLANS DEFEAT NEBRASKA, 18 TO 0

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Rose Bowl-bound U. C. L. A. ended a perfect grid campaign today—the first in its 29-year history with an 18 to 0 triumph over the Cornhuskers of Nebraska in Memorial Coliseum.

Scoring two touchdowns in the second quarter and one more in the final period, the Uclans finished the 1946 schedule with 10 straight wins, no ties, and a total of 313 points to 72 for their opponents.

Thus the slate was clean for U. C. L. A.'s clash in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day with the University of Illinois, whose scouts saw little new in the free-wheeling Bruin machine today.

A crowd of 52,558 fans saw Coach Bert Labrucherie use his best speed burners. The Bruins rolled up yardage by the mouthful against a stubborn Cornhusker squad.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Profit taking on three successive upturns handicapped today's brief stock market and resulted in irregular trends for most departments.

Many customers cashed in for protection over the week-end. Others bought timidly on the idea that the national coal dispute, threatening virtually all lines of industry, would not be permitted to continue indefinitely. Some purchasing was traced to hopes that the list would negotiate its usual December rally. The flow of pleasing dividends and earnings was helpful but conservatives inclined to caution because of the thought that this was "water over the dam." Tax selling tapered although there was enough of it to stall individual issues.

Prices slipped here and there after a fairly steady and quiet opening. Initial gains running to a point or so were reduced or converted into declines in a number of cases near the close. Both bids and offers were timid and transfers for the two hours dwindled to around 400,000 shares.

Weakening grain and cotton futures tended to chill enthusiasm in the share division. Bonds were relatively steady.

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Cotton futures were lower today, dropping to losses of $3.00 a bale. After early irregularity heavy selling was attracted by weakness in grains.

There also was a fair amount of hedge selling reported and with the demand from mills limited, the setback met with very little opposition. In early dealings the distant positions attracted a fair amount of commission house buying. This demand was touched off by the 62 point increase in the mid-November cotton parity price, as compared with a month ago.

Futures closed 10 cents to $1.15 a bale lower than the previous close.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Profit taking on three successive upturns handicapped today's brief stock market and resulted in irregular trends for most departments.

Many customers cashed in for protection over the week-end. Others bought timidly on the idea that the national coal dispute, threatening virtually all lines of industry, would not be permitted to continue indefinitely. Some purchasing was traced to hopes that the list would negotiate its usual December rally. The flow of pleasing dividends and earnings was helpful but conservatives inclined to caution because of the thought that this was "water over the dam." Tax selling tapered although there was enough of it to stall individual issues.

Prices slipped here and there after a fairly steady and quiet opening. Initial gains running to a point or so were reduced or converted into declines in a number of cases near the close. Both bids and offers were timid and transfers for the two hours dwindled to around 400,000 shares.

Weakening grain and cotton futures tended to chill enthusiasm in the share division. Bonds were relatively steady.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Stocks: Mixed; profit cashing stalls some leaders. Bonds: Steady; new A T. & T. Debentures in demand. Cotton: Erratic; profit taking cuts early gains.

CHICAGO—Wheat: Sharply lower, see greater domestic supplies. Corn: Weak; cash market down. Oats: Weak; cash grain lower. Hogs: Nominally steady; top $25.50. Cattle: Nominally steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Grains broke sharply under heavy selling on the Chicago Board of Trade today, although the market rallied slightly from extreme lows scored during the first hour of trading.

Wheat closed 3 3/4-5 1/4 cents lower, January $2.04, corn was off 2 to 2 1/2 cents, January $1.28 3/4-1.29, and oats finished 2 to 2 7/8 lower, December 78 1/4-1/8.

Wheat: Jan. 2.04; March 1.97 1/4; May 1.87 1/2; July 1.71 3/4. Corn: Jan. 1.28 3/4-1.29; March 1.27 7/8-1.28 1/8; May 1.27-1.27 1/8; July 1.26-1.26 1/8. Oats: Dec. 78 1/4-1/8; March 70 1/8-1/4; May 66 5/8-1/2.

COTTON

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Cotton futures declined here today under week-end long liquidation and selling in sympathy with weakness in grain. Closing prices were steady 70 cents to $1.55 a bale lower.

SPOT COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed steady and unchanged. Sales 1,296. Low middling 25.50, middling 30.90, good middling 31.30. Receipts 12,184; stock 226,386.

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Cotton futures were lower today, dropping to losses of $3.00 a bale. After early irregularity heavy selling was attracted by weakness in grains.

There also was a fair amount of hedge selling reported and with the demand from mills limited, the setback met with very little opposition. In early dealings the distant positions attracted a fair amount of commission house buying. This demand was touched off by the 62 point increase in the mid-November cotton parity price, as compared with a month ago.

Futures closed 10 cents to $1.15 a bale lower than the previous close.

FAMED MAGICIAN WILL PERPLEX

American Radio Relay League Plans Big Saturday Party

Hold your hats, fellows, and keep your minds blank! There is a magician in action!

This is just a word of warning to those who attend the banquet of the Ouachita Valley Amateur Radio Club on Saturday night, December 7, 7:30 p.m. at La Casa Tea Room, located in the 1400 block of South Grand Street, Monroe. A famous magician, who has played to large audiences all over the world, will be on hand to amaze the credulous ones and to present entertainment to all. And, just to be sure he does not make the food disappear before the crowd can get to it, everyone is requested to be there in plenty of time for the opening remarks of the very capable master of ceremonies, Pat Lynch.

The plates are guaranteed to satisfy the appetites of the most demanding—barbecued chicken with all the trimmings. Reservations should be made at the Economy Drug Store or Weaks Supply Company.

The principal speaker of the occasion will be Arthur G. Bailey, professor of physics at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute. And on the program also will be a round-table discussion of pertinent questions of the moment regarding amateur radio, magic to amaze all and the awarding of prizes to the lucky ones.

LIGHTS CAMPAIGN PROVES EFFECTIVE

Decrease In Number Of Arrests In State Police Safety Drive

That the current renewal of the state police campaign against improper lights on motor vehicles is effective was indicated by the weekly report of Troop F of the Monroe post which showed the number of arrests to have dropped to 25 from the 40 of the previous seven days. The safety drive will be continued, the report said.

The list of drivers charged during the week included Berry Roberts, 20, of West Monroe, route 1; W. W. Pace, 60, of 210 Claiborne street, West Monroe, H. G. Donovan, 41, of 211 Hoover street, West Monroe; W. N. Heflin, 32, of Chatham; M. C. Chambless, 18, of Eros; W. T. White, 210 North Ninth street, West Monroe; L. C. Patton, 39, of Jonesboro; George E. Stanley, 19, of Epps; Robert Watson, 30, of Oak Grove, S. G. Whitton, 21, of Sterlington; J. E. Savage, 36, of Collinston; George S. Tarleton, Jr., 19, of 712 Jackson street, Monroe; Lee R. Alexander, 26, of Rayville; W. A. Bennett, 40, of 2917 Gordon avenue, Monroe; N. R. Gilmore, 21, of West Monroe, route 2, C. N. Colvin, 34, of Waverly; C. A. Barfield, 41, of West Monroe, route 4; C. M. Boyd, 38, of Choudrant; R. J. Browning, 41, of West Monroe, and W. C. Mullins, 21, of Bastrop, and the following Negroes: Boyd Satcher, 38, of Jonesboro; John Nelson, 31, of El Dorado, Ark.; Jesse Bilberry, 19, and Otha Lumsey, 28, of Farmerville, and Richard Gardner, 40, of 1705 Wood street, Monroe.

Troopers arrested three persons for drunk driving during the week. They were Raymond Phillips, 20, of Oak Grove, who was charged with auto theft; Booker T. Burkhalter, 32, Negro, of Winnsboro, who was booked additionally for carrying a concealed weapon and operating a vehicle with no brakes, and Ike Harris, 44, Negro, of Mer Rouge.

Other arrests reported were: G. R. Parnell, 21, of Choudrant, speeding and driving a car without a registration certificate; Robert Bose, 39, and Matthew Green, 30, Negroes, of El Dorado, Ark., operating overwidth truck, Booker T. Washington, 18, of Lake Providence, burglary, and C. L. Vines, 39, of Newellton, improper brakes and causing property damage.

LAFOURCHE SWAMP TRAPPER REWARDED

The young trapper whose report of seeing a circling plane and hearing a crash in Lafourche swamp on Saturday night November 16, led to the finding of the bodies of two Shreveport fliers, was James W. Berry, who has a camp 2 1/2 miles from the scene of the tragedy.

Berry identified himself when he appeared at Central Fire Station here and received the $20 reward left for him with Captain M. M. Smith by a brother of one of the victims.

THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—What can the government do to get the miners back to the mines in a hurry?

Apparently, nothing more than is being done right now—trying John L. Lewis on a contempt of court charge.

There have been a number of suggestions that go like this:

1. President Truman should make a radio appeal to the coal miners to go back to the pits.

2. Volunteers should go into the mines—if the miners won't return—and get out the coal, perhaps under the supervision of army engineers.

So far the White House has kept a discreet silence about any radio broadcast by President Truman to the miners.

There are probably two very good reasons why Mr. Truman would be reluctant at this moment to ask the miners to go back to work:

1. The government's first move against Lewis was to get a court order for him not to end the mining of coal. Because he didn't obey that, he's on trial now.

The president would have to do a little thinking before he made a direct appeal to the miners:

If they ignored him and stayed away, it would be a pretty sickening blow to the prestige of the presidency and the government.

But before they heeded such an appeal from the president and went back to work, the miners would have to do a little thinking, too:

It would mean abandoning Lewis at the moment when he was having the toughest fight of his career. It would mean this, too:

How much influence would Lewis have in the future when he tried to bargain with private owners or the government for his miners?

The thing that gives Lewis his greatest strength is the complete support he gets from the miners in backing up his demands.

But suppose only some of the miners listened to the president and went back to the pits:

The rest would look on them as strikebreakers and probably throw them out of the union—and a chance of making a living—when all this is settled.

As to getting volunteers to work in the mines if the coal miners refused to go back to their jobs, government people who know coal mining point out:

Mining is a hazardous job. A number of states require apprenticeship before giving a man a certificate to work in the mines.

To be fairly safe a coal miner—whisked down into the earth about 800 feet and transported miles underground in electric cars—must know something about gases and explosives, since they use dynamite.

They might work under the supervision of army engineers. But there's a good chance many of these amateurs would be killed since hundreds of experienced miners are killed every year.

The government can take other steps against Lewis—such as trying to prosecute him under the Smith-Connally act which forbids inciting to strike against the government—but—.

When Attorney-General Clark was asked if he were going to do that, he said he thought the government would wait for the outcome of the present charge against Lewis for contempt of court.

OPTIMIST CLUB'S MEETING IS HELD

The Optimist Club of Greater Monroe had as guest speaker Pete Peevy, manager of Greater Monroe's Municipal Airport, which was recently leased from the government with the understanding that in case of an emergency the government can take it back over twenty-four hours after notice of such action.

The field runways and hangars rank third in the south and it is hoped to construct a big municipal building that will put the port on a par with some of the larger airports in the south. He said that with the help and push of everyone interested in aviation this field can become a tremendous success.

Adjutant Charles Stratford reported that the first members of the Junior Optimists would be held Friday night.

Sylvian Masur and R. T. Lolley were clipped by the "Clipper" for advertising their business at the meeting.

Average per capita income in the U. S. South rose from $337 in 1940 to $791 per year in 1945.

TWO LEAVE FOR CHICAGO MEET

Mrs. Audrey Dawson And Betty Aldridge Go To Chicago 4-H Congress

Mrs. Audrey Dawson, assistant home demonstration agent, accompanied by Miss Betty Laura Aldridge, state-wide winner in a party dress contest, left Monroe for Chicago, Ill., to attend, with a thousand American boys and girls, the pick of the nation's farmsteads, the 25th congress of 4-H Clubs which opens there this week. They left Saturday morning for Jackson, Miss., to join others from Louisiana, 26 in total numbers, for the trip north.

Mrs. Dawson was elected for the trip by virtue of her outstanding work in 4-H Clubs and in her cooperation with state extension leaders and the honor is regarded as a most deserved recognition.

The 4-H Clubs are part of the national system of extension work in agriculture and home-making in which the Department of Agriculture, land grant colleges and counties participate. Any boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 21 who agree to learn by doing may enroll.

Chicago is prepared to welcome its favorite convention throng. The boys and girls who attend the congress will represent some 1,700,000 members of 76,000 4-H Clubs located in virtually all counties and parishes of the United States and also in Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. The congress, held annually, is sponsored by the national committee on boys and girls clubs. The committee is composed of business and professional people.

The young delegates are selected regionally for best performance in raising meat animals, growing field crops and gardens, making clothing and nutritious meals, community service and leadership. They receive scholarships, savings bonds, gold medals and other prizes for outstanding achievements.

LIQUOR SHOP BURGLARY CONFESSED BY NEGRO

Burglary of Tony's Shoe Shop and Liquor Package Store at 608 DeSiard street Wednesday night was cleared by Police Capt. Frank Pettit and Officer L. G. Parker yesterday with the arrest of Clement P. Duplessis, 24-year-old Negro of Buras, Plaquemines parish.

The officers reported the Negro had signed a confession in which he said he had broken into the store at 7:30 p. m. and carried away a case of 24 pints of whiskey which he had sold to Negroes whose names he did not know. Duplessis was transferred to parish prison to await arraignment in criminal district court on a burglary charge.

LESS COTTON GINNED

MARION, La., Nov. 30.—(Special)—According to a report just released by Thomas J. Smith, of Lillie, special agent of the bureau of the census, 2,175 bales of cotton were ginned in Union parish from the 1946 crop prior to November 1, as compared with 3,912 bales ginned from the 1945 crop prior to November 1, 1945.

WILL SHOW FILMS OF MARINE COMBAT

A public showing of marine combat films will be presented here Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the Central Grammar School. The show is being sponsored by the Northeast Louisiana detachment of the Marine Corps League as part of its regular meeting night program.

The films chosen for the evening are considered some of the best taken by marine combat photographers. These movies, carefully edited by Warner Brothers Studios, portray the struggles and gallantry of the marine divisions in action through some of the bitterest fighting in history. The victorius assault in the Marianas and the bloody battle for Iwo Jima will be presented in technicolor. Every campaign from Guadalcanal to Okinawa is represented in Warner Brothers "170th Anniversary of the U. S. Marine Corps," which is to be the feature show of the evening.

Business meeting of the detachment will precede the movies. The meeting is to be held in the Ouachita parish courthouse on the second floor at 7:30 o'clock. Adjutant and Paymaster, George Tidwell of Monroe, urges all members to be present for the report by F. A. Zachary, member of the local detachment and chairman of the Veterans Regional Office Committee.

Mrs. Doughty Hostess To The Opera Club

Mrs. A. M. Serex Tells Of French Opera As It Was Presented In New Orleans

It was a rare privilege, indeed, that was granted the Opera Club when members heard Mrs. A. M. Serex tell in her own inimitable way the history of Charles Ambroise Thomas' brilliant opera, "Mignon," in which she sang the title role in New Orleans. She also charmed her listeners by giving two overtures and several arias from the work.

Celebrating the anniversary of "Mignon" which appeared in November eighty years ago, was the inspiration for the local group's study of the opera and its composer at a meeting in the attractive home of Mrs. A. R. Doughty with Mrs. Duncan Smith serving as co-hostess.

Mrs. Serex, known to the musical world as Mary Bays Serex, was chosen for the leading part when "Mignon" was presented by Le Petit Opera Louisianais, an organization which set about to revive French opera in New Orleans after the city had been shocked into musical inactivity for a period by the burning of the old French Opera House in 1919.

Preparing for the gypsy girl role carried with it a tremendous amount of work. It was intermingled with a feeling of zeal, boosted spirit and discouragement. As members of the cast were becoming familiar with the score and the activity within the story of a lively opera like "Mignon," then acquiring the orchestral support and finally the costuming, that also enhanced the beauty and imagination of the drama, they found themselves strangely living their own parts.

It was an exciting time for her, the speaker declared, when Guiseppe Reschiglian, famed Italian tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, arrived in New Orleans for the rehearsal. In contrast to the highly temperamental artist which she feared he would be, she found him generous, sympathetic and forbearinf with his non-professional singer of the deep south.

Along with the serious theme of a production is usually the ridiculous or embarrassing which occurs in performances short of the Metropolitan, Mrs. Serex said. She recalled in spiriteo manner the scene in which she, as Mignon, dressed as a page, had been primping in front of Feline's dressing room mirror. The part arrives where she has donned Feline's bouffant gown, and as the latter upbraids her for the act, Mignon rushes backstage, tearing at the dress and retiring to make a quick change to her rags. There she found no maid and no one to assist her in making the change. All fingers became thumbs over the fuss and trimmings and buttons while she listened in frantic state for her cue. With her blouse partly fastened, she rushed to the stage when the cue came for her to appear in a raging temper at Feline, shouting, "Je la Laie." The heat and nervous strain of the backstage experience put her on metal for a high powered sermon for her rival of the young man of her dreams. It worked beautifully, and the scene was declared to have been one of the singer's best moments.

In press accounts of the opera critics declared "Mary Bays Serex has the exact Mignon mezzo-soprano of combined sweetness and flame, and she herself has the petitesse, yet the vigor that gives verisimilitude to Goethe's heroine." Her work was said to have been done with brilliancy and dramatic fervor which brought tremendous ovations. The gypsy girl very modestly drew back of the stage, and when the audience insisted that "she take a curtain call by herself, she did not seem to understand."

The November program had a second feature in Mrs. Rodney Cline's interesting resume of the life of Charles Louis Ambroise Thomas, the Metz musician who was born in 1811.

He studied at the Paris Conservatory and in Rome. After winning prizes for piano and harmony in Paris, he was awarded the Grand Prız de Rome for his cantata "Hermann et Ketty." During his stay in Rome he composed chamber music, a fantasia for piano or orchestra and a Requiem Mass. But after his return to Paris Thomas devoted his time to operatic composition in which he was highly successful.

From 1840 he wrote almost exclusively for Opera Comique, obtaining his most brilliant achievement with "Mignon." Less successful, but quite popalar, was his attempt at grand opera, the five-act "Hamlet."

The composer's music is melodically pleasing and orchestrated with deftness though never rising to any great dramatic heights.

He belonged to the romantic period and in writing "Mignon" he pleased the bourgeois whose desire at that time was for emorous cantilenas. Thomas was called electic like Guonod but of a weaker type, choosing the best for the moment.

His last opera was "Francoise de Rimini," composed in 1882. He wrote many excellent three-part male choruses and instrumental works for piano and orchestra. But it was "Mignon" which has contributed much to keeping his fame alive.

The Opera Club welcomed at this meeting two new members, Mrs. Milton Coalson and Mrs. C. G. Pearce, Jr.

In keeping with the Thanksgiving theme, the hostesses served pumpkin pie with ice cream and coffee.

The regular meeting of the newly formed Alpha Delta Sigma Club met in the home of Miss Buryl Brack 3703 Polk street Friday, November 29, 1946. They elected officers as follows: President, Miss Billie Bagwell; Secretary, Miss Clara Mae Page; Treasurer, Miss Buryl Brack.

Others present at the meeting were, Kitty Dartez, Ruth Anderson, Gail Ates, Jeannette Erskine, Calara Page, Mary Henderson, Lilly Strohm, Buryl Brack, Billie Bagwell, Billie Fatheree, Mary Travis, Opal Lord, Frances Coleman, Joyce Pankey, Betty Powell, Betty Jean Mae, and Betty Henry.

Sponsors are: Mrs. M. I. Erskine and Mrs. Page. Next meeting will be held at Miss Jeannette Erskine's home at 507 Sandefer street at 2 p. m.

MRS. D. C. METCALF HOSTESS TO BOOK CLUB MEMBERS IN HOSPITABLE COUNTRY HOME

Each meeting of the Altrurian Book Club becomes more interesting as the club year advances. The November meeting in the home of Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, Mrs. Jack Willis co-hostess, was starred by three sparkling personalities, Mrs. F. G. Thatcher, Mrs. R. B. Henry, and Mrs. Aimee Cook. Mrs. Irma Dudding was welcomed as a new member.

During the formal session, one outstanding committee report was made which is worthy of public attention. Mrs. Alexander Morrice reported that each business house of West Monroe hau been requested to decorate one window, using an attractive Christmas theme, thus creating in West Monroe a "Christmas Walk." Because the city is unable to obtain Christmas lights for the streets, this plan of window decorating was chosen as a substitute.

Altrurian's president, Mrs. F. G. Thatcher, gave an enthusiastic resume of the State Federated Club convention which recently convened in Alexandria.

Mrs. R. B. Henry, one of the club's favorite speakers, sketched the life and work of Judge Camille Kelly, famous southern woman of today.

The program reached the peak of perfection in Mrs. Aimee Cook's review of "Westward the Women." Mrs. Cook said in part: "'Westward the Women' presents for the first time the theme of Woman's share in the major American experience of pioneering across the continent. With dramatic clarity the author has written the intimate and human stories of certain outstanding personalities among these pioneer women: the Maine blue-stocking pursuing her studies of botany and taxidermy in frontier solitude; the gentle nuns from Belgium teaching needlework and litanies to the 'children of the forest', the little milliner who performed the first autopsy on a a male; the suffragette who established a newspaper for western women and rode the plushy river boats and the dusty roads preaching her gospel of equal rights; the hurdy gurdy girls from Idaho boom towns and many other squaw, martyr, heroine, gun-moll, missionary and mother in this turbulent era of pioneering.'

Enjoying the program and the charming hospitality of Mrs. Metcalf's beautiful country home were: Mrs. Irma Dudding, Mrs. J. C. Stewart, Mrs. Aimee Cook, Mrs. E. L. Page, Mrs. O. J. Ham, Mrs. J. H. Watkins, Mrs. C. T. Johnson, Mrs. F. G. Thatcher, Mrs. R. B. Henry, Mrs. Alexander Morrice, Mrs. W. G. Haynes, Mrs. Ed Stinson, Mrs. C. E. Faulk, Mrs. G. W. Welch, and Mrs. Jack Willis.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmas A. Jackson announce the arrival of their second child, a son, Stephen Allen, on November 26, Riverside Sanitarium.

Mrs. Harry Blackstock, a bride of recent date, was feted with a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. J. Y. Green and Mrs. Alvin Y. Green in their attractive home in Farmerville. The reception rooms were festive with unique arrangements of yellow and white chrysanthemums. The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Carlos Malone, sister of the honor guest. The hostesses, honoree and her mother-in-law, Mrs. O. H. Blackstock, formed the receiving line. Miss Annie Laurie Booth presided over the bride's book. After being invited by Mrs. H. G. Fields to view the gifts, which were on display in the dining room, the guests were served a delicious salad course and coffee by Miss Patricia Waldrop and Miss Linda Tugwell. Mrs. Barnes Hayes assisted the hostesses in extending courtesies.

Distinctive Affair Honors Bride-Elect

Beautiful Home Of The Clyde Browns Is Scene Of Fashionable Afternoon Tea

Cheerful firelight and myriads of beautiful crimson roses and camellias reflected in handsome, floor length mirrors in the home of Mrs. Clyde Brown, created a beautiful setting for the afternoon tea given in honor of Miss Clarice Slagle, one of the season's most popular brides-to-be. Mrs. J. B. Thornhill was co-hostess on this occasion.

Mrs. H. K. Touchstone welcomed the guests in the foyer where crimson camellias were used exclusively for the floral decor.

The hostesses and their guest of honor received in the drawing room where white chrysanthemums banked the mantel and crimson camellias overflowed from silver bowls placed on low coffee tables and other vantage points.

Mrs. Brown wore a stunning black crepe model with long, tight fitting, skirt adroitly draped at one side with a blue faille bow. Mrs. Thornhill wore a smart dinner gown of black crepe fashioned with a deep yoke of white marquisette studded with gold sequins and aquamarine stones.

Miss Slagle's blonde loveliness was enhanced by a picturesque gown of pale yellow starched chiffon over yellow taffeta. The tight fitting bodice was fashioned with a low, round neckline and the skirt, floor length, ended in a short train. Graceful folds of chiffon down the back created a bustle effect. A corsage of Alba Plena camellias was worn.

Miss Slagle's mother, Mrs. Elmer C. Slagle, and her sister Mrs. Melville Vaughan, also stood in the receiving line. Others assisting in receiving were Miss Mary Moss Madison, Mrs. Carl McHenry, Mrs. George Snellings, Jr., Mrs. J. L. Powers, Miss Maria Vaughan, Miss Lee Slagle.

In the candlelit dining room Miss Slagle's grandmother, Mrs. James R. Wooten, and her great aunt, Mrs. Hillyer R. Speed, presided over the silver tea and coffee services placed at either end of the beautifully appointed table.

Superb calla lilies were arranged with considerable artistry in an oblong plaque centering the table overlaid with imported Italian cut-work linen and lace. Antique silver candelabra supporting tall white tapers were placed at either end of the table. Mrs. John Edward Godfrey, Mrs. Aylmer Montgomery, Mrs. Eugene Flournoy and Mrs. Richard Kellogg assisted in serving the luscious refreshments. Fashionable Monroe was out en masse for this distinctive affair.

MRS. DICKERSON AND MRS. SWIFT DISPLAY RUGS

Women Of Twin Cities View Collection Of Hooked Rugs Put On Display At Agricultural Building

One of the most beautiful hooked rug exhibits ever seen in this state took place November 13 in the Ouachita Parish Agricultural building when Mrs. Agnes Dickerson and Mrs. J. W. Swift, home demonstration agent of the Twin Cities, displayed their marvelous collection for the benefit of the women of the Twin Cities.

Prompted by the numerous requests pouring in from women in every section of the Fifth district, Mrs. Swift organized this class in hooked rug making with Mrs. Dickerson serving as instructor. The instruction was given free as a special service offered by the Agricultural Extension department.

Mrs. Dickerson, known far and wide as "Miss Agnes" is an artist insofar as hooked rug making is concerned. She has won many honors and premiums for her work. Mrs. Dickerson teaches the hooking and the blending of colors and Mrs. Swift gives lessons in dyeing. At least three hundred and twenty-five women have been helped with their hooked rug problems and the class is still open. Mrs. Swift states that an exhibit of all the completed rugs will be given early in March.

Miss Robinson Is The Bride Of Mr. F. H. Drunagel

A wedding characterized by simplicity was solemnized at Stone Avenue Methodist Church in Monroe, when Miss Thelma Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Robinson of Downsville, became the bride of Franklin H. Drunagel, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Drunagel of Port Arthur, Texas. Rev. I. L. Yeager, pastor of the church, officiated.

The church was decorated with pink and white dahlias, chrysanthemums and ferns.

After the guests were seated by the ushers, R. L. Linder and Garland Hammons, Mr. D. H. Sones sang "I Love You Truly" accompanied by Miss Sarah Jones.

Truman Robinson served the groom as best man. Mrs. Nell Stark, matron of honor, was her sister's only attendent. She wore a rose wool suit with brown accessories and corsage of white carnations and tuberoses.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a fall suit of blue wool crepe with brown accessories and corsage of white carnations with pink sweetheart roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was given at the Yeager home, 4413 Jackson. Guests were received by the wedding party assisted by the bride's mother, who wore a black crepe model with corsage of pink chrysanthemums.

The bride's table was overlaid with handsome cutwork linen upon which was placed the three-tiered wedding cake with bride and groom figurines.

Mrs. Janice Hearne and Mrs. Carrie Parks served the guests individual wedding cakes and Miss Sara Robinett presided over the punch bowl.

The bride and groom cut their cake before departing on a honeymoon in Florida and Havana, Cuba.

The bride traveled in a beautiful brown wool tailleur with pink and brown accessories. She is a graduate of Downsville High School and prior to her marriage was employed in Port Arthur.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Allen Military Academy and he served forty-five months as a first lieutenant in the infantry.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Drunagel will be at home to their friends, 3242 Tenth street, Port Arthur, Texas.

Beautiful Home Of The Clyde Browns Is Scene Of Fashionable Afternoon Tea

Cheerful firelight and myriads of beautiful crimson roses and camellias reflected in handsome, floor length mirrors in the home of Mrs. Clyde Brown, created a beautiful setting for the afternoon tea given in honor of Miss Clarice Slagle, one of the season's most popular brides-to-be. Mrs. J. B. Thornhill was co-hostess on this occasion.

Mrs. H. K. Touchstone welcomed the guests in the foyer where crimson camellias were used exclusively for the floral decor.

The hostesses and their guest of honor received in the drawing room where white chrysanthemums banked the mantel and crimson camellias overflowed from silver bowls placed on low coffee tables and other vantage points.

Mrs. Brown wore a stunning black crepe model with long, tight fitting, skirt adroitly draped at one side with a blue faille bow. Mrs. Thornhill wore a smart dinner gown of black crepe fashioned with a deep yoke of white marquisette studded with gold sequins and aquamarine stones.

Miss Slagle's blonde loveliness was enhanced by a picturesque gown of pale yellow starched chiffon over yellow taffeta. The tight fitting bodice was fashioned with a low, round neckline and the skirt, floor length, ended in a short train. Graceful folds of chiffon down the back created a bustle effect. A corsage of Alba Plena camellias was worn.

Miss Slagle's mother, Mrs. Elmer C. Slagle, and her sister Mrs. Melville Vaughan, also stood in the receiving line. Others assisting in receiving were Miss Mary Moss Madison, Mrs. Carl McHenry, Mrs. George Snellings, Jr., Mrs. J. L. Powers, Miss Maria Vaughan, Miss Lee Slagle.

In the candlelit dining room Miss Slagle's grandmother, Mrs. James R. Wooten, and her great aunt, Mrs. Hillyer R. Speed, presided over the silver tea and coffee services placed at either end of the beautifully appointed table.

Superb calla lilies were arranged with considerable artistry in an oblong plaque centering the table overlaid with imported Italian cut-work linen and lace. Antique silver candelabra supporting tall white tapers were placed at either end of the table. Mrs. John Edward Godfrey, Mrs. Aylmer Montgomery, Mrs. Eugene Flournoy and Mrs. Richard Kellogg assisted in serving the luscious refreshments. Fashionable Monroe was out en masse for this distinctive affair.

MRS. DICKERSON AND MRS. SWIFT DISPLAY RUGS

Women Of Twin Cities View Collection Of Hooked Rugs Put On Display At Agricultural Building

One of the most beautiful hooked rug exhibits ever seen in this state took place November 13 in the Ouachita Parish Agricultural building when Mrs. Agnes Dickerson and Mrs. J. W. Swift, home demonstration agent of the Twin Cities, displayed their marvelous collection for the benefit of the women of the Twin Cities.

Prompted by the numerous requests pouring in from women in every section of the Fifth district, Mrs. Swift organized this class in hooked rug making with Mrs. Dickerson serving as instructor. The instruction was given free as a special service offered by the Agricultural Extension department.

Mrs. Dickerson, known far and wide as "Miss Agnes" is an artist insofar as hooked rug making is concerned. She has won many honors and premiums for her work. Mrs. Dickerson teaches the hocking and the blending of colors and Mrs. Swift gives lessons in dyeing. At least three hundred and twenty-five women have been helped with their hooked rug problems and the class is still open. Mrs. Swift states that an exhibit of all the completed rugs will be given early in March.

Miss Robinson Is The Bride Of Mr. F. H. Drunagel

A wedding characterized by simplicity was solemnized at Stone Avenue Methodist Church in Monroe, when Miss Thelma Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Robinson of Downsville, became the bride of Franklin H. Drunagel, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Drunagel of Port Arthur, Texas. Rev. I. L. Yeager, pastor of the church, officiated.

The church was decorated with pink and white dahlias, chrysanthemums and ferns.

After the guests were seated by the ushers, R. L. Linder and Garland Hammons, Mr. D. H. Sones sang "I Love You Truly" accompanied by Miss Sarah Jones.

Truman Robinson served the groom as best man. Mrs. Nell Stark, matron of honor, was her sister's only attendent. She wore a rose wool suit with brown accessories and corsage of white carnations and tuberoses.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a fall suit of blue wool crepe with brown accessories and corsage of white carnations with pink sweetheart roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was given at the Yeager home, 4413 Jackson. Guests were received by the wedding party assisted by the bride's mother, who wore a black crepe model with corsage of pink chrysanthemums.

The bride's table was overlaid with handsome cutwork linen upon which was placed the three-tiered wedding cake with bride and groom figurines.

NUPTIAL MASS AT ST. MATTHEW'S CHURCH UNITES MISS WILBY AND MR. WILLIAM ARBAN IN MARRIAGE

Miss Melvina Wilby, daughter of Mr. Michael Wilby of this city became the bride of Mr. William A. Arban, son of Mrs. Annie Arban of Birmingham, Ala., at Nuptial Mass, St. Matthew's Catholic Church, Monday, November 18th at 10 a. m., Father J. C. Marsh officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony.

Tall baskets overflowing with gorgeous white chrysanthemums and woodwardia ferns were placed in a beautiful arrangement around the altar with gleaming white tapers in the background. Michael Arban, nephew of the groom and Mac Thomas nephew of the bride, acted as acolytes.

Mrs. D. G. Nichols rendered a beautiful organ concert during the ceremony, and Mr. E. M. Wooten sang "Ava Maria" and "Panis Angelicus." The bride, given in marriage by her father presented a lovely picture in a Carlye model of rose beige crepe with long gloves. She wore an off-the-face smoke colored satin hat and carried a white prayer book adorned with a single purple orchid from which fell white satin streamers and dwarf white "mums." For something old she wore a locket that belonged to her maternal grandmother.

She was attended by Miss Madeline Cannon who also wore a distinctive Carlye model of light blue crepe with a jewel studded belt and a blue feather hat. Her corsage was of matching blue feathers and white carnations.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Edward Cannon served as matron of honor. She wore an aqua crepe Carolyn model with smoke brown accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cannon. The brides table, overlaid with an exquisite linen cloth, was adorned with a beautifully embossed three-tiered wedding cake and a wedding party of figurines grouped in front of a miniature altar. Nosegays of white "mums" were placed around the edge of the table and linked together by white satin streamers entwined with English ivy.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Arban left for a wedding trip to New Orleans and Knoxville, Tenn. Later they will be at home in Birmingham, where the groom is associated with the Southern Railway Co.

For traveling the bride wore a handsome beige gabardine dressmaker suit with brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

ENGAGEMENTS

The Rev. and Mrs. John Elton Hearn of Calhoun announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Valeria Margaret, to Mr. Marvin Cappel, Jr., son of Mrs. Marvin Cappel and the late Dr. Cappel of Alexandria. The wedding will be an event of affectionate interest to a wide circle of friends and relatives throughout the state. It will take place Sunday, December 22. The ceremony will be solemnized at six o'clock in the Calhoun Methodist Church with the bride's father officiating and will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride-elect is a recent graduate of Louisiana Polythenic Institute, Ruston, and was employed for a short time in New Orleans.

Mr. Cappel, who served as a captain in the A. A. F., is continuing his engineering course at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute where he is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Mrs. I. D. Dunn announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Margie Mae Crowell, to Mr. Lucian Austin Sawyer, son of Mr. Lucian E. Sawyer and Mrs. J. C. Gunn of this city. The wedding will take place in the home of Rev. L. T. Hastings at 2 p. m., December 24.

Miss Crowell and Mr. Sawyer are both graduates of Ouachita Parish High School and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute where Mr. Sawyer was a member of Delta Alpha Phi fraternity.

Miss Crowell taught home economics one year in Roanoke, La., and for the past three years has been employed as a welfare visitor with the Ouachita Parish Department of Public Welfare.

Mr. Sawyer, a former navy engineering officer, is now employed in the construction department with Carrier Corporation in industrial air conditioning and refrigeration work. His regional office is in Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. Carl S. Cheatham announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her sister, Mary Nell Maxwell to Mr. John E. Jack Trichel.

MISS JORDENA FLOURNOY (RIGHT) AND HER GREAT NIECE

Mrs. Banfield Hostess At Tea For Her Great Aunt Miss Flournoy On Eighty-Sixth Birthday Anniversary

Miss Jordena Flournoy, one of the old-time residents of this city, was privileged to spend a few hours of pleasant reminiscing with friends in the home of her nephew, Mr. Frederick Millsaps, when her great niece, Mrs. Ellen Kent Millsaps Banfield entertained in her honor during the tea hour.

The guests were limited to members of the Presbyterian auxiliary as Miss Flournoy's chief interest in life revolves around this auxiliary. She has been a member of the auxiliary since it was first organized in 1880.

Mrs. J. W. Cummins presided over the silver tea service gracing one end of the refreshment table in the dining room. Beautiful pink camellias from the A. G. McHenry gardens created a splash of lovely coloring in the center of the table. A variety of delicious confections were served during the tea hour.

Miss Flournoy, the central figure in this group of auxiliary members, told of life as it was lived in Monroe when she was a girl. Memories of those halcyon days are still fresh in her mind even though she has reached the age of eighty-six.

Miss Flournoy, when a young girl, served as organist for the Presbyterian Church in this city and was active in Sunday school and church work. She organized the Red River Presbyterial and was the first president of that body of women. Later when a synodical was organized Miss Flournoy was chosen by unanimous vote to serve as president. For years she served as superintendent of the junior department of Sunday school. A few years ago the highest honor was bestowed on her by the Presbyterial of Red River. She was presented with an honorary life membership in the Woman's Auxiliary. She was instrumental in establishing a student loan fund that is called the Jordena Flournoy Student Loan Fund. She is honorary president of both Louisiana Synodical and Red River Presbyterial.

Until recently Miss Jordena has attended Sunday school and church regularly and is considered one of the best Bible students in the city. Many of the leaders in Sunday school and auxiliary work owe their training to the teaching of Miss Flournoy, who has ever been one of the First Presbyterian Church's most faithful workers.

From records we find a Presbyterian Church was established in Monroe in 1856, from that time until the church was irregularly supplied with a minister. During the excitement and confusion of the war between the states, the original records were lost, but the organization survived and in 1871 a meeting was held and the church reorganized.

The women of the congregation did not have an organization until 1880, when they were organized with six members. Mrs. J. B. Illingsworth (deceased) was president. The organization was called "The Ladies Aid." In 1887 the Presbyterian Church in Trenton, now West Monroe, was disbanded and the members of that church became members of the Monroe church.

Myraids of fall flowers adorned the reception suite in the attractive home of Mrs. Wilber Taylor of Farmerville last Thursday evening when she and her daughter, Miss Dawn Taylor of Shreveport, entertained with a miscellaneous shower between the hours of five and seven o'clock, honoring Mrs. John Marvin Gillespie of Fayette, Miss., who before her recent marriage was Miss Peggy Jean Cobb of Farmerville.

Receiving with the hostesses and honoree, were her mother, Mrs. Irma A. Cobb and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Larkin Gillespie, all becomingly gowned and wearing dainty corsages. Miss Billie Faye Odom presided over the register. The refreshment table, covered with an exquisite damask cloth, was candlelit and florally adorned with an artistic fan-shaped arrangement of white and yellow chrysanthemums and maiden - hair fern, flanked by gleaming white tapers in crystal holders.

Miss Vera Gillespie served punch from a handsome crystal bowl placed at one side of the table, assisted by Mrs. Byram McKinnie and Miss Mildred Hammonds.

Delicious open-faced chicken salad sandwiches, individual cakes embossed in white bearing the names "John-Peg" in green, mints decorated with lilies-of-the-valley and salted nuts were placed along the board.

In the lavish display of gifts showered on the popular bride, was noted a complete set of china in her chosen pattern. Also silver, crystal, linens and other beautiful and useful articles.

Mrs. Grayson Odom assisted in dispensing charming hospitality to the large number of guests who called during the receiving hours.

COSMETICIANS TO HOLD STYLE REVIEW TUESDAY

A regular meeting of Victory chapter, American Cosmeticians Association, will be held at Hotel Frances at 8 p. m. Tuesday with a style review as the feature of the evening.

Participants in the review have been requested to bring their own models and to register with Mrs. Ophelia Francis before 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. L. O. Hastings and Mrs. O. N. Reynolds entertained at luncheon at the Rendezvous complimentary to bride-elect, Miss Louise Hawkins. She was wearing on this occasion a lovely horizon blue light weight wool model and the exquisite corsage presented to her by her hostesses.

The table, of bridal significance was serviced exclusively in silver and crystal with an immense heart of pressed glass overflowing with white camellias forming the artistic central decor. Small heart shaped containers of pressed glass containing a single white camellia encircled the centerpiece. Tall white tapers in Colonial crystal candelabra burned at the four corners.

A three course luncheon with turkey the piece de resistance and individual pumpkin pies the dessert was served to the hostesses and Miss Hawkins, Mrs. Lee Hawkins, Mrs. Jeff Caldwell, Miss Maibel Hood, Mrs. W. N. Reynolds and Mrs. R. L. H. Taggart.

Beta Delta members and pledges were entertained recently with a pallet party in the home of Miss Betty Sue Scott.

Those attending this delightful affair were: Misses Betty Dyar, Maxine Pettit, Mary Margaret Comrato, Jo Ann LaMonica, Peggy Frantom, Virginia Parker, Jacine Parker, Marna Hynum, Eloise Hobbs, Beatrice Bruscato, Louise Wink, Yvonne Henderson, Monita Ann Ritter, Evelyn Gochenour, Ann Todd, Joyce Domingues, Evelyn Turnley, Ann Turnely, Barbara Jarner, Betty Sue Scott, Jo Ann Roberts, Margaret Means, Rose Marie Wall, and Beth Montgomery.

She is honorary president of both Louisiana Synodical and Red River Presbyterial.

Until recently Miss Jordena has attended Sunday school and church regularly and is considered one of the best Bible students in the city. Many of the leaders in Sunday school and auxiliary work owe their training to the teaching of Miss Flournoy, who has ever been one of the First Presbyterian Church's most faithful workers.

From records we find a Presbyterian Church was established in Monroe in 1856, from that time until the church was irregularly supplied with a minister. During the excitement and confusion of the war between the states, the original records were lost, but the organization survived and in 1871 a meeting was held and the church reorganized.

The women of the congregation did not have an organization until 1880, when they were organized with six members. Mrs. J. B. Illingsworth (deceased) was president. The organization was called "The Ladies Aid." In 1887 the Presbyterian Church in Trenton, now West Monroe, was disbanded and the members of that church became members of the Monroe church.

Mrs. L. O. Hastings and Mrs. O. N. Reynolds entertained at luncheon at the Rendezvous complimentary to bride-elect, Miss Louise Hawkins. She was wearing on this occasion a lovely horizon blue light weight wool model and the exquisite corsage presented to her by her hostesses.

The table, of bridal significance was serviced exclusively in silver and crystal with an immense heart of pressed glass overflowing with white camellias forming the artistic central decor. Small heart shaped containers of pressed glass containing a single white camellia encircled the centerpiece. Tall white tapers in Colonial crystal candelabra burned at the four corners.

A three course luncheon with turkey the piece de resistance and individual pumpkin pies the dessert was served to the hostesses and Miss Hawkins, Mrs. Lee Hawkins, Mrs. Jeff Caldwell, Miss Maibel Hood, Mrs. W. N. Reynolds and Mrs. R. L. H. Taggart.

Beta Delta members and pledges were entertained recently with a pallet party in the home of Miss Betty Sue Scott.

Those attending this delightful affair were: Misses Betty Dyar, Maxine Pettit, Mary Margaret Comrato, Jo Ann LaMonica, Peggy Frantom, Virginia Parker, Jacine Parker, Marna Hynum, Eloise Hobbs, Beatrice Bruscato, Louise Wink, Yvonne Henderson, Monita Ann Ritter, Evelyn Gochenour, Ann Todd, Joyce Domingues, Evelyn Turnley, Ann Turnely, Barbara Jarner, Betty Sue Scott, Jo Ann Roberts, Margaret Means, Rose Marie Wall, and Beth Montgomery.

Myraids of fall flowers adorned the reception suite in the attractive home of Mrs. Wilber Taylor of Farmerville last Thursday evening when she and her daughter, Miss Dawn Taylor of Shreveport, entertained with a miscellaneous shower between the hours of five and seven o'clock, honoring Mrs. John Marvin Gillespie of Fayette, Miss., who before her recent marriage was Miss Peggy Jean Cobb of Farmerville.

Receiving with the hostesses and honoree, were her mother, Mrs. Irma A. Cobb and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Larkin Gillespie, all becomingly gowned and wearing dainty corsages. Miss Billie Faye Odom presided over the register. The refreshment table, covered with an exquisite damask cloth, was candlelit and florally adorned with an artistic fan-shaped arrangement of white and yellow chrysanthemums and maiden - hair fern, flanked by gleaming white tapers in crystal holders.

Miss Vera Gillespie served punch from a handsome crystal bowl placed at one side of the table, assisted by Mrs. Byram McKinnie and Miss Mildred Hammonds.

Delicious open-faced chicken salad sandwiches, individual cakes embossed in white bearing the names "John-Peg" in green, mints decorated with lilies-of-the-valley and salted nuts were placed along the board.

In the lavish display of gifts showered on the popular bride, was noted a complete set of china in her chosen pattern. Also silver, crystal, linens and other beautiful and useful articles.

Mrs. Grayson Odom assisted in dispensing charming hospitality to the large number of guests who called during the receiving hours.

Wedding At First Christian Church On Thanksgiving Day Claims Wide Concourse Of Relatives And Friends

A wedding characterized by lovely simplicity took place on Thanksgiving day, November 28, at the First Christian Church when Miss Hazel Cox, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Cox, of this city became the bride of Mr. William Vernon V. Bull, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William M. Bull of El Dorado, Ark.

The ceremony, at nine o'clock in the morning, was impressively performed by Rev. R. T. Watson in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends.

Beautiful yellow and bronze chrysanthemums banked the altar and overflowed from tall pedestal urns arranged in a semi-circle. In the background lush, green ferns and palms were grouped in artistic manner.

Mrs. James Conway Liner, Jr., pianist, rendered a brilliant prenuptial concert featuring Tannhauser's "Evening Star," Nocturne by Chopin and MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose." She also played Lohengrin's Wedding March.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wilson were the only attendants.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Robert Cox, wore a beautiful cinnamon brown tailleur trimmed in gold buttons. Her blouse was gold colored and her accessories were a deeper shade of brown. She wore a small flattering hat of dark brown and carried an arm bouquet of Talisman roses. For sentimental reasons and also to carry out the age old tradition of wearing something old the bride wore her mother's antique diamond ring.

The bride's two sisters, Mrs. C. L. Blanks of Shreveport and Miss Myrtle Cox of this city, preceded the bride down the aisle. Mrs. Blanks wore a brown tailleur with brown accessories and corsage of yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Cox wore a navy blue ensemble with small hat of blue feathers. Her corsage was of white sweet peas.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Bull left via automobile en route for New Orleans where they will spend a few days before boarding a plane for Miami Beach, Fla. The bride traveled in a three-piece ensemble of dark brown check, light weight wool, with brown accessories, and corsage of talisman roses.

After December 15, Mr. and Mrs. Bull will be at home to their friends at 3610 Blanks avenue, this city.

Mrs. Vernon V. Bull, the former Miss Hazel Cox, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Cox, whose wedding on Thanksgiving Day at the First Christian Church claimed a wide concourse of relatives and friends.

The bride was born and reared in this city. She is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High School and the Monroe Commercial College. She is a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club and for the past several years has held an executive position at the Frances Hotel.

Mr. Bull has made his home at the Frances Hotel, this city, for the past two years. He is an independent oil operator with holdings in Mississippi, Louisiana and Florida.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Blanks and daughters, Misses Caroline and Merilyn Blanks of Shreveport, Miss Ernestine Newby of Meadville, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Campbell of Natchez, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Elliott of Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wilson of Texas.

Open House Held At Barkdull Faulk School Auditorium

A large and interested crowd of parents, teachers and guests, filled the auditorium of the Barkdull Faulk School Thursday evening as the Parent-Teacher Association held it's regular meeting, and presented a program in observance of American Education week. Open house was held before and after the meeting, and the parents visited the scenes of all the various activities that make up a child's school life, his class room, the library, the museum, the cafeteria, and the stage properties room.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Peterson, president, and after a welcoming address, she turned the meeting over to Mrs. Hudson, program chairman. Guests presented by Mrs. Hudson were Miss Kay Crandall, director of the Little Theater, who spoke briefly of her work with that group and the forthcoming presentation of the speech department of Neville High School; Mr. Paul Neal, principal of Neville High School, extended an invitation to attend the memorial ceremonies; Mr. Irving Zeidman, guest soloist, who delighted the audience with his singing of several selections, was accompanied by Miss Catherine Livaudais. Dr. B. J. La Cour, the guest speaker, had the following to say:

"A consideration of the diseases peculiar to children may be presented in a various number of ways; however general points will here be considered. In nearly all diseases, an outstanding lead or sign is revealed from questioning or examination of the patient, or from the laboratory data obtained. For example, when loss of weight, vomiting, or diarrhea are outstanding signs the most probable cause is infection, birth defect, improper food, or poor sanitation. Fever calls for the doctor to look for infection. Failure to examine the ears for pus, the throat for tonsillitis, the urine for pus, often accounts for failure to discover the cause of the illness. Available information suggests that children under five years of age, suffer twice as many illnesses per year than do those in their teens. About half of the illnesses of childhood are due to infection of the ears, nose, throat, or lungs. The contagious diseases and intestinal upsets account for about another twenty-five percent of all illnesses.

Studying death rates, one can soon see a close association between death and sex, race, financial status, season and section of city or country lived in. More babies die during the first two weeks of life than during the remaining fifty weeks of the first year. More infants die during the first year of life than during the second, third and fourth combined. Because most diseases follow a general pattern, a doctor must not forget they may also be variable. For example, diphtheria rarely occurs during the first weeks of life, but knowledge of this fact must not cause the physician to fail to recognize the disease or to withhold proper treatment should it so be found.

Diphtheria, whooping cough, scarlet fever, and measles kill four times more babies during the first year of life than during the span from five to nine years. For this reason, we should be particularly careful to prevent exposure of our little ones to these diseases during their first year; however after passing their first year, we should not become negligent and wilfully expose them with the expression, "I would rather they get these diseases out of the way before they start to school." The younger a child, the better chance it has to die from a contagious disease. The rate of death between five to nine years is lower than from one to five, and the rate between ten to fifteen years is lowest of all groups. Allow me to read a surprising list of causes of deaths in order in various age groups. Pay particular attention to the frequency of tuberculosis and heart diseases:

Under five years: first is premature births, then pneumonia, diarrhea, birth malformation, flu, whooping cough, diphtheria, tuberculosis, burns, measles, heart disease, auto accidents. From five to nine years: first is auto accidents then diphtheria, pneumonia, flu, appendicitis, heart disease, tuberculosis, meningitis. From ten to fourteen years, first is heart disease, then tuberculosis, appendicitis, pneumonia, auto accidents. From fifteen to twenty-four; first is tuberculosis, then auto accidents, heart disease, pneumonia, flu and appendicitis. You will not that diphtheria, whooping cough, small pox, lock jaw, and typhoid are absent in the last grouping. This is explainable because they are nearly a hundred preventable by "shots" as the children call them, probably given by the end of the first year.

During the business meeting which followed the program, interesting reports were heard from the following chairmen: Mrs. L. O. Bass, Mrs. H. B. Rivers, newly appointed Parent-Education chairman, Mrs. George Varino, Mrs. Reitzel, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. McRaney, Mrs. C. W. Williams, and announcements by Miss Julia Wossman, principal.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served in the cafeteria by a number of the fathers, wearing tall chef's caps.

The many friends of T. L. Morris will regret to learn that he is ill and in St. Francis Sanitarium, room 106. He will be pleased to have friends call on him.

In Britain it is still technically illegal to eat meat on Wednesdays and mince pie at Christmas.

Purely Personal

With their gypsy blood astir, Mrs. W. C. Oliver and Mrs. Julius Chandler, packed their bags, filled up the gasoline tank of Mrs. Chandler's car and set out on a leisurely trip to historic old Williamsburg, the famous 17th century capitol of Virginia. Mrs. Chandler speaking of this automobile tour said.

"In our travels of 4,500 miles which took us to outstanding points of interest through Georgia, Tennessee, the Carolinas, New York, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and Virginia, the two delightful days spent in Williamsburg, Va., stands out vividly in our memory as a perfect blending of the old and the new.

We were in modern dress speaking 20 century language but, the gracious hostess who escorted us through the exhibit buildings and gardens wore the gaily colored, long sweeping hoop skirts, white frilled bodices and buckled shoes of colonial days.

In the capitol building, referred to as the "House of Burgesses," Patrick Henry made his outstanding speeches. Washington, Jefferson, Benjamin Harrison and others decided on the course of the Revolution in this house.

The "Public Goal," is a short walk from the capitol, Colonial Goalers," showed us the dark cells, authentically and sparsely strewn straw where prisoners, mostly debtors, paid their debt to Colonial society.

At the home of George Wythe, law professor of Thomas Jefferson, we were privileged to stroll through the rooms where George Washington lived while in Williamsburg. At Brewton Church we gazed upon the pews marked, Thomas Jefferson, General Washington, James Madison, and others who worshipped in this Colonial church.

The Raliegh Tavern, as a center of social activity, was second to none in the matter of social entertainment and prestige, and was surpassed only by the Palace itself. It was here in Apollo room that Patrick Henry incited his fellow citizens to rebellion and freedom. In the 18 century setting of the "Travis House" we were served in true colonial style, baked Virginia ham, Sally Lunn and other colonial dishes of a rare delicacy.

In addition to its historical interests, one finds, inns many guest taverns on the Duke of Glouster street to fit every purse.

So complete is the job of restoration the past comes to life in Williamsburg as in no other historical place in this country.

If you are a camellia lover then plan to attend the annual Camellia Show sponsored by the Hattiesburg, Miss., Camellia society on February 8 and 9. These dates were announsed at a recent luncheon at the Forest hotel in Hattiesburg. The president, Mrs. Richard H. Clark, extends an invitation to members of Monroe's two garden clubs to attend the show.

This year the members of the Y's Men's club were enabled to enjoy the Thanksgiving feast with the happy knowledge they earned their share of the good things of life by making a splendid donation to the building fund of Monroe's new Y. M. C. A. building. By working in the true spirit of community cooperation they were enabled to start the ball rolling financially and to create public interest in the proposed new building. During the past week our attention was drawn to the fact that Monroe is the only town of its size in the country that doesn't boast a Y. M. C. A. Members of the Y's Men's club are giving serious thought to their own responsibility to the community and will put forth every effort to place Monroe where it rightfully belongs. The dancing party at the Rainbow Inn Thanksgiving Eve was a brilliant event, socially and financially. The setting for this event, the beautiful ball room and lounge of the Rainbow Inn, played an important part in the pleasures of the evening.

Fifteen giant turkeys were served by Mr. Sigmund Masur on Thanksgiving Day when he entertained the entire personnel of the Palace at dinner at Camp Sig Bea. The dinner will go down in the annals of the city as the most bounteous ever served so great a number of people. One of the guests present said she finally lost count of the number of fruit cakes cut by Mrs. Masur who presided at one end of the long table where covers were laid for one hundred.

Mrs. Melanie Meyer whose eighty-fifth birthday anniversary was celebrated with a dinner party at the home of her niece, Mrs. Edgar Florsheim, is living on almost the identical spot where she resided when she came to Monroe 57 years ago. The Meyer home occupied the site where the Frances hotel now stands. The hotel was built fifteen years ago and Mrs. Meyer ever since has been occupying a suite overlooking Harrison street. This street, now a busy thoroughfare, was once an alley in the rear of the Meyer home. Where the Frances hotel now stands, giant oaks once stood. Vast meadow lands stretched as far as eye could reach. All was peaceful and quite where the hum of commerce is now heard. Mrs. Meyer remembers when DeSiard street was a sea of mud and horse drawn vehicles bogged up in the mud on the side streets. Mrs. Meyer remembers when the first high school was built in Monroe. It was in the year 1894. It was a brick building containing six class rooms, an auditorium, and was erected on the Grand street property originally donated by Don Juan Filhiol for school purposes. The building still stands as the central portion of the grammar school building of the Ouachita Parish High School. Seventy pupils were enrolled during the year 1895 and two students were graduated during the year 1895.

Mrs. Meyer also remembers the days of the quilting parties, the 'possum and coon hunts, plantation barbecues, tallyho and hay riding, watermelon cutting and fox hunting.

To have lived for 57 years in Louisiana, the most historic and the most fascinating state in the Union, is indeed a privilege according to Mrs. Meyer who has traveled back and forth between Louisiana and Germany, the country of her birth. She loves Louisiana and was instrumental in making a home here for many relatives who were born in Germany.

Farmerville

Mrs. Eva Beale has gone to Vicksburg, Miss., to join her daughter, Miss Evelyn Beale, to reside in the future.

Mrs. Georgie Fenton is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Murphy at Monroe.

Mrs. Edgbert Tugwell and son, Mr. Hugh Tugwell of Baton Rouge, visted relatives here Tuesday en route to Arizona to visit her son, Mr. Thorton Tugwell and Mrs. Tugwell.

Mrs. E. A. Jones and Mrs. James Aycock and son, James Jr., of Rayville spent Friday here with Mrs. J. D. Baughman and Miss Faye Baughman.

Mrs. Lester Hartman of Farmerville and Mrs. Fred Hamilton of Downsville attended a state board executive meeting of Baptist Women's Missionary Society at Shreveport Thursday. Miss Gussie Fenton and Miss Oliva Barr accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Palmer and son, Paul, Jr., have returned from a few days trip to New Orleans.

Mrs. Jack Pace and son, Bobby of Delhi spent the week-end here with Mr. and Mrs. Gus Pace.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Porter of Bernice were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Caldwell Sunday.

Purely Personal

With their gypsy blood astir, Mrs. W. C. Oliver and Mrs. Julius Chandler, packed their bags, filled up the gasoline tank of Mrs. Chandler's car and set out on a leisurely trip to historic old Williamsburg, the famous 17th century capitol of Virginia. Mrs. Chandler speaking of this automobile tour said:

"In our travels of 4,500 miles which took us to outstanding points of interest through Georgia, Tennessee, the Carolinas, New York, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and Virginia, the two delightful days spent in Williamsburg, Va., stands out vividly in our memory as a perfect blending of the old and the new.

We were in modern dress speaking 20 century language, but, the gracious hostess who escorted us through the exhibit buildings and gardens wore the gaily colored, long sweeping hoop skirts, white frilled bodices and buckled shoes of colonial days.

In the capitol building, referred to as the "House of Burgesses," Patrick Henry made his outstanding speeches. Washington, Jefferson, Benjamin Harrison and others decided on the course of the Revolution in this house.

The "Public Goal," is a short walk from the capitol, Colonial Goalers," showed us the dark cells, authentically and sparsely strewn straw where prisoners, mostly debtors, paid their debt to Colonial society.

At the home of George Wythe, law professor of Thomas Jefferson, we were privileged to stroll through the rooms where George Washington lived while in Williamsburg. At Brewton Church we gazed upon the pews marked, Thomas Jefferson, General Washington, James Madison, and others who worshipped in this Colonial church.

The Raliegh Tavern, as a center of social activity, was second to none in the matter of social entertainment and prestige, and was surpassed only by the Palace itself. It was here in Apollo room that Patrick Henry incited his fellow citizens to rebellion and freedom. In the 18 century setting of the "Travis House" we were served in true colonial style, baked Virginia ham, Sally Lunn and other colonial dishes of a rare delicacy.

In addition to its historical interests, one finds, inns many guest taverns on the Duke of Glouster street to fit every purse.

So complete is the job of restoration the past comes to life in Williamsburg as in no other historical place in this country.

If you are a camellia lover then plan to attend the annual Camellia Show sponsored by the Hattiesburg, Miss., Camellia society on February 8 and 9. These dates were announsed at a recent luncheon at the Forest hotel in Hattiesburg. The president, Mrs. Richard H. Clark, extends an invitation to members of Monroe's two garden clubs to attend the show.

This year the members of the Y's Men's club were enabled to enjoy the Thanksgiving feast with the happy knowledge they earned their share of the good things of life by making a splendid donation to the building fund of Monroe's new Y. M. C. A. building. By working in the true spirit of community cooperation they were enabled to start the ball rolling financially and to create public interest in the proposed new building. During the past week our attention was drawn to the fact that Monroe is the only town of its size in the country that doesn't boast a Y. M. C. A. Members of the Y's Men's club are giving serious thought to their own responsibility to the community and will put forth every effort to place Monroe where it rightfully belongs. The dancing party at the Rainbow Inn Thanksgiving Eve was a brilliant event, socially and financially. The setting for this event, the beautiful ball room and lounge of the Rainbow Inn, played an important part in the pleasures of the evening.

Fifteen giant turkeys were served by Mr. Sigmund Masur on Thanksgiving Day when he entertained the entire personnel of the Palace at dinner at Camp Sig Bea. The dinner will go down in the annals of the city as the most bounteous ever served so great a number of people. One of the guests present said she finally lost count of the number of fruit cakes cut by Mrs. Masur who presided at one end of the long table where covers were laid for one hundred.

Mrs. Melamie Meyer whose eighty-fifth birthday anniversary was celebrated with a dinner party at the home of her niece, Mrs. Edgar Florsheim, is living on almost the identical spot where she resided when she came to Monroe 57 years ago. The Meyer home occupied the site where the Frances hotel now stands. The hotel was built fifteen years ago and Mrs. Meyer ever since has been occupying a suite overlooking Harrison street. This street, now a busy thoroughfare, was once an alley in the rear of the Meyer home. Where the Frances hotel now stands, giant oaks once stood. Vast meadow lands stretched as far as eye could reach. All was peaceful and quite where the hum of commerce is now heard. Mrs. Meyer remembers when DeSiard street was a sea of mud and horse drawn vehicles bogged up in the mud on the side streets. Mrs. Meyer remembers when the first high school was built in Monroe. It was in the year 1894. It was a brick building containing six class rooms, an auditorium, and was erected on the Grand street property originally donated by Don Juan Filhiol for school purposes. The building still stands as the central portion of the grammar school building of the Ouachita Parish High School. Seventy pupils were enrolled during the year 1895 and two students were graduated during the year 1895.

Mrs. Meyer also remembers the days of the quilting parties, the 'possum and coon hunts, plantation barbecues, tallyho and hay riding, watermelon cutting and fox hunting.

To have lived for 57 years in Louisiana, the most historic and the most fascinating state in the Union, is indeed a privilege according to Mrs. Meyer who has traveled back and forth between Louisiana and Germany, the country of her birth. She loves Louisiana and was instrumental in making a home here for many relatives who were born in Germany.

MR. F. G. HUDSON ADDRESSES CLUB WOMEN ON SUBJECT OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Colorful decorations of autumn leaves and pine, and yellow chrysanthe mums, lent a festive air to the reception suite, when members of the Welcome Branch of the Twentieth Century Book Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. George Phebus, 2309 Jasmine Street. Mrs. Edwin E. Sisson and Mrs. C. T. Shaw served as co-hostesses.

The program, second of a series on international relations, featured a guest speaker, Mr. Fred Hudson, prominent local attorney, who is ever on the alert in regards to world affairs. Mr. Hudson in discussing "The United Nation's Organization" assured members that the part women must play in helping to build a lasting peace, is of utmost importance in the matter of protecting future generations from atomic warfare. He said in part: "There is no security against atomic warfare, or no defense. Pearl Harbor would be a Sunday School picnic in comparison to it. We must all be concerned and talk about this vital issue among ourselves, expressing our opinions openly, to our friends, and also to our congressmen and our president. For public opinion, the very hearts of humanity, alone can keep the peace. Above all, we must pray over this important matter as well.

"Five hundred years B. C. a superficial effort to secure the peace was made by China, to be followed in turn by Greece and Rome. All failed. Even Mr. William Penn proposed a world court, when he made history in Philadelphia. Why did they all fail? Because they were not broad or deep enough to recognize that they must give up their sovereignty, which is more or less an empty shibboleth anyhow, unless it sponsors clean living and fair play with all nations. Though not being willing to give up their sovereignty is understandable, this must be done. There also must be a controlling power to administer verbal spankings to the bad boys of politics.

"No war ever came out of public squalls and arguments, such as takes place in a world court. It comes from secret cliques and fanatic organizations and organizers. So long as issues are fought out in the open, we are safe from wars. Do not pay too much attention to people who dramatize situations, or let them beguile and befool. These individuals make their livelihood in this manner, and are not to be taken too seriously.

"The United Nations has made a good start. Liberty has thrived since the beginning of mankind, and is making more progress today, than in any other period of history. Though adjustments must be made, settlements will take place eventually. The general assembly is a very important tribunal for discussions and differences where everything can be aired publicly, and ironed out. For the first time in history we have a court of international justice, which must effect honesty, so that nations of the world will have confidence, and abide by decisions.

"Economic and social counsel is a contributing factor to bettering world conditions, and will function in greater degree as time goes on. This counsel will apply economic sanction to all nations. The latter is one of two great weapons, the last being the international police. These last should control atomic weapons.

"Russia suffers an inferiority complex, knowing that they do not have a Churchill, or responsible men in their midst, at the head of their affairs. They had only two international lawyers before the war. Realizing their inferiority, they are playing an interesting and not unskillful hand, but Russia, as time goes on, will come to realize that we have a functional organization, where justice, honesty and right prevails."

Mr. Hudson concluded: "Public opinion can operate in the whole world, and here lies our hope and salvation. Serious thinking and work, in regards to goodwill, in great organizations such as yours, will be a great contributing factor in the part of striving towards world peace."

Highlights of the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. A. S. Gunter, president, were the reports given by the club delegates to the recent state convention of Louisiana Federated Women's Clubs, at Alexandria. These reports were given by Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, a state officer, Mrs. E. J. Whitman, Mrs. E. A. Porter, and Mrs. H. V. Collins, also a state officer. A cash prize was presented to the chairman of yearbook committee, Mrs. Zell Smith, for 1945-1946, which was awarded at the state convention to Welcome Branch for winning first place in the state judging of yearbooks.

During the social period, Mrs. H. V. Collins, chairman of the Welcome Branch Library board, presided over the silver coffee urns, as this meeting marked the club's annual benefit in behalf of their library project at Cooley Sanitorium. Members of the commission passed delicious confections, in keeping with the Thanksgiving season, to members and guests as follows: Mrs. F. E. Black, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. A. R. Doughty, Mrs. J. G. Durbin, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. J. H Hicks, Mrs. C. E. Koonce, Mrs. E Everett Lawson, Mrs. J. E. McConnell, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. Leole Nixon, Mrs. George Phebus, Mrs. E A. Porter, Mrs. T. H. Scott, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. A. J. Speer, Mrs. C. S Swain, Mrs. Edwin E. Sisson, Mrs. C. T. Shaw, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. Ben Tucker, Mrs. W. B. Wheelis, Mrs. Richard Whitehurst, Mrs. E. J. Whitman.

Guests were: Mrs. J. B. Hester, Mrs. J. T. Ray, Mrs. C. W. Griffith, Mrs. Shelby Meek, Mrs. C. T. Long, Mrs. E M. Edington, Mrs. E. W. Sartain, Mrs. Fred Coon, Mrs. J. W. Lea, Mrs. R. W. Germany, Mrs. J. W Caldwell, Jr., Mrs. E. P. Jenevein and Mrs. Douglas Murray.

SIMPLY DELICIOUS . . . that's what everyone says after eating tid-bits from the CITY BAKERY. Hostesses are now serving those little ice-box cookies packed with nuts and fruits whenever they entertain a foursome of bridge guests. Macaroons and fudge squares are also served when friends drop in for a cup of tea! Of course MEL-O-TOAST bread from the CITY BAKERY is served at every meal. Children now eat MEL-O-TOAST bread when they are hungry in place of sweets . . . it's appetizing and satisfies hunger.

APPROACHING NUPTIAL EVENT MADE KNOWN AT BEAUTIFULLY APPOINTED AFTERNOON TEA

A beautiful appointed tea in the home of Mrs. Charles Williams with Mrs. Lynton Cook, hostess, served to announce the engagement of Miss Nettigene Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams to Mr. James Edward Hewett, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Hewett of Fairbanks, La.

The spacious reception suite was banked with beautiful white and pale pink dahlias and chrysanthemums. The mirror over the mantel reflected the flowers and the white tapers burning in handsome crystal candelabra placed at either end of the mantel.

The hostess and her mother, Mrs. Williams, stood with the guest of honor to welcome the guests. Mrs. Cook wore a black sheer model trimmed with narrow black lace and Mrs. Williams wore a black and white ensemble with corsage of white camellias. Miss Williams wore a beige colored crepe model with tight fitting, sequin trimmed blouse. Her corsage was of pink camellias.

Mrs. E. D. Hewett, assisting in the courtesies, was wearing a sequin trimmed model of black. Others assisting the hostesses were Misses Novaleen Hewett and Julia Bess Williams.

Mrs. B. U. Hood presided with characteristic grace over the silver tea service placed at one end of the beautifully appointed table in the dining room. The central decor was an oval plaque of white chrysanthemums encircled with white tapers in low crystal candlesticks. Coffee was poured from silver urns by Miss Anna Lee Bedwell and Miss Nancy Rothermel.

A variety of delicious confections including sandwiches, pastries, salted nuts and small frosted cakes were served.

More than one hundred guests called during the receiving hours.

In 1940 Norway had one and one-half tons of merchant ship tonnage per capita compared with one-tenth of a ton in the United States for each member of her population.

MR. F. G. HUDSON ADDRESSES CLUB WOMEN ON SUBJECT OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Colorful decorations of autumn leaves and pine, and yellow chrysanthe mums, lent a festive air to the reception suite, when members of the Welcome Branch of the Twentieth Century Book Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. George Phebus, 2309 Jasmine Street. Mrs. Edwin E. Sisson and Mrs. C. T. Shaw served as co-hostesses.

The program, second of a series on international relations, featured a guest speaker, Mr. Fred Hudson, prominent local attorney, who is ever on the alert in regards to world affairs. Mr. Hudson in discussing "The United Nation's Organization" assured members that the part women must play in helping to build a lasting peace, is of utmost importance in the matter of protecting future generations from atomic warfare. He said in part: "There is no security against atomic warfare, or no defense. Pearl Harbor would be a Sunday School picnic in comparison to it. We must all be concerned and talk about this vital issue among ourselves, expressing our opinions openly, to our friends, and also to our congressmen and our president. For public opinion, the very hearts of humanity, alone can keep the peace. Above all, we must pray over this important matter as well.

"Five hundred years B. C. a superficial effort to secure the peace was made by China, to be followed in turn by Greece and Rome. All failed. Even Mr. William Penn proposed a world court, when he made history in Philadelphia. Why did they all fail? Because they were not broad or deep enough to recognize that they must give up their sovereignty, which is more or less an empty shibboleth anyhow, unless it sponsors clean living and fair play with all nations. Though not being willing to give up their sovereignty is understandable, this must be done. There also must be a controlling power to administer verbal spankings to the bad boys of politics.

"No war ever came out of public squalls and arguments, such as takes place in a world court. It comes from secret cliques and fanatic organizations and organizers. So long as issues are fought out in the open, we are safe from wars. Do not pay too much attention to people who dramatize situations, or let them beguile and befool. These individuals make their livelihood in this manner, and are not to be taken too seriously.

"The United Nations has made a good start. Liberty has thrived since the beginning of mankind, and is making more progress today, than in any other period of history. Though adjustments must be made, settlements will take place eventually. The general assembly is a very important tribunal for discussions and differences where everything can be aired publicly, and ironed out. For the first time in history we have a court of international justice, which must effect honesty, so that nations of the world will have confidence, and abide by decisions.

"Economic and social counsel is a contributing factor to bettering world conditions, and will function in greater degree as time goes on. This counsel will apply economic sanction to all nations. The latter is one of two great weapons, the last being the international police. These last should control atomic weapons.

"Russia suffers an inferiority complex, knowing that they do not have a Churchill, or responsible men in their midst, at the head of their affairs. They had only two international lawyers before the war. Realizing their inferiority, they are playing an interesting and not unskillful hand, but Russia, as time goes on, will come to realize that we have a functional organization, where justice, honesty and right prevails."

Mr. Hudson concluded: "Public opinion can operate in the whole world, and here lies our hope and salvation. Serious thinking and work, in regards to goodwill, in great organizations such as yours, will be a great contributing factor in the part of striving towards world peace."

Highlights of the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. A. S. Gunter, president, were the reports given by the club delegates to the recent state convention of Louisiana Federated Women's Clubs, at Alexandria. These reports were given by Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, a state officer, Mrs. E. J. Whitman, Mrs. E. A. Porter, and Mrs. H. V. Collins, also a state officer. A cash prize was presented to the chairman of yearbook committee, Mrs. Zell Smith, for 1945-1946, which was awarded at the state convention to Welcome Branch for winning first place in the state judging of yearbooks.

During the social period, Mrs. H. V. Collins, chairman of the Welcome Branch Library board, presided over the silver coffee urns, as this meeting marked the club's annual benefit in behalf of their library project at Cooley Sanitorium. Members of the commission passed delicious confections, in keeping with the Thanksgiving season, to members and guests as follows: Mrs. F. E. Black, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. A. R. Doughty, Mrs. J. G. Durbin, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. J. H Hicks, Mrs. C. E. Koonce, Mrs. E Everett Lawson, Mrs. J. E. McConnell, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. Leola Nixon, Mrs. George Phebus, Mrs. E. A. Porter, Mrs. T. H. Scott, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. A. J. Speer, Mrs. C. S Swain, Mrs. Edwin E. Sisson, Mrs. C. T. Shaw, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. Ben Tucker, Mrs. W. B. Wheelis, Mrs. Richard Whitehurst, Mrs. E. J. Whitman.

Guests were: Mrs. J. B. Hester, Mrs. J. T. Ray, Mrs. C. W. Griffith, Mrs. Shelby Meek, Mrs. C. T. Long, Mrs. E M. Edington, Mrs. E. W. Sartain, Mrs. Fred Coon, Mrs. J. W. Lea, Mrs. R. W. Germany, Mrs. J. W Caldwell, Jr., Mrs. E. P. Jenevein and Mrs. Douglas Murray.

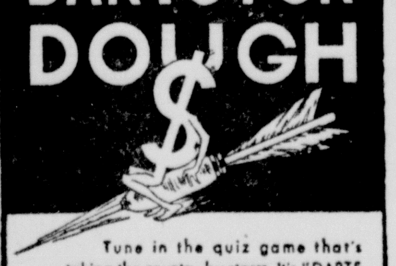
DARTS FOR DOUGH



Tune in the quiz game that's taking the country by storm. It's "DARTS FOR DOUGH"—it's informative . . . It's fun!

KMLB — 3:00 P. M.

Sponsored by Dr. Pepper Bottling Co.

IT'S A BLUE NETWORK PROGRAM

—ADVERTISEMENT— —ADVERTISEMENT—

YOU'RE DOING WHAT COMES NATURALLY when you spend the evening at Monroe's beautiful night club, the RAINBOW INN. The season of festivity is now at hand and the best way to be festive and gay is to motor out to the RAINBOW INN. The cocktail hour is four o'clock, and from then until midnight joy reigns supreme. Dancing and dining attracts Monroe's smart set every night.

SIMPLY DELICIOUS . . . that's what everyone says after eating tid-bits from the CITY BAKERY. Hostesses are now serving those little ice-box cookies packed with nuts and fruits whenever they entertain a foursome of bridge guests. Macaroons and fudge squares are also served when friends drop in for a cup of tea! Of course MEL-O-TOAST bread from the CITY BAKERY is served at every meal. Children now eat MEL-O-TOAST bread when they are hungry in place of sweets . . . it's appetizing and satisfies hunger.

IF YOU'RE GOING to be party-bound during the holidays be sure to let MARIE WAMSLEY make you beautiful for the gala events. Visit her salon tomorrow and ask for a facial cocktail, a new hair-do and a permanent if need be. Don't let dull, lifeless hair mar a super evening! Let MARIE WAMSLEY dramatize you for the holidays. She will put dancing highlights in your hair with the right kind of a rinse . . . she will brighten up your face with one of her magic facials. Just place yourself in her hands.

CAN YOU IMAGINE a festive occasion of any kind without flowers? Of course you can't. Whenever the question of flowers arises thoughts naturally turn to the WEST SIDE FLOWER SHOP. This shop is now a veritable beehive of activity! . . . Orders are pouring in. THE WEST SIDE FLOWER AND GIFT SHOP now has a wedding consultant who arranges every detail. A sketch is made of the background so that the bride-elect knows exactly what the effect will be. . . . Even her bouquet is personalized and believe me, it's a work of art.

LIFE HAS BECOME EASIER and happier for housewives since they discovered the joy of dining nightly at the HOLLYWOOD. It's all so simple . . . just a matter of scanning the menu for your favorite dishes. And they are all there . . . fried chicken, roast turkey, broiled steaks, Mexican, Chinese and Italian dishes, ham and eggs, hot cakes and bacon, sandwiches, salads. Everything cooked at the HOLLYWOOD has a distinctive flavor . . . an appealing flavor that whets the appetite. Dining at the HOLLYWOOD is cheaper than cooking a big meal at home.

SANTA HIMSELF couldn't select a more beautiful gift than one of those antique pins Sam Rubin has on display at the R AND A JEWELRY SHOP. Some of these pins are set with diamonds and rubies . . . some with emeralds and other precious jewels. Such beautiful pieces of jewelry are rarely seen, especially in Monroe. Take advantage of this opportunity to select a piece of jewelry for the most wonderful woman in the world. It's the gift that says, "I love you." . . . The gift that lives on long after you are forgotten.

MONROE IS HEAD-OVER-HEELS in love with LA CASA TEA ROOM. Hostesses no longer entertain at home . . . they take their guests to the LA CASA where all the comforts of home are supplied minus all the work and confusion. The food has that home cooked flavor and is served with pomp and ceremony or informally . . . just as you desire. If the occasion is festive the dinner table will be resplendent with silver and beautiful china. If informality is desired the table is set in gay fiesta ware.

THAT LOOK OF PERFECTION ISN'T luck . . . it's planned by women who wear the famous CHARMODE girdle found only at SEARS, ROEBUCK CO. The most beautiful gown in the world loses its value when your girdle is ill fitting. A CHARMODE flattens a protruding stomach, conceals bulging hips and takes inches off the waist. Don't go through the holiday season without a CHARMODE girdle if you have a protruding stomach, or bulges in the wrong places. Enjoy the comfort this girdle affords. There's a private fitting room and an expert corsetiere at SEARS, ROEBUCK CO.

OTHERS MAY HAVE more beautiful homes and have more money in the bank but no one has a monopoly on SUREBEST BREAD. Money can't buy better bread. How satisfying is this thought. SUREBEST BREAD satisfies hunger, it pleases the palate, it has a tantalizing fragrance and is health building. The minerals found in SUREBEST BREAD are worth more than tonics found in bottles. Feed your family SUREBEST bread . . . the oldest and the youngest member of the family needs the health building minerals and vitamins found in SUREBEST.

The First Methodist Church Observes the Season Between Thanksgiving and Christmas as

BUILDING FUND MONTH

MISS LEA JOYNER
Assistant to hte Pastor

During this period it is hoped that the Building Fund will be increased to $150,000. When building conditions will permit it, and as the funds are available, the First Methodist Church will build a modern Educational Building, and a beautiful Sanctuary, designed according to the best in church architecture, with the improvements and conveniences of the postwar world.

That citizens of the surrounding territory may become better acquainted with their churches, this page is reverently dedicated by

BUILDING FUND MONTH

MISS LEA JOYNER
Assistant to hte Pastor

During this period it is hoped that the Building Fund will be increased to $150,000. When building conditions will permit it, and as the funds are available, the First Methodist Church will build a modern Educational Building, and a beautiful Sanctuary, designed according to the best in church architecture, with the improvements and conveniences of the postwar world.

Delta Rho Delta Members Hear A Splendid Lecture

Dr. John J. Entrikin, professor of chemistry, Centenary College, Shreveport, addressed members of the Delta Rho Delta sorority on the interesting and timely subject "Plastics Unlimited" at their regular program meeting Monday, November 25th at 8:00 p. m., at the Frances Hotel.

He was introduced by Mrs. E. F. Holdsworth and began his lecture by giving a brief review of the three stages of civilization through which man has passed in order to adapt the things in nature he found to suit his desires and needs. First he learned to appropriate and later he learned to adapt. Rocks and logs were used for making implements and houses. In the case of mud, it was made into brick, sand became glass through many centuries of adapting. It is the creative stage of mankind that has brought us the things we have. Plastics fit into this creative stage of man's development. Plastics and synthetic fibres are both made from the starting formula. Rayon is a synthetic fibre and is a tremendous industry, that is 60 years old. The first rayon material was not made in mass production till World War One. It was an area of high prices and there was a tremendous demand for it. Since 1919-20 it has become a major competitor of cotton.

We have new fibres coming in to take the place of silk. Silk culture has deterioated and will probably never hold its former place. In 1946 less than a million pair of silk hose were manufactured against 31 million in 1939. Synthetics and plastics will take the place of silk.

There are many types of plastics. The most common is made from phenol and Fomaldahide. Carbolic acid is made from Benzine and Fomaldahide comes from the oxidation of wood alcohol. By combining Phenol and Fomaldahide you get a hard plastic substance from which auto gears, radio cabinets are made. Asbestos fibre is used to make plastics heat resistant. Plastics are also made from soybeans, corn cobs and other farm products. Nylon is a true plastic and is made from air, coal and water. There are other types of plastic made from skim milk. "Saran" is still another type plastic. It is harder than either rayon or nylon and is a true plastic. There is one advantage to synthetic fibre over the natural fibres. Natural fibres come in a variety of lengths but synthetic fibre comes by the mile and can be cut to the desired length. By different combinations and processes synthetic fibres can be shaped and converted into unlimited numbers and types of materials. Patent leathers, furniture, costume jewelry, toy houses, artificial furs, simulated alligator, liquid coatings are but a few of the infinite variety of things made from plastics. It is also fast taking the place of things made from wood and metal.

The three processes for making plastics now in use are first, casting or molding. The second and most common is called intrusion. By this process the material is forced into molds by pressure with a piston ram and subjected to heat. The third method is called extrusion. By this method the material is pumped out through holes or slits into the desired shape. Whole wall boards can be cast in this manner and it is fast becoming popular. Too, plastics can be used in an endless number of ways and the future possibilities are unlimited. We stand on the threshold of another great era of change in the industrial world brought about by this amazing material.

REVELATION BOOK WILL BE REVEALED

The public is invited to hear a series of services starting at the Church of God chapel (Dean Chapel) on the Arkansas road, of which M. G. Ikerd is pastor, tonight at 7:30 p. m.

The speaker will be Evangelist W. S. Goodnight, of Boone, N. C., who will discuss the "Mystery of the Book of the Revelation."

He will use a large chart which unfolds the spiritual truths of the book; will explain the symbols of the book in their proper spiritual meaning and time of fulfillment, proving that we are now living in the Last Seal and sounding of the Seventh Trumpet of the Gospel Dispensation.

PUBLIC FORUM

TEEN-AGERS

Monroe, La.,
November 30, 1946.

To The Editor:

I wish to reply to a Public Form Letter signed by George Holland which appeared in the November 14 issue of the Monroe Morning World, in regard to the Teen-Age Club. Mr. Holland stated that the activities of this club were wholesome and good for them. On Saturday night, November 23, 1946, I visited the Junior Chamber of Commerce Teen-Age Club at the Monroe Recreation Center and I saw the activities being carried on by this club. I think it well that we have other opinions on this matter along with Mr. Holland's. To the best of my knowledge I saw some 600 or 700 of Monroe's cream of the crop boys and girls engaging in these activities. Many of these children are church members and many of these are our most promising leaders of tomorrow, if given the right kind of training.

May I state here that I do not blame, nor do I condemn, these innocent boys and girls for attending this club when they are being led by so-called church leaders and our Chamber of Commerce. I blame these leaders and parents that will endorse such things for the children.

Back to the activities of this club, there is, in my opinion, some that are wholesome. For instance, the ping-pong and boxing. I also think it a fine idea for our children to get together and know each other. But we want clean entertainment for them that will build their little lives morally and spiritually. Then, I would say a word or so about the dancing. Dancing into the late hours of the night does not leave our boys and girls freshened and invigorated for Sunday School the next morning. The tragic thing about this is not the harm it may cause now but the aftermath. These boys and girls will soon be too old to attend this club and then they have been used to this kind of entertainment so they will turn to the nightclubs and we know where this leads. I wonder how in this world a Sunday School superintendent can endorse, direct and sponsor such a place on Saturday night and then teach a Sunday School class the next Morning. I do not believe a person can do this and give justice to either of the activities. "He must love the one or hate the other." Then there are the card games that will lead these boys and girls to gambling which is being practiced so openly now by older ones.

In the light of these facts Christians cannot participate in these forms of amusement nor can they sanction, endorse or direct them, for in so doing we give this amusement respect it does not deserve. Can any one deny the fact that this tends to lead our children downward instead of upward. This form of amusement has already filtered the minds of many of the children and they will not go to church. The blood of these innocent boys and girls will be required at the hands of these leaders and parents. "Woe unto them that call evil good." The Bible teaches us that we who do such things should have something around our neck and be cast into the sea.

What is our hope? First, our churches should have more fire in them than they have. We ought to separate people from our congregations that endorse such things and maybe some of our preachers that uphold these things. We ought not to be afraid to tell the truth about things. Regardless how much we try to smooth over sin and make it right it does not change God's Word about it.

Respectfully yours,
REV. JAMES C. HOUSTON.

SINGING MEET IS SLATED ON SUNDAY

Valley Of Mystery To Be Theme Of Town Hall Address

The next guest speaker of Monroe's Town Hall will be Captain John Vanderveer Deuel, United States army resigned, who will speak at the Ouachita High School auditorium Monday at 8 p.m.

Captain Deuel, in addition to talking on post war military and civilian aviation, also has an excellent personal adventure story which he sometimes tells about his life in the Amazon country, the valley of mystery, from which few white men have ever returned. His address in Monroe will be entitled "Amazonas – Valley of Mystery."

Captain Deuel's appearance in Monroe was made possible by the fact that the local club enjoys an affiliation with the Associated Clubs, the national organization whose sole mission is to obtain the services of the country's foremost speakers for its various clients throughout North America.

Captain Deuel is widely travelled, speaks five languages, and he is the personal friend of many political leaders and of army and navy officials at home and abroad.

A recognized authority on aeronautics, Captain Deuel brings the observations of a keen mind and a rare background to the American lecture platform. He enjoys that rare combination of having something to say of knowing how to say it, and of being able to say it in a very appealing manner. His appearance should be one that will not soon be forgotten.

EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

The Salvation Army, through Adjutant Charles A. Stratford, wishes to express appreciation to Rev. R. T. Watson and ministers and members of the various denominations participating in the union Thanksgiving service held in the First Christian Church under the sponsorship of the Ministerial Association. And also for the generous offering which was contributed to the Salvation Army.

At least 70 kinds of seaweed are edible.

IN MOVIELAND

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The movie town last night put on its best manners and gave the Associated Press Managing Editors Association what oldtimers reckoned was the biggest party in Hollywood's history.

All the stars were out, even though you couldn't see three convertibles ahead in the fog outdoors. Some of the men put on their best toupees and the women wore their most dazzling strapless evening gowns—there were more bare shoulders than at a Golden Gloves tournament.

The party was given by the Producers Association and the Independent Producers Society at the Biltmore Bowl. Guests were treated to a dinner which included strained petite marmite, cheese courtons savoyarde and coupe gastronome, whatever those are. Then came the entertainment, and I had better just list what happened, lest I sound like a press agent. There was enough talent to put vaudeville back in business—and enough John L. Lewis gags to burn.

Greer Garson welcomed the editors. Jack Benny came on and vowed there would be no jokes connecting the A. P. with the A. and P. Jane Powell trilled a couple of songs. Edgar Bergen brought on his wooden-head friend, who heard the producers were giving the party and wanted to know: "What have they done now?" A Cincinnati, O., comboy named Roy Rogers brought on his act, as did an Ohio baseball magnate named Robert Hope.

Virginia O'Brien deadpanned her songs, and Red Skelton proceded to lacerate the customers with his pantomime. Ronald Reagan introduced Judy Garland who sang "Got the Sun In the Morning" as though she meant it. An old-time vaudeville act included Hope, Benny, George Burns and Van Johnson, and Dick Haymes followed with the best baritone in Hollywood. And then, if the issue were in doubt, Jimmy Durante came on and broke up da jernt.

The managing editors, who had toured the movie studios in the afternoon, had a picture celebrity at each table. Marilyn Maxwell, who was sporting a blonde and purple hairdo, sat with H. M. Shoebothum, of the Sioux Falls, S. D., Argus-Leader; A. Y. Aronson, Louisville Times, with Paul Muni; Herbert F. Corn, Washington Star, with Walter Pidgeon; Fred Gaertner, Detroit News, with Yvonne de Carlo; Edward E. Lindsay, Decatur Herald Review, with Jimmy Cagney; Dwight S. Perrin, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, with Ellen Drew; Charlie Hushaw, Glendale, Calif., News-Press, with Johnny Weissmuller; to name a few.

Presuming they would recover, the M. E.'s were scheduled today to attend the U. C. L. A.-Nebraska game, and then head for home.

MINDEN CAB DRIVER FATALLY INJURED

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 30.—(AP)—George Brown, 21, a Minden cab driver, was killed and three other persons injured shortly after noon today when their automobile left Highway 80, about 12 miles east of Bossier City.

State Troopers B. N. Burley and H. N. Davis said a piece of metal ring from the car's steering wheel pierced Brown's heart.

The others injured are: Mrs. Margaret Todd, 19, of Minden, who suffered a broken collarbone; A. G. Green, 19, Minden, bruises on the right arm; and Miss Johnny Faye Ryan, 15, of Fryeburg, cut about the face

Captain Deuel is widely travelled, speaks five languages, and he is the personal friend of many political leaders and of army and navy officials at home and abroad.

A recognized authority on aeronautics, Captain Deuel brings the observations of a keen mind and a rare background to the American lecture platform. He enjoys that rare combination of having something to say of knowing how to say it, and of being able to say it in a very appealing manner. His appearance should be one that will not soon be forgotten.

EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

The Salvation Army, through Adjutant Charles A. Stratford, wishes to express appreciation to Rev. R. T. Watson and ministers and members of the various denominations participating in the union Thanksgiving service held in the First Christian Church under the sponsorship of the Ministerial Association. And also for the generous offering which was contributed to the Salvation Army.

IN MOVIELAND

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The movie town last night put on its best manners and gave the Associated Press Managing Editors Association what oldtimers reckoned was the biggest party in Hollywood's history.

All the stars were out, even though you couldn't see three convertibles ahead in the fog outdoors. Some of the men put on their best toupees and the women wore their most dazzling strapless evening gowns—there were more bare shoulders than at a Golden Gloves tournament.

The party was given by the Producers Association and the Independent Producers Society at the Biltmore Bowl. Guests were treated to a dinner which included strained petite marmite, cheese courtons savoyarde and coupe gastronome, whatever those are. Then came the entertainment, and I had better just list what happened, lest I sound like a press agent. There was enough talent to put vaudeville back in business—and enough John L. Lewis gags to burn.

Greer Garson welcomed the editors. Jack Benny came on and vowed there would be no jokes connecting the A. P. with the A. and P. Jane Powell trilled a couple of songs. Edgar Bergen brought on his wooden-head friend, who heard the producers were giving the party and wanted to know: "What have they done now?" A Cincinnati, O., comboy named Roy Roggers brought on his act, as did an Ohio baseball magnate named Robert Hope.

Virginia O'Brien deadpanned her songs, and Red Skelton proceded to lacerate the customers with his pantomime. Ronald Reagan introduced Judy Garland who sang "Got the Sun In the Morning" as though she meant it. An old-time vaudeville act included Hope, Benny, George Burns and Van Johnson, and Dick Haymes followed with the best baritone in Hollywood. And then, if the issue were in doubt, Jimmy Durante came on and broke up da jernt.

The managing editors, who had toured the movie studios in the afternoon, had a picture celebrity at each table. Marilyn Maxwell, who was sporting a blonde and purple hairdo, sat with H. M. Shoebothum, of the Sioux Falls, S. D., Argus-Leader; A. Y. Aronson, Louisville Times, with Paul Muni; Herbert F. Corn, Washington Star, with Walter Pidgeon; Fred Gaertner, Detroit News, with Yvonne de Carlo; Edward E. Lindsay, Decatur Herald Review, with Jimmy Cagney; Dwight S. Perrin, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, with Ellen Drew; Charlie Hushaw, Glendale, Calif., News-Press, with Johnny Weissmuller; to name a few.

Presuming they would recover, the M. E.'s were scheduled today to attend the U. C. L. A.-Nebraska game, and then head for home.

MINDEN CAB DRIVER FATALLY INJURED

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 30.—(AP)—George Brown, 21, a Minden cab driver, was killed and three other persons injured shortly after noon today when their automobile left Highway 80, about 12 miles east of Bossier City.

State Troopers B. N. Burley and H. N. Davis said a piece of metal ring from the car's steering wheel pierced Brown's heart.

The others injured are: Mrs. Margaret Tood, 19, of Minden, who suffered a broken collarbone; A. G. Green, 19, Minden, bruises on the right arm; and Miss Johnny Faye Ryan, 15, of Fryeburg, cut about the face

REV. HAYWARD IS HONORED FOR 25 YEARS LOYAL SERVICE

Bishop Will Preach Anniversary Sermon; Reception Planned

Crowning 25 years of church and community service, ever useful, devoted and consecrated to his work, Rev. Edward Farren Hayward, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, is on Sunday rounding out this long span in the ministry of the Gospel in Monroe. His lengthy service has placed him as dean of all church heads in the city, as no other leader of a local flock can claim so long continued period of service.

In manner most fitting, the Rt. Rev. John L. Jackson, D. D., bishop of Louisiana, will come to Monroe to preach the anniversary sermon at Grace Church Sunday morning as well as to confirm a class on this memorable occasion. Previous to the morning preaching service, the corporate communion of the parish will be held Sunday at 7:30 a.m., which will be celebrated by the rector and curate.

A reception for the rector and his devoted wife will be held in Hotel Frances, second floor, Monday from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m., at which time the congregation and friends of Rev. and Mrs. Hayward will attend and express their appreciation of his faithful service.

In the history of Monroe, Grace Church has played a most important role. It is entertwined in the progress of the community and in no small way has Rev. Hayward had a large and important role to play. Only one church in Monroe is older than is Grace Church, that one being St. Matthew's Catholic Church. The earliest church record records that services "according to the rites and ceremonies of the Episcopal Church" bear initial date of September, 1847. In 1856, the Rt. Rev. Leonidas Polk, bishop of Louisiana, came to Monroe and appointed the first church vestry. In 1848, the Parish of Grace Church was organized; and in 1866, was admitted into union with the convention of the Diocese of Louisiana. The cornerstone of Grace Church, located then at Oak and St. John Streets, was laid with appropriate ceremony, March 29, 1871. The edifice was of brick, English Gothic, and cost approximately $10,000. The bell for the church was presented by General Frank Pargoud and it is the same bell that is rung today in the new Grace Church to call people to worship.

In the fall of 1921, the present rector, Rev. Hayward, at the solicitation of the then bishop, the Rt. Rev. Davis Sessums, D. D., assumed charge of Grace Church. There had been 17 priests who had been rectors of Grace Church prior to the coming of Rev. Hayward. He found the church in anything but a prosperous condition, and the people were about to give up the struggle and close its doors. To add to the discouragement and disconfiture of the small, weary congregation, two days after Christmas, 1923, the church was burned to the ground.

In looking back on those days, Rev. Hayward states that it seemed at first that the load was too heavy to bear. But his dauntless spirit courageously proceeded. He was not a man to give up the ship. There was but $5,000, inclusive of insurance collected, available for the erection of a new edifice.

With this $5,000 and unflinching energy, Rev. Hayward and his loyal congregation struggled through the inroads of financial adversity. Today Grace Church is housed in what is conceeded to be the most beautiful church architecturally in Monroe, located at North Fourth and Glenmar, where it has an investment of $130,000, which includes grounds, buildings, equipment and memorials, every cent paid for in full. Free of all debts it was consecrated by the bishop of the Diocese, the Rt. Rev. John Jackson, D. D., in January, 1943, which was a proud day for this congregation. The new church, of Tudor Gothic cathedral architecture, is a fine example of the 15th and 16th century church buildings of Europe. The congregation now looks forward to the building of a modern parish house with religious educational facilities, and has on hand for this needed construction the sum of $25,000 in investments.

But progress made is not confined to material gains alone. In his quarter of a century ministration, there have been 454 baptisms; 561 confirmations; 206 marriages performed; 209 funerals held; 2,700 celebrations of the Holy Eucharist and other public services total 3,000. Today there is a communicant membership, including those baptized of more than 632.

Grace Church has added recently a curate, Rev. William Albert, from Canton, Miss., who will be the priest in charge also of St. David's Church in Rayville, which in the past has been served by Rev. Hayward, and the rector of Grace Church in the past has also served the small [illegible] churches in Minden, Tallulah and Ruston.

Officers of Grace Church today are: Senior warden, Wood Thompson; junior warden, Fred Fudickar, Jr.; secretary, Charles Fulsom; treasurer, Wood Thompson; Mrs. John Hardin, senior guild president; Mrs. Joe Bennett, junior guild president; Mrs. Thomas Davenport, Daughters of the King, president; Mrs. Henry Whitfield, woman's auxiliary president; Joe Goine, men's club president; Thomas Davenport, superintendent of the church school; Rev. William Albert, curate, director of youth activities.

Vestrymen of the church are listed as follows: Harry Frazer, Clyde Brown, Wesley Shafto, Shep Girault, Walter Kellogg, E. L. Jefferson, Underwood Fourmy, F. L. Smith, D. L. Schiver, Joe Goine, Jr., W. E. Lawson, F. J. Linquist, Wood Thompson, Fred Fudickar, Jr., and Charles Fulsom.

Rev. William Albert has charge as music director and E. Lowry Jefferson is organist.

Rev. Hayward was born in Philadelphia, Pa. He attended public schools in that city and pursued special studies in history and English in the University of Pennsylvania. He graduated from the Philadelphia Divinity School in 1906.

His first pastorate was at St. Stephen's Church in Camden, N. J.; later he served as rector of the Episcopal churches in Chippewa Falls, Wis., and in Enid, Okla., remaining at the last named for two years, when he went to the rectorship of St. Andrew's Church in Houston, Tex., for a two-year stay.

He married Miss Ethel Alexander, of Bristol, England, in 1908, who is highly connected in the present officialdom of the Church of England. They are parents of five children who are. Mrs. Frank Morgan, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Bernard Webb, Iowa City, Ia., where her husband is now studying for the degree of doctor of philosophy; Jimmy Hayward, Monroe; Mrs. Floyd Stone, Jr., and Edward Farren Hayward, Jr., with the United States army of occupation in Germany.

In affairs of the church, Rev. Hayward has been active on Diocesan committees such as the board of managers of the Children's Home; deputy to three general conventions; alternate to one; and in the recent general convention in Philadelphia, served on the committee of expenses of the convention; was deputy and again alternate to the Provincial Synod. He served on the committee of eight to select names that were presented at the Diocesan Convention for the election of a bishop to succeed the late Bishop Morris, D. D. Dr. John L. Jackson was elected and is the present bishop of the Diocese. Rev. Hayward served for some years on the committee of Canons.

When the Diocese was reorganized, and the bishop and council came into existence, Rev. Hayward was elected one of two priests to represent the northern convocation and served for four years in this capacity.

At this time, and for several years, he is a member of the board of examining chaplains, examining in Liturgics; the history, contents and use of the Book of Common Prayer. He is chairman of the board of church architecture and fine arts, and last, but not least, is one of the deans of the Diocese, presiding over the northern convocation. Deans serve as advisors to the bishop concerning the missionary work of the Diocese and other duties prescribed by the canon.

In community interests, Rev. Hayward has proved a highly valuable asset to the Twin Cities and all north Louisiana. He is past president of the Juvenile Association, holding this post for 12 years. He is co-organizer and past president of the Monroe Civic Music Association, and was its president for five years. He served as president of the Monroe Little Theatre; is past president of the Monroe Rotary Club and past eminent commander of the Monroe Commandery No. 7 and past grand prelate of the Grand Commandery of Louisiana.

PRESBYTERIAN S. S. TO AID ORPHANS

The Sunday School offering of the First Presbyterian Church today will be devoted to the Palmer Orphan's Home in Columbus, Miss., which is supported by the Presbyterian denomination.

This institution provides a comfortable Christian home for between 50 and 60 boys and girls who have no other home through the loss of their parents.

Presbyterian churches take up but one annual offering for this home which is always on or as near as possible Thanksgiving day.

Rev. Ernest Duncan Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, urges that the offering on Sunday be as generous as possible for with current expenses mounting more money than ever is now required to support the home.

MONROE-ALEXANDRIA POLICE MATCH TODAY

The Monroe police department's best performers with service revolvers will compete with a team of Alexandria officers at Alexandria this afternoon in a match scheduled to start at 1 o'clock. It will be a return engagement of a meeting of the two squads in Monroe last October, which was won by the local marksmen.

If the match is restricted to six men on a side, as was the previous one, Monroe's representatives will be Sgts. John B. Whitfield and H. J. McMurray and Officers E. L. (Pop) Walker, William H. Soureal, Frank Kirby and Ralph Graves, who finished in that order in a recent practice shoot. Ready to step in if the squads are enlarged will be Sgt. George Wood and Officers M. L. Peters, Bennie Hickman, Russell Jordan, L. P. Smith and William Booth.

Accompanying the marksmen on the auto trip to Alexandria will be Chief J. D. Busby, Captain H. T. Ward, and Instructor T. O. Bancroft. Under the latter's training Monroe policemen have become so efficient in hip shooting that many of them can draw and place five shots in the "killing area" within two seconds. Chief Jeff Caldwell of West Monroe also will be in the party. The Alexandria department has arranged a barbecue to follow the match.

L. B. FAULK POST NO. 13

POST QUOTA-911 MEMBERS---730 HAVE BEEN ATTAINED

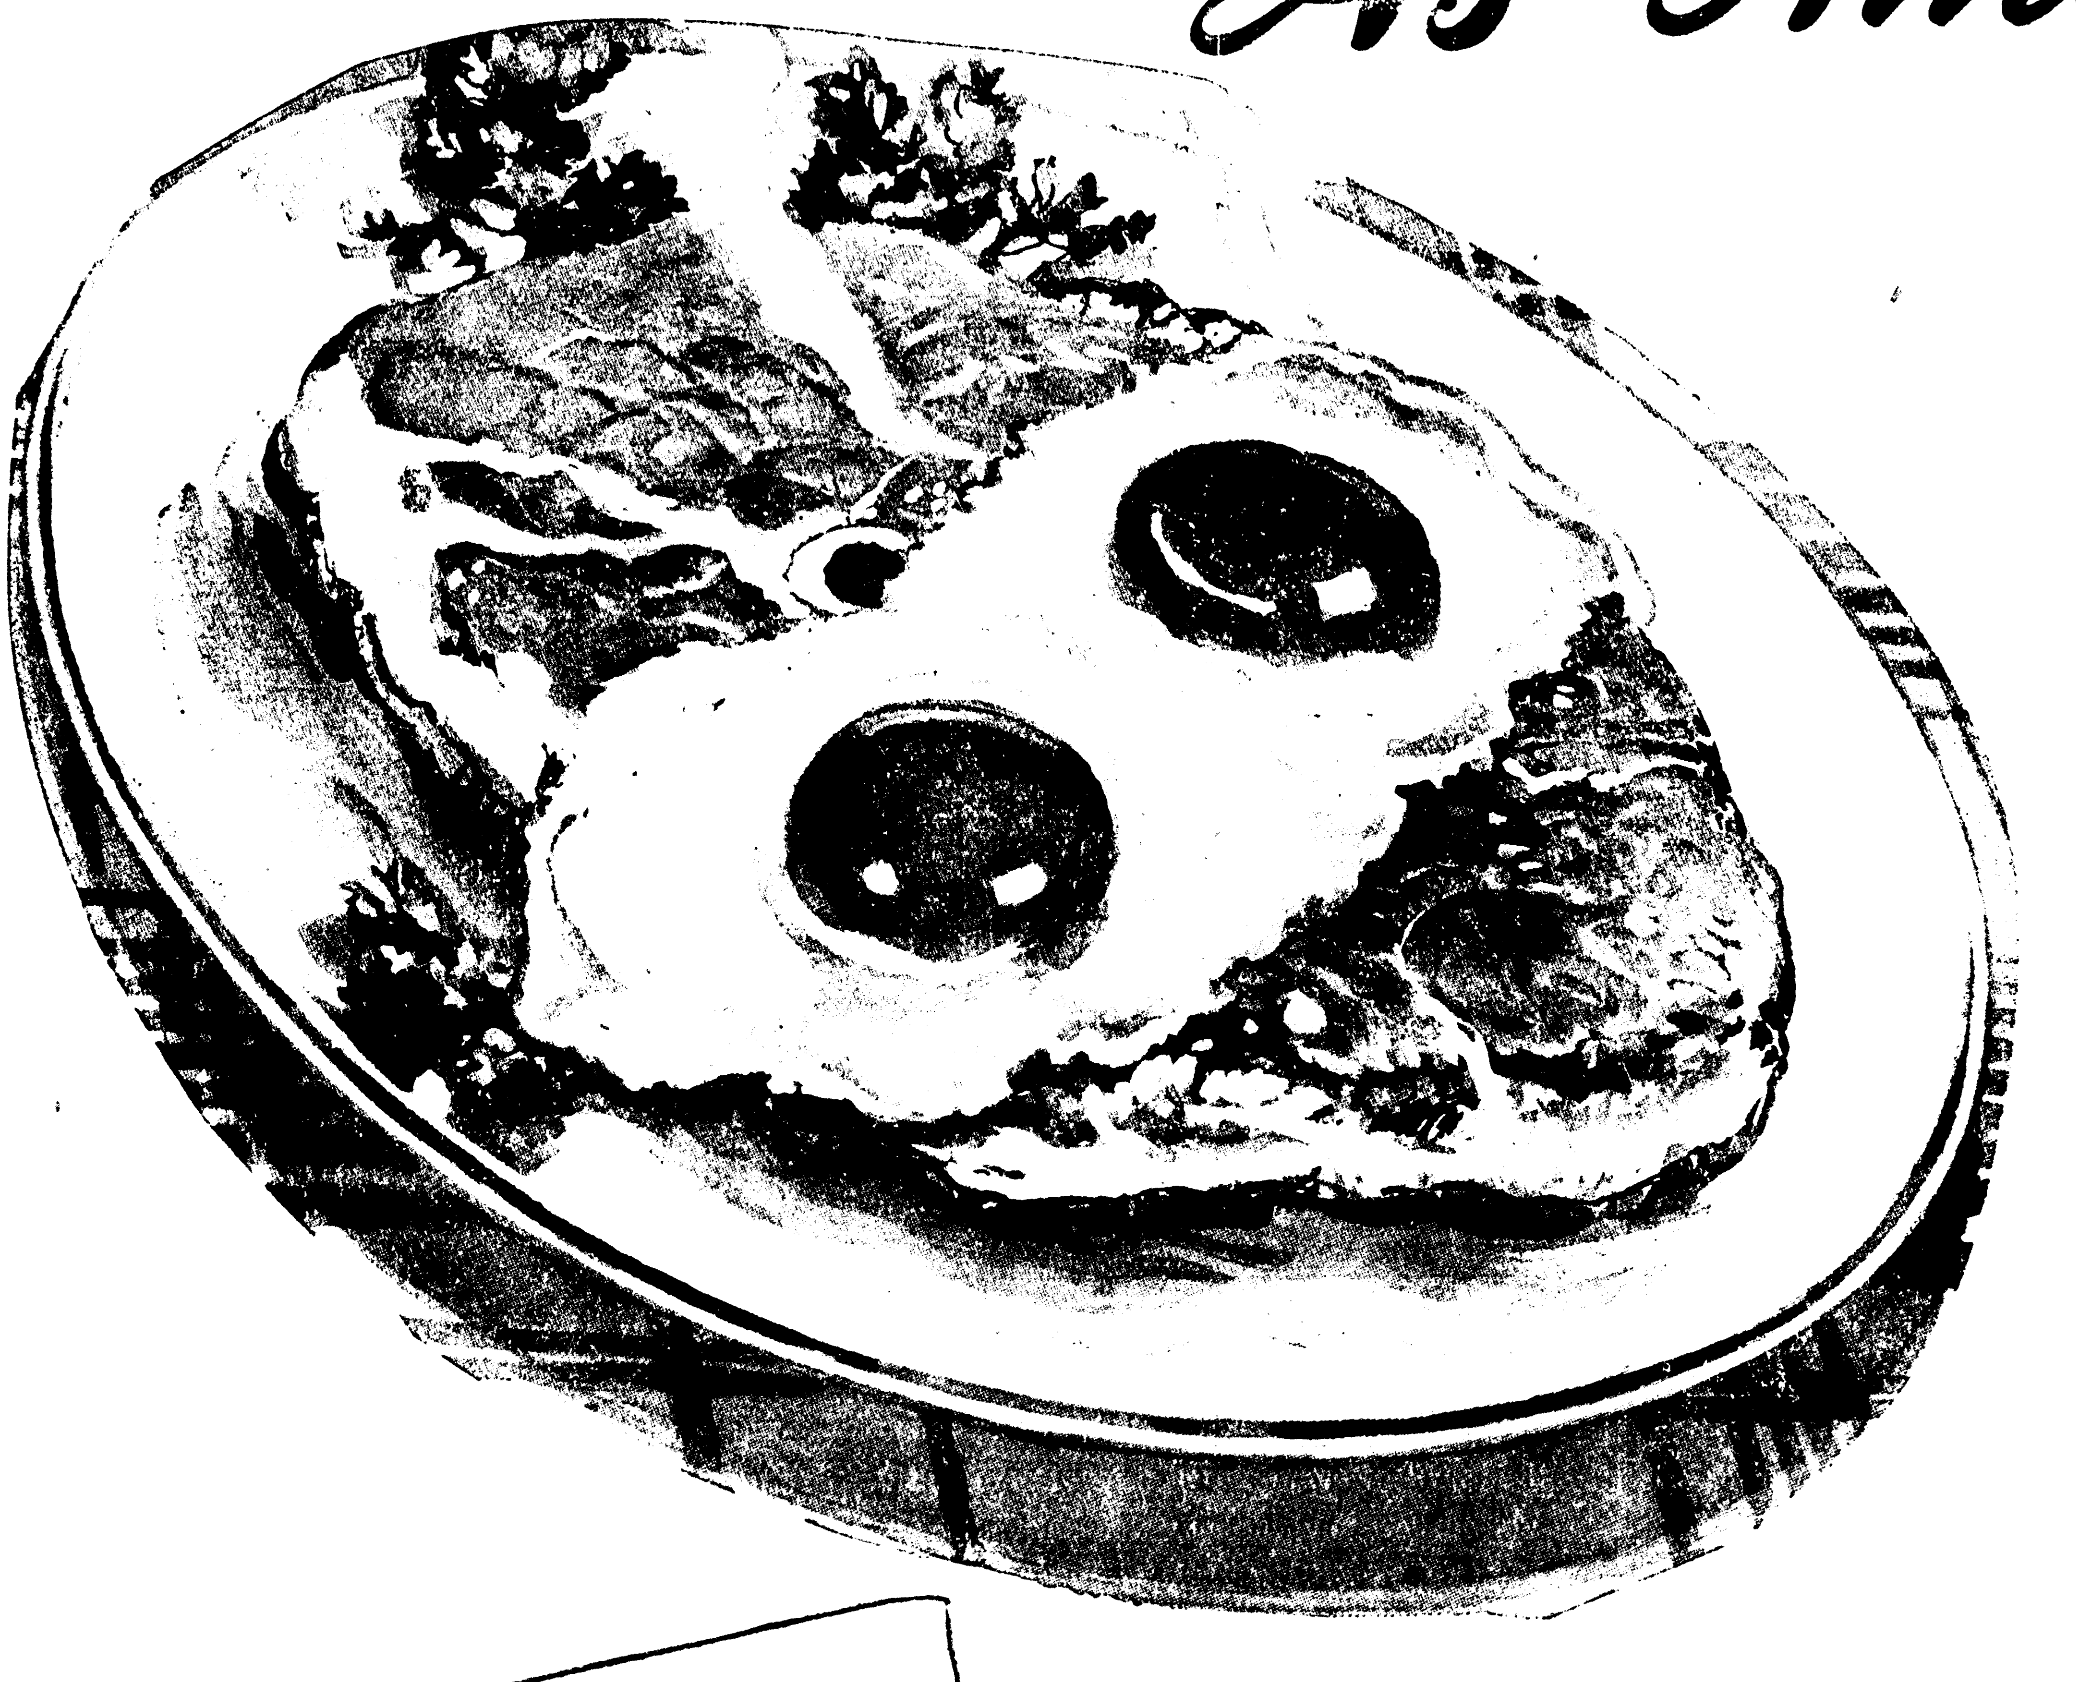
It's the average American citizen's participation in community affairs, and that's what you find in the American Legion—a community organization made up of men and women from all walks of life actively engaged in doing unselfish jobs to make the home town a better place to live, be it construction of a wading pool for the kiddies, assisting a needy family, equipping a hospital or sponsoring a civic center.

Selective Service took the nation's very finest into the armed forces. More than three million of them already are in the Legion. They preserved the nation in war—they will guide the country in peace, be it at the community state or national level. The Legion can use your energies for civic improvement and the welfare of all America.

As American as

HAM AND EGGS...

THAT'S YOUR AMERICAN LEGION!



What Makes America Click

The membership drive has begun and will close the first of the year. State Convention is to be held in Monroe next year and L. B. Faulk Post is desirous of getting new members to help with this convention, which is to be the largest the Louisiana Legionnaires have ever held.

American Legion extends a cordial welcome and invitation to all eligible veterans to join.

This is the Legion Program:

1. Giving all possible help and care to wounded or disabled veterans and to the widows and orphans of service men.
2. Insuring all possible recognition in civil life for all men and women who have seen honorable service in the armed forces of the U. S.
3. Promoting patriotism and good citizenship on the part of all Americans.
4. Working, at all times, for a real national defense program.
5. Maintaining the close friendships which began in service, through continuing comradeship and mutual helpfulness.

THE FIRST LITTLE DENT
ALICE, DO YOU REMEMBER THE FIRST TIME YOU CHIPPED AN EGG AND I GOT SO EXCITED ABOUT IT?
YOU WOULD, SUSIE! YOU WOULD! FOR SIX WEEKS I DRIVE THIS CAR LIKE IT WAS A CRATE OF EGGS—NOT ONE LITTLE SCRATCH—AND FIRST TIME YOU LAY YOUR HAND ON THE WHEEL THIS HAPPENS!
BUT, FREDDIE-IT DOESN'T DRIVE LIKE OUR OLD CAR, IT DOESN'T FEEL THE SAME!
CHEER UP, SUSIE! IT'S ONLY THE FIRST DENT THAT HURTS
THE NEXT HUNDRED COME EASY
THAT'S WHY I ALWAYS BACK OUT—IT PUTS THE DENTS IN THE REAR WHERE YOU DON'T HAVE TO SIT AND LOOK AT THEM!
JUST WAIT UNTIL I START TO DRIVE!
THIS OUGHT TO STOP SUSIE TALKING ABOUT WHAT FREDDIE DID COMING HOME FROM THE CLAM BAKE!
I DON'T SEE ANY CONNECTION! SUSIE WASN'T EATING CLAMS DANGER MEN WORKING
I SUPPOSE A FIRST DENT IS LIKE A FIRST FLEA—YOU GET USED TO THEM AFTER A WHILE!
I DON'T SEE, BABE? THAT'S THE TROUBLE WITH A NEW CAR—NOW WITH A BUS LIKE THIS, A GUY CAN RELAX AND REALLY ENJOY DRIVING!
I REMEMBER WHEN THAT BUGGY GOT IT'S FIRST DENT. AND THE MAN WHO OWNED IT WAS MADDER'N HOPS, BUT HE'S PASSED ON NOW!
SLOW DOWN, SLUG! I THINK I HEAR A NEW RATTLE

"THERE'S NOTHING MORE TO LEARN HERE," TARZAN SAID. "I HAVEN'T TRAVELED THIS DISTANCE TO BE FRIGHTENED AWAY BY A PRINTED WARNING AND A SECRET SYMBOL!"
"I BELIEVE WE WILL LEARN THE SECRET OF THIS STRANGE PLACE AND ITS MYSTERIOUS ACTIVITIES IN THE GREAT GORILLA HEAD! BUT FIRST WE MUST EAT--I AM HUNGRY!"
NEVER AT A LOSS FOR FOOD WHERE GAME EXISTED, THE APE-MAN, SILENT AS A SHADOW, STALKED A DEER AND HIS ARROW SPED TOWARD ITS MARK.
A TWIG SLIGHTLY DIVERTED THE FEATHERED SHAFT. WOUNDED, THE BUCK BOUNDED OFF THROUGH THE FOREST WITH THE TWO MEN IN HOT PURSUIT.
A SHORT CHASE AND THE DEER DROPPED. BUT TARZAN'S INTEREST IN HIS KILL CEASED ABRUPTLY WHEN HE BEHELD A LARGE TRANSPORT PLANE PARKED BENEATH THE TREES.
HERE THEY FOUND MANY PLANES MARKED WITH THE STRANGE INSIGNE. AND THE TREES WERE CAMOUFLAGED AND HELD UP WITH WIRES.
THE SIGNIFICANCE OF THIS FIND OVERWHELMED HIM. HERE WAS A HIDDEN AIRPORT THAT COULD BE READY IN A FEW HOURS. SOMETHING COLOSSAL WAS AFOOT!
FOLLOWING A TRAIL ALONG THE BASE OF THE CLIFF AND PAST A LEDGE-COVERED HANGAR, THE PAIR ADVANCED CAUTIOUSLY ALTHOUGH THEY HAD NOT SEEN A SOUL.
THE TRAIL ENDED ABRUPTLY BEFORE A HEAVY DOOR SET IN THE SOLID ROCK. "WATCH OUT!" TARZAN GROWLED TO HIS FRIEND. "I DON'T LIKE THIS--I SMELL DANGER!"
THE NEXT INSTANT A VOICE COMMANDED THEM TO HALT AND A WINDOW-LIKE SECTION OF ROCK ABOVE THE DOOR OPENED TO REVEAL A GUARD WITH A MACHINE GUN.
THEN TWO UNIFORMED MEN, WITH RIFLES READY, STEPPED FROM THE UNDERBRUSH BESIDE THE DOOR. THE APE-MAN AND HIS FRIEND WERE CORNERED FROM THREE SIDES.
"IF YOU DON'T UNDERSTAND ENGLISH, WILD MEN, YOU UNDERSTAND THIS," ONE MAN SAID, PATTING HIS RIFLE. "ONE FUNNY MOVE AND I'LL PLUG BOTH OF YOU!"

YOU THINK THAT DOCTOR'S DOIN' YER HUSBAND ANY GOOD, LADY P.?
WELL, DEARIE, I DON'T KNOW. HE'S SASSED ME BACK TWICT TODAY WITHOUT EVEN DODGING AW, A TREE HANDED GAME AIN'T NO FUN. I'M GONNA GO HOME.
ME TOO.
WAIT A MINUTE, JERKEY-I GOT A IDEA HOW WE CAN GET A FOURTH.
I DON'T LIKE DIS IDEAR. I TINK MOON'S GOOFEY.
GOOD GRIEF!
THIS IS DR. JERQUE, THE NOTED SPECIALIST MOON SENT TO SEE YOU, LORD P.
YEH-WOT YOUSE NEED, MR. PLUSHBOTTOM-IS FRESH AIR! EXERCISE! LONG WALKS!
DOCTOR, I AIN'T BEEN FEELING SO SPORTY MYSELF LATELY.
UGH! JES' OPEN YER MOUTH AND SAY "AHHH"
AHH-- CHEE!
OHH-DOCTOR, AM I THAT BAD OFF?
YEH-EVEN WOISE! GIT RIGHT IN BED AND STAY THERE-AND YOUSE, PLUSHBOTTOM, START TAKING YER WALKS IMMEDIATELY!
HO HO HO!
JERKEY, WILL YOU KINDLY SHUT UP! YOU KNOW SHE'S GOT EARS THAT CAN EVEN HEAR THE GRASS GROW.
WAKE UP, PLUSHIE! IT'S YOUR DEAL.
OH, PARDON ME, GENTLEMEN. I WAS JUST WONDERING WHAT EMMY WOULD SAY IF SHE EVER FOUND OUT THAT JERKEY ISN'T REALLY A DOCTOR.
WELL, YOU KNOW AS MANY WORDS AS WE DO, PLUSHIE. GO ON AND DEAL!

CHESTER, DR. MOTA AND SOC FACE A SACRIFICIAL TABLE — WHILE, IN ANOTHER PART OF THE ANCIENT TEMPLE, DR. MOTA'S DAUGHTER, TULIP, IS BEING PREPARED FOR A MYSTERIOUS SACRED RITE--
I DON'T LIKE THE LOOKS OF THIS SETUP!
A SACRIFICAL TABLE? G-GOLLY!
MEANWHILE
YOU ARE A LUCKY GIRL! YOUR COMING HAS RENEWED THE FAITH OF OUR PEOPLE IN THEIR PROPHETS---- GREAT RICHES AND POWER ARE YOURS!
BUT WHAT'S THIS ALL ABOUT?
FOR THOUSANDS OF YEARS OUR PEOPLE HAVE BELIEVED THAT A GOLDEN GODDESS WOULD COME TO THEM OUT OF THE FIRE OF THE MOUNTAIN--
-- HAD YOU NOT COME TO US TODAY — I, AS THE HIGH PRIESTESS, WOULD HAVE BEEN SACRIFICED! AND I HAVE NOT WISHED TO DIE! — YOU HAVE MY GRATITUDE!
BUT---I FEAR ONE OF YOUR FRIENDS MUST DIE TO APPEASE THE WRATH OF THE FIRE MOUNTAIN! IN THIS MATTER I AM HELPLESS---
NO-- NO!
I WILL VOLUNTEER - IN CASE THERE IS TO BE A HUMAN SACRIFICE!
NO, DR. MOTA-I'LL DO IT! YOUR MIND IS MORE IMPORTANT TO THE WORLD THAN THE LIVES OF A HUNDRED MEN LIKE ME!
NOBODY IS GOING TO BE SACRIFICED! WE'LL FIGHT!
HERE THEY COME! AND THERE'S TULIP. THEY'RE CARRYING HER IN THAT CHAIR
MY DAUGHTER! MAYBE THEY INTEND TO SACRIFICE HER!
THEY WILL-- OVER OUR DEAD BODIES!

Little Orphan Annie
"AS HE THINKETH IN HIS HEART, SO IS HE." PROVERBS XXIII, 7 ..... JUST THE SAME, IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE THAT THIS BUM REALLY IS THE WORLD'S GREATEST CARTOONIST!
IF YOU ARE THE WORLD'S GREATEST CARTOONIST AND COMIC ARTIST, LET'S SEE SOME O' YOUR CLIPPINGS!
ONLY AMATEURS CARRY SAMPLES! HERE! WATCH THIS! WE'LL GO IN HERE!
WHAT'LL IT BE? HM-M--SA-AY! LET'S SEE THAT---
THIS? OH, IT'S ONLY A SKETCH! JUST KEEPING IN PRACTICE, YOU KNOW!
HAW! HAW! HAW! THAT'S A DARB! IT'S FATSO CHARLIE, TH' COOK, TO A TEE! SAY! WILL YOU SELL THIS, MISTER?
OH, HA-HA! IF YOU WANT IT, WHY NOT? COUPLE O' DOLLARS!
BY GOLLY, IT'S WORTH TWO BUCKS! FATSO! C'M'HERE! TAKE A GANDER AT THIS!
HUH! I AIN'T THAT FAT!
LOOK, CHUM! HOW ABOUT DOIN' ONE FER ME O' THIS GUY? THAT OUGHT TO BE GOOD FER A LAUGH!
OH, I ALREADY SKETCHED HIM! HERE YOU ARE! THAT WILL BE TWO DOLLARS---
HAW! HAW! HAW! YEOW! THAT'S HIM, ALL RIGHT! OH-H-H, BROTHER! MISTER, YOU SURE CAN WRITE THEM PITCHERS!
WHAT'S GOIN' ON, BOYS?
HAW! HAW! HAW!
HEY, MISTER! MAKE MY PITCHER, WILL YUH?
DRAW HIM!
I'M NEXT, MISTER---
LEAPIN' LIZARDS! YOU MUST HAVE CLEANED UP TWENTY BUCKS, BESIDES US EATIN' FREE!
SURE! I TOLD YOU I'M THE WORLD'S GREATEST CARTOONIST!
ER--- WHAT COMIC DO YOU DRAW? I READ 'EM ALL, OR ALL I CAN FIND TO READ---
OH, I'M COOKING UP A NEW IDEA NOW--- BRAND NEW! IT'LL SWEEP THE COUNTRY! YOU'LL SEE!

I STILL DON'T KNOW YOUR NAME--- I MUST HAVE SEEN YOUR NAME ON STUFF---
TIK TOK, THAT'S ME! YOU WILL SEE IT! IN EVERY PAPER IN THIS COUNTRY!
HAROLD GRAY
I'M JUST TRAVELING AROUND, LOOKING FOR THE RIGHT SPOT! THAT'S ALL! I KNOW WHAT I'VE GOT! PRETTY SOON THE WORLD WILL KNOW!
SURE, TIK! WITH YOUR TALENT, HOW CAN YOU MISS?

SMILIN' JACK
WELL, RIPSAW, HAVE YOU SEEN ANYTHING ELSE THAT MAKES YOU SUSPICIOUS OF YOUR BOSS?
NOTHING, SINCE I SAW HIM PAY OFF SOME STRANGERS IN BIG BILLS!
I CHECKED MY CONTRACT AND HE'S BUILDING MY EX-G.I. HANGAR ON SUCH A SMALL PROFIT MARGIN
---THAT HE'D LOSE MONEY IF HE WAS PAYING BLACK MARKET FOR MATERIALS---
---ALSO I LEARNED WHAT HE PAID FOR TH' CONCRETE, GIRDERS AND LUMBER--- AND IT'S OKAY!
---EVEN IF THE OLD TYRANT DOES FORBID ME TO COURT HIS DAUGHTER!
WELL, I'D SURE HATE TO DISCOVER THAT TH' FATHER OF MY SWEETHEART WAS A CROOK---
WE HAD PLANNED A DATE LAST NIGHT! ---BUT HE CAUGHT HER CLIMBIN' DOWN TH' TRELLIS!
WELL, RIP, I BELIEVE I CAN HELP YOU WITH THAT SITUATION!
I SHORE HOPE SO--AN' I'LL TRY TO HELP YOU, BUT YOU NEVER EXPLAINED YOUR PROBLEM, MR. MARTIN!
WELL, IT'S A SIMPLE PROBLEM ---BUT THE ANSWER ISN'T SIMPLE!
I'M A WIDOWER FOR SEVERAL YEARS AND HAVE A SON FIVE YEARS OLD--- I'M SORTA OUTTA CIRCULATION!
MY SON SHOULD HAVE A MOTHER --- BUT I'M NOT IN LOVE AND DON'T KNOW MANY GALS---
---FRANKLY, I'M NOT AS OLD AS FOLKS THINK---I'VE JUST GOTTEN IN A RUT AN' LOOK OLD!
SO, I FIGURED YOU AN' YOUR HONEY COULD GET ME ACQUAINTED WITH A CROWD THAT'S FULL OF LIFE AN' FUN!
---AND MAYBE 'OL' OUTTA CIRCULATION MARTIN' CAN GET BACK ON TH' BEAM!
AS SELDOM AS MY GIRL CAN SNEAK OUT, WE MAY NOT BE ABLE TO HELP MUCH, MR. MARTIN!
WELL, RIPSAW, I'M GONNA ARRANGE FOR YOU TO SEE YOUR GIRL, AS OFTEN AS YOU LIKE!
YEAH?? DO YOU REALLY THINK YOU CAN, MR. MARTIN?
